PAN-AMERICANS OPEN PARLEY ON PLEA OF UNITY

President of Peru Greets Delegates.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on Page 8.)

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 9.—President Gen. Oscar R. Benavides of Peru appealed for closer bonds among American nations this evening in his speech opening the eighth Pan-American conference in the Peruvian chamber of deputies. Speaking to delegates of twenty-one nations of the new world, Benavides urged "the preservation of the system of international pacts that has gone so far ahead in recent years."

The western world wants to be "strong in order to be respected," he asserted, but added that "there is not and there cannot be continental imperialism, neither in economic, nor in spiritual, nor in political spheres of the Americas."

Landon a Delegate.

Benavides, though he appealed for unity in the Americas, did not ignore the rest of the world.

"The eyes of the world are fixed on the present conference," he asserted. "We feel the spiritual presence of all extra-continental states interested in observing the affirmation and growth of political and juridical cohesion of the twenty-one countries that have organized themselves to cover together the uncertain journeys of the future."

The delegates of the member nations, some with their wives, jammed the marble chamber for the opening session. United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull had arrived at 5:45 p. m., and Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, a member of the United States delegation, came in five minutes later. The United States delegation occupied eleven seats on the left.

President Is Cheered.

At 6:20 p. m. a band flare signaled the arrival of President Benavides. Carlos Concha, Peruvian foreign minister, at once mounted the rostrum and at his signal all in the chamber stood. Benavides entered amid applause, and with no introductory formality began his address.

Earphones were available to all the assembled statesmen so they could listen to President Benavides' address as he delivered it in Spanish, or listen instead to running translations in English, French, or Portuguese.

Earlier today the various delegations had moved from their temporary headquarters into offices in the congressional palace. There they will concentrate their negotiations on affairs common to the American nations throughout the duration of the conference.

Recalls Early Penetration.

The setting in which this gathering is being held recalls the beginnings of European penetration into the Americas. This "City of Kings" was founded in 1535 by Pizarro, after he had conquered the Incas.

The congressional palace faces on the Plaza Bolivar, named for South America's great liberator, but Lima citizens still call it Inquisition square. The square was the stage for many sinister scenes, and owes its name to the fact that the Lima Inquisition had its headquarters there for nearly two and a half centuries.

From 1569 to 1813 hooded Inquisitors sat daily to deal out tortures and send to the stake or torture rack all who were condemned as infidels and heretics.

Citizens Sack Old Building.

When the Inquisition was abolished a mob of citizens sacked the building, destroyed its documents, and threw its instruments of torture into the square. After lying in a semi-ruined condition for many years, the building was restored and converted into the house of the senate. There one may see some of the torture instruments and inspect many old cells and secret passageways.

The pattern traced by Pizarro survives, but there is little else of the old city which was the seat of the Spanish vice royalty. Only the cathedral, which Pizarro started in 1535 and in which his remains are entombed, and a few narrow downtown streets with their traditional names of Spanish and Peruvian heroes remain unchanged.

A new stage in the history of Inquisition square began twenty-five years ago. On a spacious plot of land, occupying the entire eastern

ANTHONY EDEN HITS IDOLATRY OF DICTATORS

Stop Centuries of Progress, He Says.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary who broke with the Chamberlain régime for treating with the dictators, tonight accused the totalitarian states of substituting "idolatry" for democracy and stifling the progress of centuries toward freedom. He spoke before a crowd of 4,000 at the annual dinner of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Mr. Eden made no direct plea to the American people for participation in Europe's affairs. But in its studied modesty and wide generalities listeners detected the familiar theme of "Hands Across the Sea."

Setting foot for the first time in the United States four hours before he delivered the address, Eden denied that England was "faint hearted" or "decadent." Instead, he declared, the faith of his countrymen in democracy was unshaken and they were preparing for future crises which would arise from the policy of "force" adopted by other nations.

Must Live in Emergency Period.

"We know that we are destined, in our land and in our generation, to live in a period of emergency of which none can see the end," said Eden. "If throughout that testing time, however long or short it be, we hold fast to our faith, cradle it in stone, and set steel to defend it, we can yet hand on our inheritance of freedom intact to the generations that are to come."

The British diplomat avoided mentioning Adolf Hitler of Germany and Benito Mussolini of Italy by name, but his references to them were unmistakable. The modern democratic state, he asserted, must be based upon "racial and religious toleration."

Eden admitted England had "many checkered pages in our long history," and set the revolutionary war as "one of the worst."

States England's Position.

Then, as if to spike the thought that this might be a sop to the American ego for ulterior purposes, he insisted that now, in its time of stress, England was not "calling out for help to others, nor seeking to lure others to pull her chestnuts from the fire."

Throughout the address was more temperate in tone than the speeches criticizing Neville Chamberlain, England's prime minister, for kow-towing to the dictators which Eden has delivered since he stepped down from the cabinet on Feb. 20 of this year. It is said that the young Britisher wants to become the ambassador to the United States in the place of Sir Ronald Lindsay.

An Englishman's View Today.

Eden told the manufacturers he sought to put before them the point of view of the "average Englishman" now, twenty years after the world war which failed to bring about the end of arrogant militarism and bring peace to the world.

"National animosities have not been exorcised," he declared. "On the contrary, they appear to have been intensified under the banner of rival ideologies. Nor has the way to peace been made plain. Whatever else the world may now have been made, it

Subpena Film Stars for Quiz on Bond Fraud

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Federal authorities announced tonight that thirteen Hollywood celebrities, including Miriam Hopkins, Bing Crosby, and Ronald Colman, have been called to New York in connection with a $1,000,000 Philippine railway bond fraud.

Other film stars subpenaed were Frank Morgan, Herbert Marshall, Cary Grant, Leon Erroll, Phyllis Brooks, and Binnie Barnes. Joseph M. Schenck, millionaire chairman of United Artists, also was named. So was Nola Hahn, owner of the Clover club, where movie stars forgather. Two scenarists, Jean Mogileski and Nick Carter, completed the list.

Face Quiz on Deals.

The thirteen were ordered to come here and tell whether they were fleeced by William P. Buckner, dapper stock broker, who is held on a charge of rigging the bond market by spreading false rumors about Philippine railway securities.

The subpenas were issued after federal authorities had questioned John Stuart Hyde, a British film executive and former British army officer. Hyde, a friend of Buckner, was placed in custody upon his arrival from Europe.

The Englishman, who professed to know everybody in Hollywood, was credited with having introduced Buckner in the American film colony. Hyde was quoted as having said that Buckner asked a movie star for $6,000 "to grease the Filipinos' palms."

List Omits Loretta Young.

The list of Hollywood celebrities asked to disclose their dealings with Buckner did not include the name of Loretta Young, the screen star to whom the broker is reported to be engaged. A sheaf of endearing cablegrams, said to have been sent by Miss Young, was found among Buckner's effects when he was arrested.

Buckner was seized last week on his return from London. He was charged with mail fraud as a result of his alleged circulation of false reports which caused the Philippine railway bonds to soar shortly before they were defaulted. He is at liberty on $5,000 bond.

The government accused him of using Broadway show girls to entertain congressmen in Washington in his lobbying efforts in behalf of the alleged bond scheme.

FT. PITT LIMITED DERAILED; STEEL CARS SAVE 120

Defiance, O., Dec. 10 [Saturday].—[Special.]—All ten Pullman coaches of the Fort Pitt Limited, fast Baltimore and Ohio train from Chicago to Pittsburgh, were derailed at Standley, some 10 miles east of here, early today. None of the 120 passengers was killed. Only three were injured so severely as to require hospitalization. Railroad men said the fact that all the coaches were steel prevented great loss of life.

Several coaches turned over on their sides. One or two, it was said, went into the ditch. Both tracks were completely blocked. The cars, piled in helter skelter arrangement, presented a scene of great confusion.

Three women suffering from injuries were brought to the Defiance hospital. Mrs. Helen Rhodes, 42 years old, of Chicago was discharged after receiving first aid. The other two, Mrs. James A. Nowell of St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. Michael Shaughnessy of Willard, O., remained in the hospital. Other passengers suffering from slight injuries were treated at the place of the wreck by physicians called there.

Help was summoned from Defiance, Deshler, Napoleon, Holgate, and other nearby towns. It was necessary to lift many of the passengers from overturned cars by means of ladders.

The Fort Pitt left Chicago at 10 p. m. for Pittsburgh. It was a double header train. The accident apparently originated in the tender of the second locomotive. The leader engine became detached when the accident occurred and continued on several miles before its crew discovered loss of the train.

Coddle Babies, Says Expert; It Puts Starch in Them

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Dr. William H. Thompson, head of the department of philosophy at University of Omaha, thinks that mothers who rear children "according to the books" starve the babies emotionally. Observations in the child study service, he asserted, show that children who in early childhood were coddled by the family obtained a feeling of security which made for good emotional balance.

Today's News for Breakfast: Ham and Eggs

Ham and eggs have been closely associated on breakfast plates for centuries. This morning they're combined in a tasty news item from Berwyn. First, in their natural order, there's the—

HAM.

A truck driver, staggering under the weight of half a dozen smoked butts, entered the meat market at 6341 Cermak road, Berwyn, yesterday. He plumped his burden on the counter.

"Hams," he announced.

"So what?" asked John P. Kovarik, the meatman.

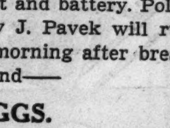
"Hams that you ordered," said the truck driver.

"I never ordered any hams," retorted Kovarik. "Take them out of here and don't slam the door."

The driver, Henry Pauser, 3224 East avenue, Berwyn, demurred. Somebody picked up a ham and threw it; somebody else threw one back; the pitchers both had control.

Kovarik and Pauser charged each other with assault and battery. Police Magistrate Henry J. Pavek will rule on the row this morning after breakfasting on ham and—

EGGS.



IF I ONLY HAD SOME HAM!
STRICTLY FRESH

The warning bell jangled at the 21st place crossing of the Rapid Transit Lines in Berwyn yesterday. With a clatter the crossing gates came down. Brakes screeching, John Behounek, 6532 Roosevelt road, stopped his truck at the gates' edge.

"Why don't you give a fellow some warning?" shouted Behounek to T. J. Willis, 61 years old, the crossing guard, who was in his shanty. "My truck's filled with eggs!"

One word led to another. The quarrel ended, Behounek said, when Willis knocked him out with a poker. On regaining consciousness Behounek charged Willis with assault and drove off with his eggs—scrambled.

Farmer Then Shot by Father of His Victim

Jacksonville, Ill., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas died in a hospital here tonight several hours after he had been shot in a hunting altercation with an elderly farmer.

His assailant, Joseph Burmeister, 72 years old, was near death from gunshot wounds inflicted by Coultas' father, Oliver Coultas, who fired after he had witnessed the shooting of his son.

The younger Coultas was shot below the heart with a .22 calibre bullet that touched his lung as it passed through his body. The farmer suffered head and chest wounds from a shotgun charge.

Both of the wounded men were unconscious following the shooting, which occurred shortly after noon, and were unable to tell anything about it. Investigators were given an account of the tragedy by the elder Coultas.

Hunting Party Breaks Up.

The fire marshal was a member of a party of four men who went hunting this morning, authorities were told, on a farm five miles north of Jacksonville. Accompanying him were his father, Congressman Elect James M. Barnes, and Charles Burmeister, 60 years old, a brother of Joseph. They hunted on the farm of Barnes' mother, Mrs. Charles A. Barnes, where Charles Burmeister is a tenant.

About noon Barnes left the field to return to Jacksonville on a business matter and the elder Coultas offered to drive him in. When they left, Charles Burmeister went to his home, leaving the fire marshal the only one still hunting.

It developed that Charles Burmeister had instructed his older brother, Joseph, to guard the Barnes' farm against casual hunters and to order them off when he heard them shooting. Joseph, described by neighbors as an eccentric, lived alone on a three acre plot of ground about half a mile from the Barnes' place.

Father Sees Shots Fired.

Some time after Barnes and the elder Coultas left Joseph Burmeister appeared at the Barnes' farm and supposedly ordered Fire Marshal Coultas to leave.

The elder Coultas returned to the scene, after his trip to Jacksonville, in time to see Burmeister firing his rifle at the fire marshal.

"Then Burmeister turned his gun on me," Oliver Coultas related. "He said: 'I'll get you, too. The government told me to shoot any man who came on this place.' I fired with my shotgun, just beating him to it."

With the aid of Charles Burmeister, the elder Coultas brought the two wounded men to the hospital here.

Then the father surrendered to Sherif A. E. Williamson. "I doubt if any charge ever will be placed against the elder Coultas under the circumstances," the sherif said.

The fire marshal's father, who is 68 years old, is a farmer and lives at Lynnville, west of here.

Sherman Coultas, 38 years old, was appointed state fire marshal by Gov. Henry Horner on Jan. 24, 1933. He was married and the father of three children.

REVEAL LABOR BOARD WORKER AS COMMUNIST

Dies Evidence Blasts Saposs Defense.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—[Special]—The Dies house committee on un-American activities received evidence today showing that David J. Saposs, Russian born chief economist of the National Labor Relations board, was a member of the national executive committee of a communist labor organization in 1932.

David Saposs.

This evidence was introduced to refute the claim made by Saposs and supported by his chief, J. Warren Madden, chairman of the labor relations board, that a sample of his revolutionary writing previously put into the record did not reflect his own views.

Three weeks ago the committee disclosed that Saposs, discussing a Vienna congress of the labor and Socialist international in an article which appeared in the December, 1931, issue of Labor Age, urged organized force to destroy capitalism.

Chief Accepts Explanation.

Saposs replied that he merely reported objectively the views of a British minority attending the congress. Chairman Madden accepted this explanation and said he knew that Saposs entertained no revolutionary theories.

Dr. J. B. Matthews, a former communist front organizer, who previously had testified, returned before the committee today with the evidence linking Saposs with the revolutionary labor outfit. He presented a copy of Labor Age for September, 1932, which contained an account of the conference for progressive labor action and listed Saposs among members of the national executive committee.

Dr. Matthews at that time was foreign editor of a weekly newspaper called Labor Action, the official organ of the Conference for Progressive Labor Action.

Editorial Board Listed.

He presented a copy of this newspaper, which listed the members of the editorial board. In addition to Matthews members listed included Louis F. Budenz, now editor of the Midwest Daily Record, an official organ of the communist party published in Chicago; E. J. Lever, who is a C. I. O. organizer in New Jersey, according to Matthews; Earl Lore and Herman Gund, whose present whereabouts Matthews did not know; J. B. S. Hardman, now editor of the Journal of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Sidney Hillman's C. I. O. union; Harry A. Howe, who Matthews testified is working in the communist party; E. R. McKinney, now an organizer in the steel industry for both the communist party and the C. I. O.; A. J. Muste, now pastor of Labor temple, New York City, and Saposs.

"You know where he is," Matthews said, referring to Saposs.

Group Pledged to Action.

According to the official statement of purpose of the conference for progressive labor action appearing in Labor Age for November, 1931, also presented to the committee by Matthews, all members of the organization were required to accept the fundamental aims of the organization and to carry out such policies as might be adopted by it.

"It is clear, therefore," Matthews told the committee, "that in his position as a member of the national executive committee Mr. Saposs subscribed to the preamble to the constitution of the Conference for Progressive Labor Action, which you will find in Labor Age, September, 1932, on page 5."

Matthews then quoted from the preamble as follows:

"'Planless, profiteering, war-provoking, imperialistic capitalism must be abolished. Sham political democracy which has been the tool of capitalist business and finance must also go. We must have a workers' republic and a planned economic order under which the masses will labor to create plenty, security, leisure, and freedom for themselves, not profits, privilege and arbitrary power for a few.

Workers' Rôle Defined.

"'The job of abolishing capitalism and building a new social order must be done by the workers, industrial, agricultural, clerical, technical, professional, who stand to gain, materially and spiritually, by the change. We, the workers, must ourselves provide the revolutionary will, the courage and the intelligence for the task. . . .

"'The C. P. L. A. has therefore been formed in the U. S. A., the very stronghold of capitalism and imperialism, to band militant workers together. It is an organization of militants which talks to American workers in their own language about their own problems, which brings them help and inspiration in their daily struggle with the boss, which seeks in every way and on every front to unify and build up the power of labor, so that the workers may take control of industry and government, abolish the system which makes cannon fodder out of them in time of war and machine fodder in time of peace, and build a sane and just economic system and a workers' republic to be united in bonds of comradeship with workers' republics throughout the world.'"

Tells of Inroads in Churches.

Prof. Theodore Graebner of the Concordia Theological seminary, St. Louis, Mo., a prominent Lutheran leader, told the committee that communists had made inroads in the Protestant churches of the country.

Representative Joseph Starnes [D., Ala.] pressed the witness for particulars, lest it be charged that he had indulged in loose generalities.

"At the Rochester Divinity school," Prof. Graebner said, "a lecture delivered to the student body by Prof. Charles C. Webber contained this statement: 'Capitalism is un-Christian and unethical and must give way to socialism and communism, and the missionaries of the future must be social revolutionists.'

Cites Demand on Roosevelt.

"Then there is the National Religion and Labor Foundation, which in 1935 sent a letter to the President signed by 45 clergymen and theological professors, expressing the conviction that there can be no permanent recovery under the profit system.

"There was quite a rebellion among the Methodist laymen early in 1936 when one of the church organizations went Marxian and gave out announcements like this: 'The present capitalistic order with its profit motive has outlived its usefulness and should be replaced by a new order capable of providing the abundant life for all.'"

Prof. Graebner accused the Federal Council of Churches of incessant meddling in political affairs.

PREDICT DEMAND BY WARD CHIEFS FOR KELLY RACE

Democratic ward committeemen, meeting next Tuesday in the Morrison hotel, are expected to insist that Mayor Kelly run for reëlection. This prediction was made last night after Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], vice chairman and active head of the county central committee, issued the call for the gathering.

For several weeks, it is understood, committeemen have been sampling the sentiment in their wards and reporting the results to headquarters. This practical survey and subsequent interviews with Arvey and other party leaders have convinced the committeemen the mayor should run.

Fifty ex-service men, including members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, and other groups, called on the mayor yesterday to urge him to run. Col. Willard R. Matheny, former president of the Reserve Officers association, led the delegation. The mayor withheld his answer, continuing the attitude he has expressed to many similar groups.

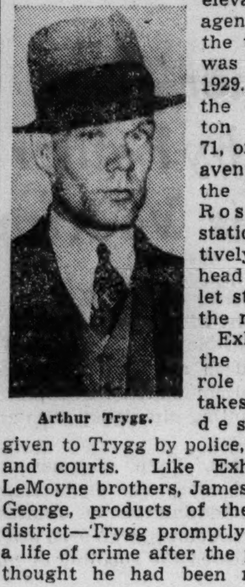
TRIGGER FINGER ARTHUR TRYGG—A PAROLE ERROR

Puts Pistol to Victim's Head and Fires.

[This is the fifth in a series of articles on the parole situation in Illinois.]

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.



Arthur Trygg.

Arthur Trygg, then 18 years old, pointed a revolver at the head of an elevated station agent and pulled the trigger. That was on Aug. 24, 1929. Fortunately the victim, Morton W. Merrill, 71, of 2547 Leland avenue, agent at the Clark and Roscoe streets station, instinctively moved his head and the bullet struck him in the neck.

Exhibit B in the list of "parole board mistakes" is the designation given to Trygg by police, prosecutors, and courts. Like Exhibit A—the LeMoyne brothers, James, Frank, and George, products of the stockyards district—Trygg promptly returned to a life of crime after the parole board thought he had been reformed by seven years in the penitentiary.

Quits Job to Join Gang.

Trygg, a young north side loafer, quit a job as a theater usher to become a criminal, according to files in the office of State's Attorney Courtney. He quickly became the gun toter of a robbery trio made up of himself, Elmer Swanson, and Michael Taugner. They met in a north side pool room and planned their crimes.

The first was the early morning robbery of Neisen's garage, 2901 Sheffield avenue, on July 20, 1929. Charles Kaser, an employé, was alone when Trygg, revolver drawn, entered with his companions.

"Throw them up or I will kill you," Kaser quoted Trygg as saying. The gang bound Kaser with ropes, robbed the office of $170, and took an automobile in which to escape. Three other garage robberies were committed before they went to the elevated station to rob Merrill.

No Regard for a Life.

Trygg's own confession is the most graphic description of his reckless disregard for his victim's life. It follows:

Q.—Now when you told Mr. Merrill, the agent, to hand you what he had, what did he do?

A.—He reached with his right hand for the burglar alarm.

Q.—What occurred then?

A.—I fired the pistol.

Q.—What part of Mr. Merrill did you have the barrel of that pistol pointed at? A.—His head.

Trygg and his companions were arrested by Lieut. Al Booth's detective bureau squad. On Oct. 31, 1929, Trygg, Swanson, and Taugner were sentenced to one year to life each by Judge George Fred Rush.

Seven years later the parole board decided Trygg had reformed. He was paroled on Dec. 5, 1936. As far as the records show Trygg went straight for 13 months—at least he wasn't caught in any crime. Then he started out again as a "lone wolf" bandit.

The first known crime committed by Parolee Trygg was the robbery in February, 1938, of Miss Clover Doremus, 1523 Rosemont avenue, manager of the Western Union Telegraph company branch office at 2655 North Clark street. He paid her a repeat visit on April 4 and took $126 from a safe after locking her and two other employés in a rear room. In between these visits he also robbed two other telegraph branch stations.

Sergt. Martin McGuire and his detective bureau squad began looking for Trygg as a parole violator and recidivist when Miss Doremus picked out his photograph at the bureau of identification after the first robbery.

They came across him at midnight, May 26, 1938, at Drummond place and Clark street. He tried to escape, but was unsuccessful. Sergt. McGuire's squad gave him no chance to use the automatic pistol they found on him.

Invoke Habitual Clause.

Judge Cornelius Harrington and the state's attorney's office invoked the habitual criminal act against Trygg to prevent any more "mistakes" in behalf of the gunman by the parole board. Trygg received a flat twenty year sentence plus a 1 year to life sentence. They run consecutively.

Under these sentences Trygg is out of reach of the parole board for at least fifteen years. Under the twenty year sentence he must serve fourteen years and six months with all good behavior allowances. He must serve at least another eleven months on the second sentence before he can be given another chance at reformation by the parole board.

MOVE TO BLOCK BELVIDERE POOL JOB IS CHARGED

Belvidere, Ill., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Members of the city planning committee today charged that the park board is trying to kill the city's $70,000 swimming pool project, which was approved by a large majority of voters at a special election.

"Unless the park board is prodded into action it will keep up its dillydallying until the WPA funds are withdrawn," members of the planning committee declared.

A bond issue was voted at a special election.

COL. CHAMBERLIN DEMANDS CHANGE IN PAROLE LAWS

Present System Fails, He Tells Experts.

Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, declared last night that the time has come to change Illinois' parole system.

"If the parole administration cannot be improved," he said, "it is time to try something else."

Sociologists, criminologists, and penologists were among those who heard his remarks. He spoke before members and guests of the Chicago Academy of Criminology at a meeting in the Medical and Dental Arts building, 185 North Wabash avenue.

Replies to Critics.

Col. Chamberlin replied to several speakers who asserted that they must marshal their forces to fight the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill which is expected to be reintroduced next month in the legislature.

The principal reform feature of the bill is that it gives the trial judge the right to fix a minimum and a maximum sentence within the limits of the indeterminate sentence in criminal cases.

Col. Chamberlin said he had been informed that the bill, which had been passed by the last legislature and vetoed by Gov. Horner, would be passed in the next session.

"Opponents of the present parole system do not object to parole in principle but in the manner of its administration," he continued. "The time has come to try something else."

Praises Tribune Criticisms.

"THE TRIBUNE has done a great service by bringing this question out into the open. Its articles bringing to public attention the number of parolees sent back to prison show the true state of the parole system."

The parole question was brought to the fore during a discussion of a report filed twenty months ago by the Illinois Prison Inquiry commission, headed by Bishop Joseph H. Schlarman of Peoria. The commission's report recommended that the functions of probation, institutional care and parole be placed under one administration.

No Action on Proposals.

The legislature has not acted on any of the recommendations. During the last legislative discussion of the Ward-Schnackenberg bill. Col. Chamberlin opposed the legislation. The bill was named for its authors, Senator Harold G. Ward and Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg.

O. H. Lewis, warden at the Pontiac reformatory, told the group that the recommendations of the commission report have been put into effect in the state prisons as far as has been possible. He said that solitary confinement has been cut 50 per cent, guards are selected more for their efficiency than for political considerations and are required to attend school regularly. Work is found for al prisoners, he said.

Asks $50,000 for Beating in a Suit Against Tavern

Suit for $50,000 was filed under the dram shop act yesterday by John Rafferty of 2506 East 73d street. He charged that he was permanently injured by a beating he suffered in a tavern at 2107 East 71st street.

Transfusion of Own Blood Gives Boy Chance of Life

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP)—A transfusion of his own blood and a delicate heart operation gave Adam Efymow, 14 years old, a chance for life tonight. A surgeon took three stitches in the boy's heart soon after he was stabbed accidentally by a chum with a three inch fish knife. A pint of blood which bled from the heart wound was drained from the pericardial sac surrounding the heart and injected into the boy's veins.

CHICAGO COUPLE FEARED SLAIN IN RESORT MYSTERY

Kidnap Theory Scouted; Missing Three Weeks.

New discoveries by investigators yesterday served to deepen the mystery attending the disappearance on Nov. 19 of Frederick Hirschmann, partner in a Chicago stationery engraving concern, and his wife, Theresa. For the first time authorities turned to the possibility they had been murdered or kidnaped.

The couple went fishing on Nov. 19 at Lake Como, near Lake Geneva, Wis. They have not been seen since, nor have their bodies been recovered, although the lake bottom has been dragged repeatedly and searchers with powerful glasses have flown over the shallow lake in airplanes.

Terrier Believed Poisoned.

The body of their black terrier was found in two feet of water Monday. Yesterday's most startling development was this: Examination indicated that the dog's body had been in the water less than two weeks. The Hirschmanns have been missing three weeks.

Coroner William F. Best said he believed the dog had been poisoned. Its organs were sent to the University of Wisconsin laboratories in Madison for analysis.

"I'm sure of one thing," said Dr. T. H. Ferguson, Lake Geneva veterinarian who examined the body for the coroner. "That dog hadn't been in the water two weeks."

The Hirschmanns' two sons, Win B. and George, have worked unceasingly to assist Sherif Joseph Dorr of Walworth county and his deputies in their search.

Victim 52, Wife 50.

The elder Hirschmann was a partner in the Johnson-Stringfellow company, 222 North Bank drive. He was 52 years old, his wife 50. The sons live in their parents' home at 2930 Eastwood avenue. Yesterday they were attempting to have the level of Lake Como lowered by drainage to facilitate the search.

On Nov. 19 the Hirschmanns, as they often did on week-ends, went to Lake Como, hired a rowboat, attached their own outboard motor, and with their dog in the boat, cruised out on the lake and began to fish.

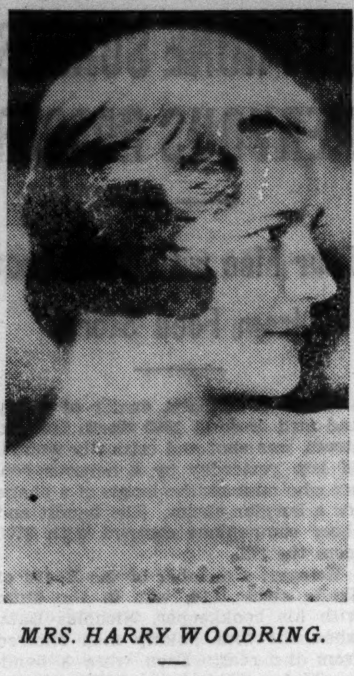
Passersby recalled they seemed to have been having trouble with their outboard motor. That was the last seen of them. The sons, in Chicago, thought they had decided to prolong their trip and did not worry until Tuesday.

On that day a state highway patrolman found the Hirschmanns' car standing near the water's edge, remains of a half eaten lunch in the front seat.

INJURED IN RAIL ACCIDENT.

Joseph Petraitis, 53 years old, 6648 South Washtenaw avenue, employed in the Illinois Central railroad yards at 14th street and Indiana avenue, was critically injured last night when he was struck by a railroad coach. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Sponsors Liner



MRS. HARRY WOODRING.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 9.—(AP)—With Mrs. Harry H. Woodring, wife of the secretary of war, as sponsor, a new 493 foot 10,000 ton passenger liner will be launched tomorrow at the Fore River yard of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation. The vessel, to be christened the "Anson," is one of three nineteen knot craft to be built for the Panama Railroad company at a cost of $4,000,000 each, for service between New York and Canal Zone with stops at Haiti.

SHELL SHOCKED SLAYER GETS 25 YEARS IN PRISON

Carl F. Zerr.

Judge James F. Fardy of the Criminal court yesterday sentenced Carl F. Zerr, a shell shocked war veteran, to twenty-five years in Joliet penitentiary. Zerr was found guilty by a jury of the murder of his niece.

The niece, Miss Viola Seaberg, 21 years old, was stabbed to death with a hunting knife on Dec. 31, 1934, when she fled screaming from Zerr's automobile at California and North Shore avenues. In a statement made at the time, Zerr, who is 47, said they were quarreling about his attentions to the girl.

Found insane by a jury in 1935, Zerr was committed to the state hospital in Menard. He obtained his release by habeas corpus action in Randolph county last July. He was placed on trial for murder after another jury found him sane on Nov. 21. Zerr's wife lives at 4431 Malden street.

YOUTH ARRAYED AGAINST AGE IN BATTLE FOR BOY

Grandparents Opposed by Godparents.

Edward Metzger is 4 years and 8 months old. Last summer he was orphaned by two gunshots: His father shot his mother in her Lake Forest home, then killed himself. Yesterday Edward sat, uneasy and uncomprehending, in the Lake county court at Waukegan while two families battled for the right to adopt him.

On one side were his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Malenius, each 55 years old. On the other side were his godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Yore. He is 39; she is 35. Married ten years, they have no children.

Judge Decker to Decide.

The man who must decide is Lake county's veteran probate judge, Martin C. Decker. A grandfather himself, Judge Decker followed yesterday's all day testimony closely. He said he would give a ruling Monday.

Last Aug. 6, the judge was told, Edward Metzger Sr., 24, visited his estranged wife, Violet, 23, mother of the boy, in the Malenius home at 289 Noble avenue, Lake Forest. Three shots were heard. Mrs. Metzger was found dying on her bed. Her husband was dead on the floor.

Yore, whose wife is an aunt of young Edward, testified he made $1,800 a year in his coffee and tea business and his wife $1,500 a year as a telephone operator. She said she was willing to give up her job to care for the boy, if necessary. They live in Market square in Lake Forest. Malenius, a painter, said his income was $1,600 a year.

Religion, Ages Involved.

After numerous character witnesses testified for both sides, two main issues developed: The ages of the Maleniuses and the religion of the parties involved. Mrs. Mary Jane Metzger, Edward's paternal grandmother, said she was 59 and regarded herself and the Malenius couple, at 55, as too old to rear a small boy.

Attorney William T. Kirby represented the Yores, and Bruno Stanczak and Thomas Pojunas were counsel for the Maleniuses.

TWO KIDNAPERS CAUGHT; ADMIT BANK ROBBERIES

Abductors of Patrolman Seized on Bus.

Lebanon, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Two men and two women were held under heavy guard and bond tonight while authorities, announcing confessions involving three bank robberies and other crimes, pressed charges in the abduction and robbery of a state highway patrolman.

The men, David I. Cross, 29 years old, of Hamilton, Pa., and Coy Russell, 29, alias A. D. Mitchell, of Houston, Tex., pleaded guilty when arraigned in a justice of the peace court on charges of armed robbery and kidnaping and were held under bonds aggregating $25,000 each.

Make Signed Confessions.

Their woman companions, Marie Day, 25 years old, of Greenup, Ky., and Naomi Hayes, alias Hatfield, 25, of Ashland, Ky., waived examination on similar charges and were held for grand jury action under bonds of $15,000 each.

Prosecutor C. Donald Dilatush said the men, both of them ex-convicts, confessed the abduction last night of Corporal Parker W. Powell and signed statements admitting a $7,000 bank robbery in Columbiana county, O., Dec. 31, 1937; a $2,700 holdup in Sebring, O., yesterday, and the $800 robbery of a Fairfield, Neb., bank Nov. 16.

In addition, Dilatush said, they confessed numerous auto thefts and liquor store holdups in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, and one in Kent, O., on Tuesday.

Men Seized on Bus.

The government, which eight months ago issued a detainer against Cross in connection with the shooting of a Pennsylvania highway patrolman, stepped into the case with announcement by the federal bureau of investigation that detainers would be filed against both men as a result of the Sebring robbery.

Arrest of the women in nearby Kings Mills and the men aboard a Columbus bound bus at Washington Courthouse, O., climaxed a night of frenzied activity by more than 250 Ohio highway patrolmen, police, and sherif's forces. Indiana state police also blockaded roads along the state line.

QUIZ 2 OFFICIALS OF LOOP HEATING SUPPLY CONCERNS

John F. Gilchrist, president of the Illinois Maintenance company, and Sherman W. Tracy, president of the Chicago Tunnel company were questioned yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle. Boyle would not disclose the nature of his questioning and the two business men could not be reached.

Both concerns, the tunnel company through a subsidiary, supply steam for heating loop office buildings. A plea by the Illinois Maintenance company for a franchise to cover its operations has been pending before the utilities committee of the city council for four years. Two weeks ago Boyle visited the city hall on a secret mission to investigate the proposed franchise.

An order canceling the tunnel company's franchise because it uses its tunnels for the steam pipes of its subsidiary was drawn yesterday by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes. The utility committee's subcommittee asked for the order in May, 1936. It will be brought up at a subcommittee meeting on Tuesday.

Four More Gaming Joints Wrecked by Ax Raiders

State's Attorney Courtney's ax raiders visited four more gambling places yesterday. The places wrecked were at 4649 Clifton avenue, 1115 Wilson avenue, 1116 Leland avenue and 4350 Broadway.

INDIANA TO PROBE HIGH RELIEF COST IN LAKE COUNTY

Gov. M. Clifford Townsend's relief commission will begin an investigation of Lake County, Ind., relief conditions early next week. Word to this effect was received yesterday by Frank L. Hoess, president of the Lake County council. The council, elected to pass on fiscal affairs, demanded the investigation because of the county's high relief costs.

Hoess said Richard W. Burich, acting director of the governor's commission in Indianapolis, notified him that a commission investigator will begin the study Monday or Tuesday. Hoess had threatened action by the council if the commission did not begin its work soon.

Overspending of relief funds has forced the county to issue $2,400,000 in relief bonds for 1938. Taxes levied for relief in the county totaled $1,555,000.

MERCHANT SHOT AS PHONE SCARES NERVOUS ROBBER

Four Flee with $100 Loot from Feed Store.

Albert J. Kemper, owner of a hay and feed store at 1565 North Halsted street, was shot and critically wounded late yesterday by a nervous robber who mistook the jangle of a phone for a burglar alarm. The bandit and three companions escaped with $100 from the till.

Kemper, a member of the Board of Trade since 1914, was in the store with his bookkeeper, Nicholas Lutz, when the four holdup men entered from the rear. Each wore a handkerchief over his face. "Where's the money?" they asked Kemper. He pointed to a till in the cashier's cage.

Rifle Desks and Vault.

Three of the gang entered the cage while the fourth remained outside. The three, angered because there wasn't more loot, asked where the rest of the cash was. Kemper told them he had just deposited $1,500. They said he was lying and threatened to shoot him.

While those inside the cage rifled the desk drawers and the vault, the bandit outside forced Lutz and Kemper to lie on the floor. At that moment the phone rang and their captor cried: "What's that, an alarm?"

"It's only the phone," shouted the bookkeeper.

His cry was a second late. The bandit had fired his gun.

Run Out Back Door.

The robbers ran out of the cage, saw that Kemper was wounded, and fled out the back door to their car, parked in an alley near the store's loading platform.

Kemper was taken to the Columbus hospital, where physicians found the bullet had punctured a lung.

Kemper, who is 64 years old, lives at 4236 North Winchester avenue. He succeeded his father and uncle as owner of the firm, which has been at the Halsted street location since 1894. He is a widower. At his home it was said that he had been held up twice previously, the last time about three years ago.

Tours Nation on Bogus Checks; Gets Ninety Days

Judge Eugene J. Holland in Boys court yesterday sentenced Russell Errett Jr., 20 years old, 1325 Wilson avenue, to 90 days in the Bridewell for obtaining money under false pretenses. Errett, a former drug clerk, confessed he cashed money order checks, using the money to tour the country and buy a wedding ring for his sweetheart.

GARY GETS PWA GRANT TO BUILD SEWAGE PLANT

Fund to Enable Halt in Lake Pollution.

A grant of $2,166,133 was awarded the city of Gary yesterday by the Public Works administration to help finance a sewage treatment plant.

The award will enable the city to meet terms of an Indiana health board order that Gary, Hammond, East Chicago, and Whiting stop polluting Lake Michigan by dumping sewage in the lake.

Three Cities Get Federal Grants.

Gary is the third of the four cities to receive federal money. Hammond was awarded $1,437,700 last Tuesday and East Chicago got $1,350,000 several weeks ago. Mayor James T. MacNamara of Whiting is optimistic that his city's request for $345,000 will be allowed.

Despite these grants the four municipalities will fail to meet the letter of the health board's order. The board ordered them to cease pollution of the lake by Jan. 1, 1939. Two years may elapse before the sewers and treatment plants are completely in operation.

Total Cost $4,813,630.

The Gary project will cost a total of $4,813,630. The difference between this sum and the federal grant will be made up by proceeds from a bond issue. Issuance of bonds is the plan adopted by all of the cities for raising necessary local funds.

A sewage treatment plant, 27,000 feet of mains, and additions and alterations to existing equipment is planned in Gary.

It is planned that all the cities make a start on the work by Jan. 1 to show good faith with the order and to meet the PWA requirements.

SEIZE NEIGHBOR AS EXTORTIONIST OF RICH BANKER

Threatened Death to Get Christmas Money.

For more than 100 years the family of H. H. Frenzen, Itasca banker, has been prominent in Itasca and Du Page county. For fifty years the family of William H. Edeker has engaged in farming there. And for fourteen years the two men have been next door neighbors.

Yesterday Edeker, who is 44 years old, was locked in the county jail at Wheaton after confessing that he sent Frenzen an extortion letter threatening to take the banker for a death ride unless he paid $1,000.

8-Day Probe Fixes Blame.

Edeker was seized late Thursday night by Deputy Sherifs Arthur Bennett and Harold Goodlow after eight days of investigation. They were assigned to the case by Sherif Elmer Hoffman when Frenzen received the letter on Dec. 1.

Frenzen, who is 72 years old, is president of the Itasca State bank. He lives with his wife and son. The family owns much property in the county. Their neighbor, Edeker, lives with his wife and daughter. Since losing what money he had in the depression Edeker has been doing odd jobs.

The letter Frenzen received demanded that he leave $1,000 in a corn shock on Rosenwinkle road, one-half mile south of Itasca, before Dec. 5.

Admits Threatening Another.

Edeker was known to be desperate for money. The policemen obtained a sample of his handwriting and found it to be identical with that of the extortion note.

In his signed confession Edeker also told of sending a threatening letter last February to another Itascan, George Magers.

"I was up against it and I knew Frenzen had a lot of money," Edeker told Deputy Bennett. "The $1,000 would have enabled me to buy food for my family and a few presents for Christmas. But I was wrong, I guess. Now they will have nothing."

Edeker was held in $5,000 bond for arraignment Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Bertram Rathje.

EAST WELCOMES 2 NEW RESIDENTS FROM EVANSTON

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—They asked the way to a theater. The Illinois license plates on their car had been reported stolen. "Outlaws," surmised the policeman. He called the G-men. The motorists were traced to a little home in suburban Oradell, N. J. G-men and police closed in with machine guns and tear gas. "We're Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wardell," the little woman explained. "My husband came here to work for Sears-Roebuck. We just moved from Evanston, Ill. Our license plates were stolen, but we got them back." And, as the G-men blushed their way out, she said: "Evanston was never like this. Never!"

Two Navy Pilots Killed as Planes Collide in Air

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Two navy single seater planes collided in midair, 15 miles southwest of Point Loma today, crashing into the sea and killing Lieut. John M. Duke, 35 years old, and George M. Maddux, 31, aviation machinist's mate and pilot, both of Coronado, Cal. The planes were engaged in gunnery training when they collided.

J. W. GARVIN ENDS LIFE; ONCE ON 'BIG 3' OF PLUMBERS

Shoots Self as Car Fills Garage with Gas.

James W. Garvin, who as one of "the big three" dominated plumbing union affairs more than twenty years ago, was found dead last night in the garage behind his home at 1419 Birchwood avenue. There was a gunshot wound under his heart. The garage was filled with carbon monoxide fumes from his automobile. Police said Garvin evidently had taken his own life.

Garvin's widow said he had been in excellent health and had no financial worries. She could suggest no reason for suicide. However, a relative told police he had overheard Garvin say a few days ago that if he had a gun he would kill himself.

Garvin entered his garage shortly after 2 p. m. His body was found more than four hours later. A small caliber rifle lay on the floor. Next to it was a new box of cartridges with one gone. It had been used to inflict the wound near the heart. Police theorized that to make death doubly certain, Garvin started the engine of his car and then shot himself.

The "big three" of the old plumbers' union were Garvin, the late Simon [Si] O'Donnell, and the late Thomas Kearney, the latter two former presidents of the building trades council.

Garvin was a business agent of the plumbers' union. Personally he was not linked with the union's stormy history. "Garvin was quiet and unobtrusive," said B. L. Cruise, veteran former union secretary, last night. "He always fought against bad influences."

On June 29, 1919, Garvin and Kearney were retired as union officials by an insurgent group. Garvin then entered private business as a sewer contractor. He retired about seven years ago. He was 64 years old.

GERMAN DECREE WOULD UNFROCK U-BOAT PASTOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—Fear was expressed in Protestant church circles here today that the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, anti-Nazi pastor and submarine commander in the world war, will be unfrocked soon. A decree to unfrock him has been prepared by Church Minister Hanns Kerrl. It will be submitted to the Nazi controled "Synod of Laymen" for approval.

Simultaneously with the unfrocking of the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller, who has been in the Sachsenhausen concentration camp for the past eighteen months, all payments by the state to his wife and seven children are to be stopped.

ANTHONY EDEN HITS IDOLATRY OF DICTATORS

Stifle Road to Freedom, He Says in New York.

Arrives in U. S.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, is assisted by a sailor as he steps to gangplank on cutter which landed him in New York last night, for talk before National Association of Manufacturers.

plainly has not been made safe for democracy.

"Other systems of government, deriving authority from a totally different philosophy, throw out their strident challenge."

Need to Defend England.

Faced with such a challenge, Eden said, England was acutely conscious of the need "to defend ourselves, both materially and spiritually, from the gathering storms." The realization of defects and shortcomings, he went on, did "not proclaim that we are faint-hearted, still less to suggest that we are decadent."

The British people of today, as in the greatest moments of their history, still care "deeply, strongly" for democracy and all its conceptions of life and society, the speaker said.

Turning to his criticism of Prime Minister Chamberlain's policy of appeasement toward Rome and Berlin, Eden suggested that the difference was in methodology and both sides in the controversy raging in England wanted to reach the common goal of peace with other nations.

Would Reverse Democratic Faith.

Defining democracy as "a university in which we learn from one another," Eden declared that an attempt was being made to persuade man to reverse this faith developed through the ages.

"After centuries of endeavor," he continued, "man is threatened by the state he himself has created. Man's purpose in creating that state was to enable him to live in order and security, to guarantee to him the opportunity to exercise his faculties freely.

"It indeed would be the greatest irony of human history if mankind were to allow all progress to be stifled by the setting up of a new form of idolatry; the worship of the state, to which all men must bow down, and to which they must sacrifice their freedom of faith, of speech, of worship. Yet, such now is the doctrin in many lands and it has passionate and ruthless devotees.

Pleads for Tolerance.

"In our conception, a modern democratic state must be based upon racial and religious toleration. Each citizen must enjoy individual liberty, all must be equal before the law. The rights of minorities and majorities alike must be honored and respected. These beliefs are, we are convinced, the basis of all progress.

"As an Englishman addressing this great American audience tonight, I tell you that these are the beliefs of our English people still, and that they will hold to them in the years that lie ahead."

A fog that might have made the British guests homesick for London threatened to delay Eden's arrival beyond the time set for his speech. Charles R. Hook, president of the Manufacturers' association and also of American Rolling Mill company, hurried out in a coast guard cutter to meet the big Cunard liner Aquitania at Quarantine.

Cheered at Battery.

Eden was waiting, bags in hand, his well known black Homburg hat [a soft felt hat with dented crown] on his head and a dark brown double breasted Chesterfield coat wrapped around his lank form. The cutter sped back to the Battery, where an impromptu crowd of several hundred commuters waiting for the ferry to Staten Island set up a cheer when word went around who was debarking.

The first member of the Eden family to come to American shores was the visitor's great-great-grandfather, Sir Robert Eden, last of the royal governors of the province of Maryland.

With a motorcycle escort leading and sirens screaming, Eden was whisked to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, where the diners were just sitting down to the table. After changing into white tie and tails, looking spotless and impeccably English, Eden descended to the party. The leading industrialists of the country were assembled.

Wears No Decorations.

Eden wore no decorations, although he has several, including the Military Cross, won at the front in the world war.

Before the speech President Hook proposed a toast to "his majesty, King George." "God Save the King" was played. Immediately after the toast was drunk, V. A. L. Mallet, chargé d'affaires of the British embassy, proposed a toast to the President of the United States. The orchestra broke into "The Star-Spangled Banner" as Eden raised his glass in a sharp, military gesture.

Monday night Eden will leave for Washington and he hopes to see President Roosevelt on Tuesday or Wednesday. Next Friday he and Mrs. Eden will sail for England on the Queen Mary to get home in time to spend Christmas with their two sons.

MUSSOLINI'S AID DEMANDS ITALIAN 'RIGHTS' IN TUNIS

Flays France and Warns 'Situation Is Changed.'

ROME, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Virginio Gayda, Italian editor, who is regarded as a spokesman for Premier Mussolini, today denounced France for having failed to carry out the treaty of 1935 covering Tunisia. He demanded that France make concession and said Italy is receptive to new negotiations to settle the question of Italian rights in North Africa.

Writing in the newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia, Gayda warned that a vast change has occurred in the political situation since 1935. He made it plain that Italy is looking for more comprehensive concessions in Africa in any new agreement.

Lays Blame on France.

The treaty of 1935, signed by former Premier Pierre Laval of France and Mussolini, provided that Italian citizenship rights in Tunisia should continue until 1956, that Italian schools should be protected until 1955, and that civil rights of Italians should be protected until 1945. There are 94,289 Italians in Tunisia as compared with 108,068 Frenchmen, exclusive of the French army of occupation.

Gayda blamed the French for not having negotiated a special Tunisian accord as contemplated under the 1935 agreement.

"The French government has never even proposed opening negotiations," he wrote. "The Tunisian question, therefore, remains open."

He also upbraided France for its attempt to obstruct the conquest of Ethiopia by Italy. France took part in the league of nations' economic penalties against Italy.

Cites French Renunciation.

"Together with the treaty of 1935," Gayda declared, "a particular instrument was negotiated. There was a renunciation of French interests in Ethiopia. And this instrument was understood, as it was interpreted at the time in Rome, as giving Italy a free hand in Ethiopia.

"Everything that was created in January of 1935—the concrete substance of agreement, the start of a new policy of confidence and collaboration, recognition and respect for Italian rights and interests—has been nullified on French initiative."

Gayda's blast came as anti-French feeling mounted in various parts of the country. There were renewed mass demonstrations in Rome, Naples, Milan, and other places, and a feverish press campaign.

Arabs Pledge Aid to France.

TUNIS, Tunisia, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Arab chieftains of Tunisia proclaimed their readiness today to fight for France, if necessary, to beat off any Italian attempt to seize this strategic North African territory.

"Tunisians are ready to defend to the last man the integrity of their land and respect for treaties which unite them to France," Ahmed Chenick, vice president of the Tunisian section of the Arab grand council, declared. "To confuse Tunisia with Ethiopia or the Sudetenland is a bad error of psychology."

Imposing forces of French police, mobile guards, and troops remained on watch to check any new outbreaks such as yesterday's rival demonstrations of French and Italian sympathizers but the day, a Moslem day of worship, passed quietly.

GASTON B. MEANS, OF 'DETECTIVE' FAME, ILL IN PRISON HOSPITAL

Springfield, Mo., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Gaston B. Means, notorious for his escapades as a detective, was critically ill today at the United States medical center for federal prisoners here following a heart attack last night.

Means underwent an operation Tuesday for removal of his gall bladder and until last night was believed recovering. Today Warden M. R. King notified Means' sister, Miss Mary Belle Means of Concord, N. C., that his condition was serious.

Means is serving a fifteen year sentence for defrauding Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of Washington, D. C., in connection with her efforts to solve the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

BRITISH TROOPS NAB 100 ARABS IN HOLY LAND RAIDS

JERUSALEM, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The British army struck against Arab rebels today in a series of dawn raids.

More than 100 were arrested, including several wanted by authorities on charges of terrorism.

[The British colonial office in London denied "accusations of systematic misconduct and brutality" charged to British police in Palestine. It said every allegation was "made the subject of immediate inquiry and the government will not hesitate to take action in any case where circumstances appear to require it." Such charges have appeared in the German press.]

DALADIER WINS CONFIDENCE VOTE IN WILD SESSION

Deputies Back Up Strong Stand Against Italy.

PARIS, Dec. 10.—[Saturday.]—(AP)—The chamber of deputies early today voted confidence in Premier Edouard Daladier by 315 to 241, approving his decree laws and strike smashing methods.

The vote came after an uproarious night session during which opposing deputies screamed insults at each other and Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber, twice suspended debate by putting on his hat and walking out.

By the vote the premier obtained the chamber's approval of his stiff stand against Italian colonial expansion at French expense and his methods of governing France, which many of his enemies had called dictatorial.

End of People's Front.

The vote was accepted in the chamber as marking the official death of the leftist People's Front which ruled France under the Leon Blum government after the 1936 elections and was more or less active in power until Daladier took office last April 10.

The premier clearly had swung his government as well as his own radical Socialist party—a former member of the People's Front with socialists and communists—into the rightist ranks.

Whether rightists would back the premier when he asks for decree powers to continue his "strong man" government remained a political question.

There was little doubt, however, that Daladier had gone far in this first vote, in which Socialists and communists stood solidly against him.

In his plea for support Daladier had declared that "the integrity of France depends first on the French" and added that only through strength could France protect her territory.

France Won't Be Kicked.

His words were a warning that the nation had to be strong at home to defend her colonial empire successfully. This warning was delivered against the background of an insistent but unofficial Italian clamor for Tunisia and other French holdings.

At one point during the heated debate, the chamber forgot political differences for a moment to howl in delighted laughter at a comment by Leftist Deputy Xavier Vallat on Italy's ambitions at France's expense.

"Just because Italy is shaped like a boot," he said, "it does not mean that France is shaped to receive a kick."

ANDORRA WINS FRENCH PERMIT TO CONSTRUCT BROADCAST STATION

PARIS, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The French government's decision to authorize the building of a radio station in the tiny Pyrenees republic of Andorra led the Socialist newspaper Le Populaire to say in large headlines today: "France capitulates before republic of Andorra."

Then the newspaper, which voices the sentiments of former Premier Leon Blum, asked: "Is that a sign of the times?"

Andorra, under the joint suzerainty of President Lebrun and the Bishop of Urgel, could not build a radio station without France's permission. This permission had been refused in the past because sponsors of the station wanted to broadcast advertising in French and France objected because the programs could not be taxed.

Le Populaire said permission finally was granted because the Andorans agreed to reopen an electric plant which sends power to part of northern Catalonia.

"Blackmail," said the Socialist paper.

Levine, First to Fly Atlantic as Passenger, Faces Divorce

Reno, Nev., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Charles A. Levine, one-time Brooklyn, N. Y., junk dealer who leaped into the limelight in 1927 as the first trans-Atlantic airplane passenger, was named defendant in a divorce suit filed here late today by Mrs. Della Doris Berne Levine. She charged cruelty. Levine accompanied Clarence Chamberlain in a flight to Europe not long after the Charles A. Lindbergh hop to Paris. Levine and his present wife were married in Carson City, Nev., Oct. 8, 1935, the same day he obtained a divorce there from Mrs. Grace A. Levine.

Wife of Dixie Davis Gets Divorce at Reno Hearing

Reno, Nev., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Martha Davis won an uncontested divorce decree today from J. Richard [Dixie] Davis, once known as the "kid mouthpiece" for the slain gangster, Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer of New York. Her testimony, given at a private trial, was not made public. However, in her complaint, she charged Davis had been cruel to her since 1935. The former New York City model was given permission to resume her maiden name, Martha Delaney.

TO DECORATE YOUR HOME IN TRUE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Consult Your Florist

HOLLY AND CONES

You'll want English holly with its shiny, bristly leaves and its lovely rich, red berries. Your Florist also has the less expensive or domestic holly which is, of course, very nice but does not last so long as the English.

BOXWOOD AND BERRIES

Here's a MUST on the shopping list of every woman who wants a smartly decorated home for the holidays. Boxwood and winter berries, many on a stem, is especially attractive as a table centerpiece. Your florist has the finer varieties freshly clipped from the hills of Tennessee.

LAUREL AND HUCKLEBERRY

Ideal to lighten dark corners, where plants won't grow. Here, a vase of laurel with its large, dull-finished leaves, and huckleberry, with its small shining leaf, will add new life to an otherwise dark portion of your room.

CHRISTMAS WREATHS

Have several of them to place here and there around the house: on the front door, in the windows, over the fireplace, etc. And at this time of the year it is rather a beautiful thing to do to remember, with wreaths, your departed friends and relatives. Consult your florist and he will help you make a wise and appropriate selection.

VISIT YOUR FLORIST EARLY

Of course, during the holiday season you should have fresh flowers and flowering plants, both for your home and to send as gifts and remembrances to friends and relatives. Your Florist suggests an early selection so that you may surely secure the flowers or plants you prefer.

JAPAN DEPENDS ON PUPPETS TO JUNK 'OPEN DOOR'

U.S. Informed How It May Trade in China.

TOKIO, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Actual denunciation of the nine power treaty, already pronounced obsolete by the Japanese press, will be made by new Chinese governments, it was understood today in Tokio. These régimes have been established under Japanese protection in the wake of the Japanese army's conquests.

This denunciation, it is felt, probably will be the final step in welding Japan, her puppet state of Manchukuo, and the Japanese occupied areas of China into a solid political and economic unit. This would put into effect Japan's new policy of "Asia for the Asiatics."

The nine power treaty was signed by China and Japan and seven western powers—the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Portugal, and the Netherlands. It pledges the signatories, among other things, "to use their influence for the purpose of effectually establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations throughout the territory of China."

Tells View to Envoys.

This principle—that of the "open door" for trade in China—now has vanished, in the view of Tokio. A full statement of the Japanese view was given yesterday, it is reported in authoritative quarters, by Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita to the American and British ambassadors, Joseph C. Grew and Sir Robert Leslie Craigie.

Arita's expositions were said to have contained such phrases as "henceforth, you will be permitted," and "you will not be permitted" in connection with the privileges western nations may enjoy in conducting commerce in China.

Arita is understood to have laid down two general principles upon which specific questions are to be settled:

FIRST—The Chinese-Japanese conflict has changed the political situation in China and virtually has dismantled the nine power pact.

SECOND—Japan, Manchukuo, and the "new China" have become a new economic bloc, although they do not intend to exclude foreign trade.

Speculate on U. S. Action.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The homecoming of United States envoys to China and Great Britain occasioned speculation today over possible Anglo-American pressure against Japanese domination of the orient.

Both the British and American governments have expressed concern over Tokio's gestures toward closing the commercial "open door" in China, but so far there has been no joint action.

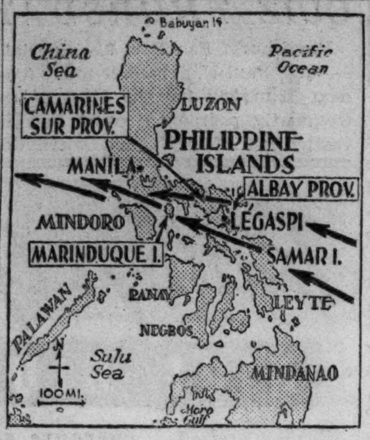
President Roosevelt and state department officials will canvass the entire far eastern situation when Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson arrives next month from China. He has been ordered to Washington for consultation. Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy will sail from London Saturday.

Japs Routed at Yungsui.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Chinese forces which have been blocking the way to Nanchang for months were reported to have crossed the Siao river today and routed the Japanese at Yungsui in a three hour engagement.

Yungsui is on the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway, thirty miles north of Nanchang, important Chinese air base and capital of Kiangsi province.

Typhoon Disaster



Arrows indicate direction of the typhoon.

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Over crippled communications came reports today of forty-five deaths, of many thousands homeless, and of uncounted numbers injured in the path of the typhoon which swept the central Philippines yesterday and whirled away over the China sea.

Days may elapse before the full extent of the disaster is known. The storm tore down wires and wrecked roads in fifteen provinces as it passed in a zigzag course 100 to 250 miles south of Manila.

Albay, Sorsogon, and Samar provinces were hit hardest. The islands of Marinduque and Mindoro suffered severely. Scattered reports indicated settlements destroyed, leaving a thousand or more homeless at each place.

The Red Cross sent nurses, doctors, and emergency provisions to the stricken areas, while provincial and municipal governments functioned wherever possible to restore a semblance of normal life and provide living essentials.

Ed Wynn Agrees to Pay Income Tax of $229,000

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Ed Wynn, the radio and screen comedian, today admitted that he had agreed to pay the federal government $174,000 plus $55,000 interest—a total of $229,000—in settlement of income tax claims for 1932, 1933, and 1934. This is only a partial settlement, however, and leaves claims for the years 1935, 1936, and 1937 still pending. The total amount claimed for the six years was about $750,000.

LOYALISTS BUILD NEW DEFENSES AS REBELS MASS

All Able Men Sent to Lines to Defend Barcelona.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Spanish government is fortifying extensively its Catalonian front in northeastern Spain, expecting an insurgent offensive toward Barcelona, it was reported tonight.

Work was said to be proceeding rapidly, while adverse weather delayed launching any attack. In Barcelona the government issued orders to insure that every man fit for active service be sent to the front to meet the threatened onslaught.

[Insurgents in Saragossa said the government was using 200,000 soldiers to build a new line of fortifications about thirty miles east of the present insurgent front from the Pyrenees south to a point below Tarragona, a coastal city sixty miles southeast of Barcelona.]

Plan Sea Attack.

The border between insurgent Spain and France remained closed, but reports said the insurgent offensive awaited completion of naval preparations, presumably for bombarding coastal cities in government territory.

Insurgents indicated that a movement of Italian troops to a point just south of the French-Spanish border was only a part of preparations for the offensive and should cause no alarm in France.

Sets Up Religious Board.

BARCELONA, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Spanish government today created a commission on religion. It was charged with the supervision of all religious activities in government territory. Jesus Maria Bellido y Golferich, dean of the Barcelona university school of medicine, was named general commissioner, and a consulting committee to aid him will be named.

The commission was charged with disseminating information and taking care of requests concerning religious worship.

A decree said the Spanish constitution respected religious beliefs to the extent that they conform with, but do not exceed, the right of a civilized country to establish "freedom of conscience and the right to profess and freely practice any religion."

The statement added that the government "reaffirmed as one of its aims of the war [to effect] liberty of conscience and the free exercise of religious belief" in conformity with the law of June 2, 1933.

[The 1933 religious law curtailed educational activities by religious orders. It provided that more than 100 religious orders should be turned into civil societies and that they must pay taxes.]

NINE PERSONS KILLED IN FRENCH AND DUTCH AIRPLANE DISASTERS

NANCY, France, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A French army bombing plane crashed in flames near the Nancy air base today, killing its five occupants.

Four Die in Netherlands.

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Four persons were killed today when a KLM [Dutch] airliner fell and struck a dike near Schiphol airdrome and caught fire. The plane was on an instructional flight.

Survivors Tell of Jap Crash.

TOKIO, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Two survivors today told how they struggled for seven hours to stay afloat in shark infested waters before rescuers reached them after a Japanese air liner was forced down at sea near Formosa yesterday. Ten others sank with the plane. The survivors said they heard one of the victims shout "banzai" for the emperor as the current swept him away.

PERU PRESIDENT DEMANDS CLOSER AMERICAN BONDS

Opens Lima Parley with Plea for Unity.

side of the square, the present congressional palace was started. It was the first of a series of public buildings which succeeding governments constructed.

University Was Nearby.

Back of the palace is an attractive public garden near which the University of San Marcos, the oldest in South America, originally was located.

A broad flight of steps leads to the main entrance of the palace. On one side in the interior is the senate chamber, and on the other the chamber of deputies. For various reasons, the chamber of deputies and the administration offices alone were available for use when the palace was opened. The senate continued to sit in the Inquisition building.

When Lima was chosen for the eighth Pan-American conference, President Benavides ordered the congressional palace completed and it is now ready.

Install Broadcasting System.

The new senate chamber will be used mainly for committee meetings. The plenary sessions will be held in the chamber of deputies.

To transmit news of the conference and the messages of the delegates, the government has installed a 5,000 watt short wave transmitter using ten frequencies.

An entire new second floor was added to the palace for offices of the twenty visiting delegations and for representatives of the Pan-American union who also are in attendance. Dr. Leo S. Rowe is director general of the union.

Foreign Secretary Concha has supervised the organization work of the conference. The secretary general is Dr. Arturo Garcia y Salazar. The foreign office temporarily has recalled members of the Peruvian diplomatic service from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Panama, Venezuela, and the United States to act as liaison officers and facilitate personal relations among the delegates.

Point Out Historic Spots.

The advent of the conference has caused much private building and beautifying of older structures. The Hotel Bolivar, headquarters of the United States delegation, added two stories. Trafic rules were altered to make it easier for delegates to reach the conference hall.

Because Peru is south of the equator, December is like June in the United States, and parks, trees, grass and flowers present the appearance of early summer.

The hosts are pointing out to visitors the modern and historic spots of Peru. One is the central highway which starts from Lima at sea level and crosses the Andes at an altitude of more than 16,000 feet. Then there are places where excavations have disclosed the remains of the Inca and earlier civilizations of Peru. Temples and whole cities are still to be seen.

The museums have arranged special exhibitions. Some of the Paracas mummies—whose age is unknown—will be unwrapped in the presence of delegates. It is said some of the textiles in which they are wrapped are finer than Gobelin tapestries.

The government has struck off commemorative medals for the delegates to the conference, and also has issued a new set of commemorative postage stamps.

RULING DOES NOT ALTER SON'S SUIT AGAINST ENVOY

TORONTO, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Leonard Marler's suit for damages against his father, Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian minister to Washington, D. C., was unaffected by yesterday's decision by Justice W. D. Roach dismissing the suit against Dr. G. H. Stevenson, superintendent of the Ontario hospital in London.

The Canadian Press yesterday reported erroneously that the suit brought against Sir Herbert and Dr. Stevenson was dismissed. Actually the dismissal affected only Dr. Stevenson, and Justice Roach said his decision was without prejudice to the plaintiff's right to add the name of Dr. Stevenson on obtaining the consent of the attorney general.

Leonard Marler, asking damages of $300,000, alleges he was wrongfully committed to the London hospital to prevent his marriage.

CONTINUE TRIAL OF 8 PICKETS AT HEARST PLANT

Municipal Judge Oscar S. Caplan yesterday continued until Wednesday charges of disorderly conduct against seven members of the Chicago Newspaper guild and the wife of one of the men. They were arrested Thursday during a scuffle on the picket line in front of the Hearst building, 336 Madison street, where members of the guild, a C. I. O. affiliate, are striking.

The defendants are Don Stevens and his wife, Sada, 20 East Delaware place; Virginia Gardner, 1709 Crilly court; Harry Wohl, 840 George street; H. R. Sellers, 168 North Clark street; David Keniston, 324 East 71st street; Nathan Aleskowsky, 1432 North La Salle street, and Charles Cain, 3842 Addison street.

Six men, arrested during a fight in front of a Hearst newspaper branch circulation office at 1943 North Kildare avenue, were assigned jury trials on Jan. 12 by Munipical Judge George B. Weiss. Police Magistrate Henry J. Sandusky of Cicero issued warants for two striking Hearst branch circulation managers, members of the guild, accused of threatening to assault a newspaper boy, 15 years old.

The Federation News, official publication of the Chicago Federation of Labor, yesterday termed the guild strike a revenge action aimed at American Federation of Labor unions.

6 YOUNG NEGROES DIE IN CHAIR FOR SLAYING OF FOUR

Reidsville, Ga., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Six young colored men were executed here today for the slaying of three white men and a young mother. Intoning spirituals, they walked firmly to the electric chair and died in swift succession. All admitted their guilt.

Two Die in Gas Chamber.

San Quentin, Cal., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Wesley Eudy and Fred Barnes died in California's gas chamber today for killing Warden Clarence Larkin in a futile attempt to escape from prison last year. Two other convicts who took part in the slaying were executed a week ago and a fifth is sentenced to die next Friday.

LINK NAZI CONSUL WITH CANAL ZONE SPY DEFENDANT

Witness Says Envoy Got Strategic Pictures.

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A Canal Zone police officer testified today that Hans Heinrich Schaekow told him of taking pictures of Canal Zone fortifications and handing them to the German consul here for "safekeeping."

Schackow is the first of four Germans to be placed on trial here on charges of espionage. The three others will be tried later. Schackow's trial began Wednesday.

The police officer, Lieut. J. M. Davis, said Schackow related that he snapped pictures of Gatun locks from the German liner Patria on Oct. 14 and photographed the isthmus trail followed by the 14th infantry during march maneuvers. All of the pictures, Lieut. Davis said Schackow told him, were handed to Kurt Lindenberg, the German consul.

Pictures Would Aid Enemy.

Capt. Holbrook Gibson, commanding officer of the navy's submarine base at Coco Solo, testified the photographs were of first line defenses and included Galeta Island, where international cables have terminals.

He said the photographs would be of great assistance to enemy naval forces in effecting a landing.

Z. E. Foster, timekeeper of the Coco Solo fleet air base, said he saw Schackow and the three others accused with him at 4 a. m. on Oct. 16 attempting to get to Cayuco to go fishing off Galeta point.

The four, in company of a soldier, were attempting to leave by way of the Golks river landing because of difficulty in passing a sentry at Fort Randolph, which is the normal route to Cayuco, Foster testified.

Says Soldier Promised Aid.

The witness said Ernest Robert Edward Kuhrig, a co-defendant with Schackow, told the soldier he wanted to get military secrets. He quoted the soldier, whose name was not revealed, as saying he would help, although there might be difficulties.

Brig. Gen. Richard C. Moore, commanding the Atlantic sector of the Canal Zone, testified earlier that phtographs of the coastline, used by a foreign power in connection with other information, could be most injurious to the United States.

UKRAINIANS ASK POLISH REGIME FOR HOME RULE

WARSAW, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Poland's Ukrainians presented a claim to the speaker of the sejm [parliament] today for territorial autonomy in the regions of Volhynia and Halicz. The territory includes nearly 50,000 square miles and supports a population of 8,000,000.

The question of self-government has agitated Ukrainians in Poland for sixteen years, but this was the first time a concrete proposal was presented. The demand, in the form of a bill to be put before the sejm, was signed by fifteen Ukrainian deputies.

The territories in question have a mixed population, and some parts are largely Polish.

ROOSEVELT TO SEEK FUNDS TO WAGE WAR AGAINST ALIEN SPIES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today indicated that a war on foreign spies, to be waged without setting an army of secret police upon the American people, was included among his proposals to strengthen the national defense.

The President said he would ask congress for funds to enable existing agencies to meet a situation which he declared was by no means ended by the sentencing of four persons in New York on espionage charges.

Secret police are not needed to watch the American people, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference, but more funds should be available for a closer watch of the secret police of other nations operating in this country.

Both the army and navy advise against creation of a new agency to combat spies, informed persons disclosed. These persons cited the odium attached in this country to activities of soviet Russia's OGPU and Nazi Germany's Gestapo, which are secret police agencies.

SWISS GIVE NAZI DOUBLE TERM AS A 'FINANCIAL SPY'

GENEVA, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Court of Appeals in Zurich today doubled the sentence of a German convicted of "financial espionage" as the government continued its campaign against Nazi activities in Switzerland.

Wilhelm Kaempfer, given a month in prison by a lower court, was sentenced on appeal to two months' imprisonment and forbidden to reënter Swiss territory for ten years thereafter. The higher court said energetic measures were necessary to end Nazi activities.

Kaempfer was sent to Switzerland by German shareholders to audit the books of a Swiss firm. The courts held that he had used his job as a screen for watching for violations of Germany's exchange control laws.

It was disclosed that Paul Bonny, deputy in the Geneva cantonal legislature, was among several dozen Nazi leaders arrested since the government began its drive early last month.

Dentist Tells How to Have Good Teeth: Just Fall in Love

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—If you want to have a good set of teeth, fall in love and stay there. This is the advice of Dr. E. F. Briggs, a dental surgeon of Bangor, Me. On the other hand, he said, if you are disappointed in love and grieve over it, your teeth are likely to give you trouble. Dr. Briggs told the Greater New York Dental meeting that emotions which cause depression also upset the body's balance between acidity and alkalinity and cause teeth to decay.

GRAND JURY WILL BEGIN GOV. EARLE QUIZ THURSDAY

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Judge Paul N. Schaeffer today fixed next Thursday for the start of the frequently postponed grand jury investigation of graft and corruption charges against Gov. George H. Earle and thirteen associates.

The inquiry will be made by the Steptember grand jury of Dauphin county, composed of thirteen Republicans and eleven Democrats.

DIES ON EIGHTY-THIRD BIRTHDAY.

HITLER PREPARES TO OPEN HIS DRIVE EAST NEXT SPRING

Asks Rulers of Iran and Afghanistan to Parley.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler's plans for an eastward drive next spring down the Danube basin and across the Ukraine already are far advanced.

The Fuehrer has invited Riza Kahn Pahlevi, shah of Iran [Persia], and Mohammed Zahir Shah, the young king of Afghanistan, to visit him in Berlin. It is expected the two eastern potentates will meet him next spring to discuss a scheme for German exploitation of the rich lands and oil fields that lie along the Berlin-Bagdad axis.

Advisers Say Time Is Ripe.

Germany already dominates eastern Europe economically and politically, and Hitler's economic advisers have told him the time now is ripe to secure the raw materials that lie in the region once coveted by former Kaiser Wilhelm, who dreamed of a German railway to Bagdad.

On the agenda for discussion between Hitler and the monarchs of Iran and Afghanistan will be:

FIRST—Concessions for oil fields in Iran.

SECOND—Industrial planning and development in both Afghanistan and Iran.

The Germans apparently hope to break the present British oil monopoly in Iran. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German "financial wizard" and personal adviser to Hitler, is centering his attention on this.

Seek Exploitation Rights.

The Germans also are known to have been investigating the possibilities of industrial expansion in Iran. They have sent several missions there to discuss the possibilities with the shah's ministers and to propose German financial assistance in opening up the country.

Gen. Ismael Khan Shaffay, European representative of the shah, already has bought industrial plants from Germany and is in close touch with German manufacturers. Iran offers to supply wool, cotton, and minerals to the Germans in exchange for machinery. Schemes exist for the opening of factories on the south coast of the Caspian sea with German capital.

Germany feels that for a successful trade drive to the east she must have an unhindered trade route from the Persian gulf to the Rhine via the newly constructed trans-Iranian railway, the Black sea, and the Danube.

U. S. Oil Interests Menaced.

In this connection it is interesting to note that Germany has regular passenger air service from Berlin to Bagdad and Teheran and is planning to extend this service to Siam, across Afghanistan and India.

The Germans also want concessions in the Afghan oil fields. The United States now has a virtual monopoly on Afghan oil. The Germans also are seeking to build new factories in Afghanistan and exploit the resources.

German engineers and experts already have made a careful study of Afghan industrial requirements and mineral exploitation possibilities.

Hitler hopes to clinch a deal for all this with the shah and the Afghan king next spring at the same time that agitation to grab the Ukraine begins.

Allan Hersholt and Osa Massen as they got license to wed in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Allan Hersholt, son of Actor Jean Hersholt, and Osa Massen, Danish actress, today filed notice of intention to wed. The ceremony will take place in the Hersholt home next Thursday. He is 24 years old and a correspondent for Scandinavian newspapers. She is 23 years old.

NEWSBOY'S SUIT WILL TEST NEW WAGE-HOUR LAW

Ithaca, Mich., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Litigation to test the constitutionality of the federal wage-hour act was started in Gratiot county County court today in behalf of Mac Myers, 13 years old, a newsboy who alleged that the Lansing State Journal had terminated a contract under which he distributes newspapers here.

The newsboy asked an injunction to restrain the State Journal from disrupting the contractual relationship. His suit was filed by Howard L. Holmes of St. Louis, Mich., as his next friend.

The State Journal company said the boy's discharge was solely due to provisions of the wage-hour bill forbidding the employment of newsboys under 14 years of age. Attorneys for the boy argued that the contract was binding and could be terminated only for "good and sufficient reasons."

Circuit Judge Kelly S. Searl ordered the newspaper to show cause Thursday why an injunction should not be issued.

GARDENER, 80, HANGS SELF.

Swen Peter Swanson, 80 years old, a retired gardener, committed suicide yesterday by hanging in the basement of the home of his son, Jack, at 300 Oakwood avenue, Highland Park.

NAZIS BREAK UP HOMES OF JEWS WED TO ARYANS

Couples Married Many Years Must Part.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—Nazi organizations are bringing pressure to bear on Aryans married to Jews and half Jews to compel them to obtain divorces. Thousands of Aryan men have been ordered to divorce their Jewish wives under threat of losing their jobs. This pressure is being exerted despite the fact that no official decree has been issued ordering the dissolution of such marriages.

Couples who have been married thirty or forty years are being ordered to dissolve their unions. Elderly men who are faced with the prospect of living without their lifetime partners are desperately seeking a way for their elderly wives to leave Germany. They have no financial means of supporting them abroad, and in most cases the women, who never held professional jobs, are too old to support themselves.

Seek to Speed Up Emigration.

Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering, Nazi minister of aviation and Reichsfuehrer Hitler's right hand man, is negotiating with wealthy Jews for an agreement to speed up Jewish emigration.

The aim is to provide Jews emigrating from Germany with coupons. These coupons will enable them to draw small quantities of foreign currency in foreign lands after they have sold a certain amount of German goods to clients abroad.

The greatest problem facing the negotiators is to find goods that can be spared by Germany and at the same time find a market abroad. The Nazis hope it will be possible to sell jewelry and other goods manufactured in Sudetenland which lost their foreign markets after the Germans conquered that area. Goering demands that every rich Jew who emigrates must devote part of his holdings to help poor Jews to leave.

Officials assert that since the Nazis conquered Austria, 50,000 Jews emigrated from there.

Nazis Sneer at Quakers.

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper, Der Angriff, declared today that "we must laugh" at the Quaker delegation which is coming from the United States to investigate the condition of Jews and other minorities in Germany.

[Three members of the American Friends Service committee of the Society of Friends—Quakers—sailed Dec. 2 for Germany "to observe and bring back some idea how we could help alleviate conditions there." In London the committee was said already to have reached Berlin.]

"Swing" Divorcee

MRS. FRIEDA GERLACH.

Jitterbugs missed it in Judge Philip J. Finnegan's court yesterday—the swing divorce. Mrs. Frieda Gerlach told the judge that Philip Gerlach wanted her to swing it when she played the piano. She preferred her classics classical. When he insisted that she swing old favorites from the opera, "Martha," she said, there was a quarrel. And he deserted her.

Gerlach, an accountant, is 45 years old. Mrs. Gerlach is 39. They have a daughter, Phyllis, 15 years old. Mrs. Gerlach lives at 1138 North Latrobe avenue. He lives across the street at 1127. Her attorney, Harry X. Cole, said she received a $4,000 settlement.

ASKS REDUCTION IN ALIMONY THAT HE IS NOT PAYING

Obtaining a leave of absence from the county jail's alimony row, John Hicks came into Judge Philip J. Finnegan's court yesterday to ask a reduction in the alimony payments he isn't making.

Mrs. Hattie Hicks' attorney, Norman Becker, protested. It doesn't cost Hicks a dime to live in alimony row and he gets a $55 pension every month, Becker said. And so, the attorney argued, Hicks ought to pay up the $160 he was in arrears when his wife had him sent to jail three months ago. He ought to pay the $10 a week ordered by the court when the back alimony is paid, Becker added.

When the judge heard about the pension, he refused to cut the alimony. Hicks, who is 55 years old, went back to alimony row. Mrs. Hicks, 45, went back home to 3859 North Spaulding avenue. She has a divorce suit pending.

Girl, 10, Dragged Into Alley and Attacked by 4 Boys

Four boys were sought by the Summerdale police last night after they had dragged a girl, 10 years old, into an alley and tried to attack her. The alley is between Sheridan road and Kenmore avenue, south of Argyle street. The girl was on her way home from a private school in the neighborhood in late afternoon. She said she did not recognize any of the boys.

TOWN CRIER: OLD AND NEW

By CALEB

STURDY and swift-stepping despite his sixty-eight winters, a quaint figure with bell and scroll in hand comes daily striding down the main street of Provincetown, Massachusetts. He halts on one of its corners, and soon has clustered round him a knot of expectant listeners.

Ding-dong, sounds the brandished bell. "Hear ye!" echoes the old man's high, clear voice. Ding-dong, again proclaims the bell; and "Hear ye!" replies the voice. Rings out a third ding-dong . . . and an answering "Hear ye!" Then: "All townfolk are hereby notified there will be a fishermen's meeting tonight at seven-thirty, to discuss proposed restrictions on shore waters." . . . Ding-dong.

And so, as his predecessors have done for two hundred years, the only surviving town crier in America still calls out, as he himself puts it, "store sales, meetings, and such; with the weather, tide, and Town Hall news thrown in." Primitive, picturesque, a throwback from the customs of yesterday . . . he somehow knows he is no longer in tune or time with today.

For today, via telephoto, headline and radio flash, the town crier's items reach a thousandfold greater audience in thousandfold greater volume, recorded almost the instant they are enacted. Not from local Main Streets and Town Halls, but from the remotest nooks of the farthest lands—with the reader-listener becoming almost a literal eye-witness.

Thus fleetly, too, arrives news of the newest merchandise—transmitted in a fraction of the time that a Colonial ship could weigh anchor or prepare to discharge its sluggish cargo. Thanks, indeed, to these new town crier agencies . . . devices our forefathers would have deemed witchcraft . . . yesterday's fashion fiat in Paris, or London, or New York, is this morning's commonplace in Topeka, Fresno and Sauk Center.

Meantime, the quaint bell-ringer and his "Hear ye!" have gone with the wind. But not the romance that attended his ministrations. For that we not only find evident in the pronouncements of the daily press, but renewed in the preparation of every Field advertisement released for the service of the buying public.

BOY, 3, CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER TRUCK'S WHEELS

Driver, 77, Held in Second Fatal Accident.

Wilford Edward Willing, 3 years old, was crushed to death yesterday when he fell beneath the wheels of a milk delivery truck in an alley near his home at 8143 Merrill avenue. The driver, Arthur Thomsen, 7643 South Hermitage avenue, told the South Chicago police he had been playing with Wilford a few minutes before and did not realize the child had moved behind the truck as he backed it up.

The boy's father, Wilford F. Willing, is supervisor of correspondence in the United States treasury disbursement office in the Merchandise mart.

Driver, 77, Held in Death.

Fred G. Borg, 77 years old, 6943 Eberhart avenue, a structural engineer, was held by Englewood police last night for investigation into the death of an elderly pedestrian struck down by an automobile at 69th street and Stewart avenue. The victim was Charles Jenkins, 74, of 6433 Stewart avenue.

Borg drove Jenkins to St. Bernard's hospital. He told attendants he had found Jenkins unconscious. When Jenkins died a short time later Policemen Don Verkler and Edward McCarthy of the accident prevention bureau questioned Borg. They found blood stains on the front of his car. He told them he remembered feeling a bump as he drove, but did not think he had struck any one.

Rail Detective Fatally Hurt.

Mitchell Williams, 55 years old, 7429 55th place, Summit, a railroad detective, was injured fatally by an automobile last night in front of 7322 Archer avenue, in the suburb. The driver was Edward Ziomek, 23, of 7723 65th place.

Mrs. Clara Scidmore, 67 years old, 404 School street, Maywood, died in the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park of injuries suffered Oct. 29 when she was struck by an automobile at Madison street and 2d avenue, Maywood. The driver was Melvin J. Koch, 20, of 19 Ashland avenue, River Forest.

Thomas Mulroy, 65 years old, 6719 Perry avenue, a railway messenger, was seriously injured last night when he was struck by a hit and run automobile at Roosevelt road and Clark street. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital. Later police seized George E. Davis, 30, 4419 South Fairfield avenue, a window washer, as the alleged driver. He was traced through his license. He told police he was unaware he had struck any one.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 827 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 634 were killed in Chicago, where 19,301 were injured in the period.

$306,000 Asked from U. S. for North Avenue Paving

The city council yesterday asked for a federal grant of $306,000 to aid in repaving North avenue from Cicero avenue to Harlem avenue. This will cost an estimated $680,000 of which the city's share, $374,000, is to be taken from the motor fuel tax fund. Pavement of this portion will complete the thoroughfare's improvement from Lake Shore drive to the city limits.

Woman Dies After Falling from Her Horse in Faint

Mrs. Mabel Wells, 50 years old, who fainted and fell from her horse in the Morton Grove forest preserve Wednesday, died last night of her injuries in the Evanston hospital. Mrs. Wells, who lived at 6201 North Kilpatrick avenue, was the wife of Albert S. Wells, radio manufacturer.

STILL SEIZED, THREE ARRESTED.

Federal tax agents yesterday seized a still on the second floor of 713 North Wells street, confiscated 31,000 gallons of mash, and arrested Paul Svec, Louis Bernstein, and Anthony Naples.

START REPAVING 4 LOOP STREETS; SPEED ORDERED

Completion Expected Tomorrow Night.

Gangs of workmen started yesterday on a rush job of repaving 28,800 yards of busy loop streets that will bear the heaviest trafic burden during the Christmas rush. If they finish tomorrow night, on schedule, it will be one of the fastest paving jobs in the history of the city.

At dawn yesterday 800 men began tearing up the old pavement. Today the crews will be enlarged to 1,600 men, and by tonight the wrecking job will be finished. Tomorrow the asphalt will be laid over the entire surface. Monday morning the streets will be ready for Christmas shoppers.

Promises to Finish Job.

Before he permitted the work to start Mayor Kelly exacted a promise from Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, that the job would be finished tomorrow night. Shoppers must not be inconvenienced by trafic tieups during the holiday season, the mayor said.

The streets to be repaved are La Salle from Washington to Jackson; Madison and Randolph from Michigan to Wacker drive, and Clark from Lake to Van Buren. On many of the streets asphalt will replace wood block, granite blocks, and bricks.

WPA workers are tearing up the old pavements. Early tomorrow the city gangs of skilled asphalt layers will take their place. Hewitt said he would put all forty of the city gangs on the project if necessary. A hundred of the city's largest trucks also will be used.

Project Will Cost $80,000.

The total cost of the project will be $80,000, all of which will be spent for labor. Material for the new pavement was salvaged from other street work of recent months.

"This will be an example of the efficiency of the city street department employés," Mayor Kelly said. "I am proud of their willingness to undertake this project under the conditions I imposed."

POLICE SEEK NEW TRAFIC PATROL TO CUT ACCIDENTS

Council Asked for Funds for 250 Man Force.

BY HAL FOUST.

Creation of a trafic patrol division of the Chicago police department will be considered in preparing the 1939 city budget. The council police committee yesterday reported favorably on the proposal, which was referred to the finance committee. This group will begin its budget sessions Monday.

As drafted by Ald. Arthur G. Lindall [9th], the proposal calls for a new devision of the police department to consist of 250 men with squad cars and motorcycles. They would take over the work of the city's twelve accident prevention cars and the forty-eight man motorcycle division.

Plan Would Triple Force.

"The force patroling trafic would be multiplied two or three times," Lindall said. "Chicago's bad accident record is evidence of the need for this corrective effort. Widespread disregard for ordinary trafic regulations is due largely to the weakness of our enforcement. This is responsible for most of our accidents.

"With trafic squads patroling the main streets and boulevards driving conditions would be improved for motorists who want to obey the law. Speed would be controled. Those going too fast would be waved down. Those going too slow would be prodded to keep up.

"Drivers and pedestrians, too, who commit dangerous practices through ignorance would be told of their errors. The city's dozen accident investigation cars are now equipped with loud speakers that are not used enough.

Patrol of Wide Streets.

"The patrol would give special attention to such dangerous thoroughfares as Western avenue. This wide street accounted for 32 of the city's motor toll during the first nine months of 1938. Wide surface streets, with all of the inherent hazards, will continue to be used by a large volume of trafic until an elevated highway system is constructed for rapid travel with safety. In the meantime, police patrols can curb the slaughter.

"This attention to trafic would not detract from police activities in suppressing crime. While patroling to regulate trafic and to educate pedestrians the squads would listen to their radios. They would be available for emergency service and would be on the lookout for the criminal in flight."

Orders WPA Pay Days for Christmas and New Year's

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins today ordered that approximately 1,000,000 WPA workers who ordinarily would be paid on Dec. 26 and Jan. 2 should be given their checks on Christmas and New Year's eve. The WPA estimated that advance payments of $20,000,000 thus would be made available to assist families prepare for the holidays.

SPOILS ICKES' OIL CZAR PLAN; TELLS OF PERSECUTION

New Yorker Says SEC Used to Hound Him.

A citizen who opposed Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes told yesterday of persecution which he said dogged his steps until the United States Supreme court saved him. He is J. Edward Jones, New York oil economist.

Jones told his story before the Executives club in the Hotel Sherman. He was applauded as he recounted his victorious—and almost single-handed—fight against wire tappers and inquisitionists of the New Deal.

"I voted for Roosevelt the first time," Jones said. "During the first month of the new administration I was called to Washington to assist in formulating a federal oil policy.

Helps Defeat Oil Policy.

"I became astonished at what I regarded as the introduction of alien 'isms' into our governmental fiber. I was astounded at the admitted ignorance of Harold Ickes, the petroleum administrator.

"I opposed his policies and fought them before the senate and the house of representatives. I took the opposing position because I knew Ickes' policy was wrong and I helped bring about a congressional investigation that proved in an official report that he was wrong."

This report defeated the administration's oil bill, the only item on the New Deal "must" list that was defeated during that period, Jones said

Jones, a tall, lean business man, became grim as he told what followed.

"Mr. Ickes became vitriolic, misrepresented the oil situation, tried to become an oil dictator," Jones said. "Then I publicly demanded his removal as oil administrator.

Wires Tapped; Books Seized.

"My telephone wires immediately were tapped. Although I never had any trouble with any authority whatsoever during my fifteen years in business, I was turned over as purge fodder to the Securities and Exchange commission.

"My books were seized and forcibly removed from my office without any leave or authority. They were hauled to Washington, D. C., where they were photographed and kept for over two months.

"In Washington the names and addresses of my customers were parceled out to competitors, my books were 'framed,' and adverse publicity was sent out."

Benjamin Franklin said that a corrupted government ends in despotism, the speaker recalled.

Tells $27,500 Bribe Demand.

"I say it is corruption in government for a member of the SEC staf to come to me—the pursued and marked man—and to demand from me a bribe of $27,500," Jones said. "I say it is corruption for that man to take a bribe from me—which he did—and under the observation of agents of the department of justice whom I had summoned for the occasion."

He also told how a representative of the New Deal attempted to sell him $25,000 worth of old Democratic convention year books while he was under indictment.

"It can't happen here?" said Jones. "These things and more happened to me."

Early in 1935 Jones sought to register with the SEC an issue of participation trust certificates. He was ordered to appear before the commission to answer a charge that his papers contained untrue statements. Before the hearing Jones withdrew his registration and asked dismissal of the proceedings. The commission refused.

The Supreme court declared that the action of the SEC had "no support in right principle or in law" and that it was "wholly unreasonable and arbitrary."

POLICEMAN WINS DISMISSAL ON A HIT-RUN CHARGE

Policeman Charles J. Martin.

Policeman Charles J. Martin of the Pekin station, who was suspended after his automobile injured a man on Nov. 23, was freed in the Safety court yesterday of charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

John Walsky, 2014 South State street, who suffered cuts in the accident, was not in court. Judge Stephen Adamowski was told that Martin, while driving home from police headquarters at 1121 South State street, swerved his car at 20th and State streets to avoid striking a dog.

Walsky was chasing the dog out of the way. He ran against the rear end of the car. Martin said he did not know any one had been hurt by the car until he was overtaken by witnesses at Dearborn and 25th streets.

28 Trucks Freed After Drivers Pay Illinois Fee

Twenty-eight new trucks, en route from a factory in Springfield, O., to dealers in Wyoming and Montana, proceeded on their way yesterday when the drivers obtained Illinois license plates, after paying a $6 six months' fee. Lieut. Morris Schwartz of the state highway police halted them Thursday at 147th street and Cicero avenue. He explained that they must buy the plates even for a single crossing of the state because Illinois has no reciprocity agreements with Montana or Wyoming.

WHAT NOW IN ITALY?

The Italian Fascists have every one guessing. Nuttiness is not an unfamiliar European phenomenon but the sudden desire to pick a new quarrel with France is bewildering, even in days when the unexpected is always expectable. It would be presumed that Italy's man of destiny is stirring up a rumpus, demanding Tunisia and Corsica to get himself some new bargaining privileges and does so by trying to make himself a serious menace who must be placated. Still it is strange that he encourages such violent demands which, if they were to be taken at all seriously, would arouse French militancy to a fighting point. The ideas which have been given voice by the Italian government could be regarded in France only as an open bid for a war to the finish.

Mussolini sounds off at the exact time when France and Germany have signed a treaty of peace and friendship, acknowledging that they have no controversies. The explanation of this behavior is not easily found. The dictators, it is true, need constant excitement and Mussolini has been forced in recent months to yield so much calcium light to Hitler that he may think he's in danger of declining into the status of a secondary power, merely indorsing and underwriting what the Nazi does. Unless he can break out of the corner into which German leadership in continental Europe is crowding him, he may fear that he will become a secondary luminary hardly visible in the dazzling light of the Fuehrer.

The Italians are not as docile and disciplined as the Germans and they have a larger and much more substantial remnant of their old constitutional form still extant. They are a livelier people than the majority of the Germans politically. Even now they are freer to have, if not express, intellectual doubts and shrewder in finding covert ways of maintaining a sort of individual reservation with regard to their distinguished Duce. In spite of the great changes that have been made in the working forms of the Italian government, in spite of the dictatorship over legislation, the suppression of open opposition, the degradation of the press, and the semi-deification of the dictator, there remains a constitutional monarchy which in theory embodies the will of the people. Constitutionally Mussolini is not the state whatever he may be in current reality.

Kings may be quiet persons. Usurpers of the emotional type may not be. An administration of routine affairs, peaceably and without theatricals, may indicate in itself that the dictator is not needed. He becomes a superfluity. An upstart autocrat, riding in on a crisis, must continue on that mount. And Mussolini is running out of first class crises of his own. Racial persecution, which is serving Hitler, is merely imitation in Italy and bad imitation at that. There are no dramatics in Ethiopia. Great Britain and France have accepted the conquest. There remains only hard, disagreeable, and dangerous work. The triumph is over.

Spain is not paying dividends these days. Italy has received back at least the names of the dead and the bodies of the wounded, a loss and no profit as the questionable prestige begins to wane. What has Italy obtained from Spain to compensate the families who lost soldiers? A new audacity is needed. The unexpected war dance on the French borders is a sufficiently startling one. The Paris students deflated some of it by counter demonstrations demanding everything in Italy except the Pontine marshes. Mussolini can be laughed at, but few people at home will learn, and none through their newspapers, that he has been.

THE NEBRASKA SCANDAL.

Another chapter in Nebraska's 50 million dollar power scandal has now been written by Honest Harold Ickes, the secretary of the interior and Public Works administrator. Mr. Ickes has altered the government's contracts with two of the power districts which he financed with taxpayers' money to enable the districts to issue more bonds. The proceeds are to be used to buy small power companies.

Some day, and it may not be far in the future, the whole story will be exposed in a congressional inquiry, but already the outlines are clear. It is known that Mr. Ickes' engineers were skeptical of the two water power schemes when they were first proposed. The engineers knew of the vagaries of Nebraska rivers. They knew how irregular is the flow. They knew that the rivers carry a heavy burden of silt to accumulate behind power dams and rapidly diminish their storage capacity. They knew, also, that porous soil is unsuited for water storage and, finally, they knew that power in Nebraska can be generated more economically from steam than from the rivers, and that there was no market ready to absorb additional power. Nevertheless, the projects were approved by Mr. Ickes, under pressure from interested politicians.

Politically it was expedient to reject sound engineering advice. Senator Norris had helped elect Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Norris wanted the power projects for his state. So did Arthur Mullen, then the Democratic national committeeman, who happened also to be attorney for at least one of the proposed power districts, with a fat fee in prospect should he put the scheme over. And so Mr. Ickes gave in. The taxpayers put up the money.

Every gloomy forecast of the engineers has been realized, and then some. The costs, of course, have far exceeded original estimates. Silt has been accumulating at so rapid a rate that expensive and none too effective measures have been instituted to solve it. Because of the porous soil, farms in the neighborhood of the projects have been flooded by subterranean water.

Eventually the turbines and generators were ready to grind out power and then the absence of a market, which up to that time seems to have given no one much concern, required attention. Hence Mr. Ickes' latest action. He has cleared the way for the purchase of ten small power companies in order to acquire their customers.

The scheme was uneconomical to start with and the purchase of the small plants will not make it less so. Mr. Ickes is playing the same game of acquiring small power companies and their customers which was pursued without conspicuous success by Middle West Utilities and kindred organizations a decade ago. Honest Harold has frequently denounced the power barons for their iniquities, but it is not always easy to distinguish his policies from theirs. One point of difference is, of course, apparent. Nobody was obliged to buy Middle West stock but every citizen of the United States is obliged to carry a share of the Nebraska losses.

BEWARE THE EXPLOSIVES.

Latin America hopes that the Lima conference which opened yesterday will add an important codicil to the amiable Good Neighbor policy, not only confirming the right of a country to expropriate the property of foreign investors but stipulating that no force will be used to compel restitution.

The United States has agreed in principle with Mexico that a nation may take over the property of foreigners just as it may take the property of its own people. That, Washington agrees, is a sovereign right. Mr. Hull, without much success, adds that compensation should be paid. Mexico can agree in principle but cannot pay.

The Mexicans have urged many other Central and South American countries to expropriate properties. Our government has tried to head that movement off in Cuba. Bolivia already has taken Standard Oil properties. Pseudo revolutionary ideas are distorting international ethics and, what is worse, are creating economic conditions which may have some extraordinary consequences.

The United States ostentatiously is pursuing a good will program. It has liquidated its imperialism. It has checked its outward movement. It withdraws from the Philippines. It is being thrown out of China. The marines stay at home. The idea that the United States is responsible for the order of the Caribbean has been abandoned.

At that same time within the United States capital and goods accumulate. The outlets through which products and money might flow seeking trade and investment are being closed. This is a commercial and not a military nation, but it has been a military nation when it needed to be. Great Britain, also a commercial nation, finds itself blocked out of markets. They have been closed by the dictator states. The great British establishment in China may be destroyed.

A terrific force is being compressed within the commercial nations. Here Mr. Hull has tried to ease it off by trade treaties and good will notions. The major problem has not been touched. It grows worse. No one should believe that American altruism will survive the explosive force of compressed American goods and money. Only national weakness would make the wheat and cotton growers, the manufacturers, and capital investors submit. The prodigious program of armament may be said to be defensive, a necessity in a troubled world, but a historical realist might find that it hooks up significantly with the growing interference with peaceable trade and safe investment.

People do not reason out all of their actions. At least they seem not to. When a momentous change in national policy occurs the propelling motives appear often to have arisen out of half blind instincts.

OUR TROOPS IN CHINA.

The Japanese are reminding our government that as conquerors they do not welcome the presence of our army and marine detachments in North China. No doubt the legal basis for the presence of our troops in China is sound enough, but for common sense reasons our soldiers should be withdrawn. They might have been able to maintain the open door as against China but they cannot do so against Japan when that country is determined to control Chinese trade in its interest. In any event, the withdrawal of our troops will prevent the occurrence of the kind of incident which might lead to a war nobody wants. We gave up the Philippines to reduce the likelihood of a war against Japan on her side of the Pacific. Withdrawing our troops from China has the same justification.

Editorial of the Day

EUROPE'S PRESS AS CHIEF TROUBLE MAKER.

[Bloomington Pantagraph.]

How a press functions when it is under direct and rigid control of government has been amply illustrated in the history of Europe in the last 10 months.

When Hitler was on his rampage in the summer and early fall, creating a major threat against the peace of all Europe, the German newspapers were chief organs of propaganda to stir hatred against other peoples.

Not only was the press of Germany itself under direction of the Nazi influence, but the government authorities in Germany attempted to dictate to the press of England and other countries what it should or should not print concerning German policies. This attempt failed to a large degree, for the English newspapers refused to bend the knee to a foreign dictator.

Now another instance of government controled press is exhibited to the world.

Italy is now threatening war against France if certain claims for Italian advantage in Africa are not heeded by Italy's closest neighbor.

The press is again being used to stir the people of the country into hatred of everything French. The newspapers are digging up events of several years ago when France and Germany quarreled, and conjuring the Italian people not to forget the injustices which were then done, as the claim now runs.

In Germany and Italy when any sharp division of sentiment might be expected, the readers of the newspapers are allowed to read only one side of an issue, and that the one sponsored by the government.

As long as the free press is maintained in America, it is not likely that this nation will be pulled around by the nose by any coteries of individuals, in or out of the government.

SKYLINES FOR DINNER.

It's a small room in a Michigan avenue club twenty-four stories above the pavement, dedicated to the dinner-time revelry and ribaldry of a few stray males seeking escape from feminine frou-frou and chi-chi—a glassed-in ledge on a tower. Its walls are of limestone, decorated with old war posters, tourist bureau lithographs, and Parisian masterpieces in pictorial réclame except for the east side, which is formed of casement windows, twenty feet of them, providing a magnificent view of the river, the harbor, and the lake.

We began by calling it the London Club room because of the service—a simple prix fixe dinner for hearty meat eaters in home cooking style. But the name did not catch on; its other patrons continued to refer to it as the East Bar, its designation during the prohibition period.

* * *

One evening of riotous conversation, when the vine leaves were clustering in every one's hair, we gave it the beautiful name, "Estra Fenestra." This was our idea of the equivalent of East Window in the language of medieval Provence when the age of troubadours was in flower.

But we soon wearied of explaining this charming title to the uninitiated. Too many fellows dropped in whose education was merely a preparation for La Salle street, and who looked blank when we mentioned Pierre Vidal and spoke of "Provençal song and sunburnt mirth."

* * *

So a committee of two changed "Estra Fenestra" to "The Snuggery." This did not seem to click with the other regular attendants; knowing nothing of the doings in places called "Casey's Snug" in Dublin, they thought it sounded slightly sissy.

Then the committee of two became a committee of one, and after a careful study of his companions he proclaimed that the place should be called, now and forever more, "The Luggery." The gang didn't like that, either, but they are getting used to it.

* * *

Whenever the committee of one arrives for his dinner he asks the waiter:

"How many lugs will we have in the Luggery tonight, Richard?"

WOUNDED MALLARD.

I found him in the sedges where his wing,
All shattered now, had crimsoned deep the sand.
Bewildered, prone, his beauteous neck unarched,
With eyes that begged through pain to understand;
Dull eyes that sought in vain to pierce the sky,
A sky that grew more dark though this was dawn.
Far off the V-shaped squadron fell in line;
One plaintive call came back . . . and they were gone.

I had no touch, no word, no help to give.
His mate had gone ahead into the blue.
And well I knew, dear God, You know how well,
The heart beneath his wing was broken, too.

Saying It with Initials.

Re query about meanings of monograms on the La Salle street station's façade [11-26-'38]:

There are two monograms as follows: "L. S. & M. S.," which are the initials of the old Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad which, in 1914, became a part of the present New York Central system; "C., R. I. & P.," which stands for Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway.

Shall I, a poet, sing of stars
Or of the rising sun?
Sing of things now in the past
Or sweet things just begun?
Shall I chant of grief and pain
Or shall I shout of joy?
Of a svelte sophisticate
Or of an eager boy?

The choice is quite a simple thing;
The past is dead and gone.
Old loves, old cares, old songs have fled;
The Now is what lives on!
Poets need not embers stir
To make the flames leap higher—
'Tis best to warm one's song beside
A newer, brighter fire!

WATCH BABIES FOR SIGNS OF RICKETS.

RICKETS is one of the commonest diseases of childhood. Ever since Francis Glisson published his classic account in 1650 physicians have manifested unusual interest in this ailment. The cause, however remained an enigma until but a few years ago, when the important rôle of vitamins was demonstrated.

The symptoms appear, as a rule, between the third and fifth months of life. Many a mother will bring her babe to a physician describing excessive sweating and increasing restlessness indicated by rolling of the head from side to side on the pillow. If he finds that the ribs are poorly formed and the tissues flaccid he may at once prescribe sizable doses of vitamin D, whereupon there will take place a rather prompt change for the better with a good appetite, more perfect absorption of food, and a normal infant begins the growth process.

But sometimes these early signs are unheeded. The increasing nervousness may be laid to a dozen or more origins, and when the doctor sees the little one for the first time the symptoms of the disease in advanced form may be obvious—the characteristic deformity of the chest, pot belly, square head, and enlargements at the ends of the long bones. Furthermore, the child may be susceptible to colds and evince distaste for food. The teeth may erupt late, may not be properly formed, anemia may be exhibited, and the whole appearance may typify that of a babe definitly below par.

Now this whole matter can be corrected by such a simple procedure as the feeding of cod liver oil, although damage that has been done may not be repaired. Some recent surveys have shown that all parents are not fully aware of the cure, despite the volume of public information which is abroad in the land. Many believe, no doubt, that the food which they are giving their offspring is as good or better than that which they received, and that the baby just happens to be sickly. It is perfectly clear that we must call attention over and over again to the significance of vitamin D in the diet.

A recent report from one of our large western states presents an alarming picture. An examination of several thousand pre-school children living in farming communities disclosed that rickets afflicted 20 per cent. Naturally physicians, as well as health officers, were aroused to the necessity of a considerable amount of missionary work among fathers and mothers, informing them not only of the obligation to give cod liver oil, but of the fact that without it the boy or girl is far more prone to exhibit maladies of all sorts. In other words, the start in life is based upon a substantial diet containing all the essential elements in adequate quantities. This latter consideration is highly desirable, as it is well known that those receiving just enough vitamin D to prevent rickets will not develop as stalwart bodies as those receiving larger proportions. Particular care must be taken with premature babies and those who are artificially fed.

How much vitamin D is needed? Certainly not less than 300 units per day; better 400 to 500. No harmful results are produced by even 600, but it is sometimes difficult to persuade a lad to take more than two teaspoonfuls in each twenty-four hours. Recently the combination of milk and califerol makes this whole program much simpler. Some of the processed milks supply as high as 400 units per quart, while irradiated lacteal fluid may furnish somewhat less. There seems to be advantage in giving the vitamin in milk, as the wider it is dispersed in liquid the better.

Every youngster should be safe under one of the following plans: [1] Two or three teaspoons daily of a good grade of cod liver oil; [2] a corresponding dose of viosterol or haliver oil; [3] two drops of calciferol in milk, or [4] fourteen or fifteen ounces of irradiated milk to which is added one teaspoonful of cod liver oil. If the child is weak or is not taking food eagerly the above portions may be doubled.

Unfortunately at this time of year ultraviolet rays from Old Sol which reach the earth are so weak that direct contact is practically out of the question. Furthermore, inclement weather may not permit it.

TWO TONED VOICE.

M. W. writes: What is diphonia? What is the cause? Is it curable?

REPLY.

Diphonia means double voice. It is a condition in which two different tones are produced in speaking. During adolescence, when we say that the voice changes, many lads will use in the same sentence the voice of childhood and that of manhood.

FLAT FEET.

H. E. writes: I have been told that exercise will help flat feet. Is this possible? What forms are recommended?

REPLY.

We have outlined such a program and have it in mimeographed form. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for such exercises.

SALE AND RESALE.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—"A" bought furniture from "B," receiving a bill of sale and furniture. "A" soon discovered the furniture had not been paid for by "B."

1. Having no right to sell the furniture, [2] the furniture company took the furniture from "A." "A" is now out both money and furniture.
3. Has "A" a right to demand his money?
4. What steps could he take?
5. Which would be best? M. A.

1. This conclusion would not necessarily follow. The rights of the first seller would depend on whether he had protected himself by conditional sale contract or recorded chattel mortgage.

2. If the first seller was engaged in this business, then presumably he protected himself in one of the manners suggested.

3. Yes. B impliedly warranted that he had good title to the furniture.

4 and 5. If the amount is sufficient to warant court proceedings, he should employ an attorney. The Illinois Chattel Mortgage act specifies penalties for sale of mortgaged property. This might be a basis for bringing some pressure to bear on the guilty party. You could ascertain the facts from the furniture company.

A HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR'S PLEA.

Davenport, Ia., Dec. 7.—Being impressed with the sound logic of a senior in high school, Keith Fuller of Council Bluffs, I quote his contribution to a Des Moines newspaper, printed Dec. 4. Young Mr. Fuller's letter follows:

"I, like hundreds of thousands of young men and women, shall be graduated from high school this June. Some of us are able to attend college, without financial aid; a greater number will be able to attend, with part time jobs; still others, and by far the largest group, will not be able to attend under any circumstances.

"The last two groups need the help of the American business man and pleas should be made for them, instead of a group of aliens, who more than likely cannot read, speak, or write the English language.

"Is the business man to disregard American youth, by giving jobs to these aliens, or is he to tell them politely but firmly to stay where they belong? If he chooses to favor them, what is there for us to do except join the WPA?

"If, however, he chooses to help us, more of us may attend college, gain more knowledge concerning this problem, and be able to cope with it. We will, also, be kept off the relief rolls; fewer crimes will be committed by the American youth, and by these two things lower our national debt."

I feel the appeal of young Fuller, if carried out, will help greatly to make America safe for democracy.

ROBERT N. CARSON.

QUESTION FOR WASHINGTON.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Will some one please explain why it is perfectly O. K. with Washington for the Mexican government to seize 100 per cent of the property of Americans in Mexico and all wrong for the German government to seize 20 per cent of the property of some of her own citizens in Germany?

If it isn't our business to protect American citizens in Mexico, why is it our business to try and protect German citizens in Germany?

AN INQUIRING AMERICAN.

SAYS THE LAW IS SCUTTLED.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—From personal experience I believe the original old age assistance act of Illinois has been scuttled by reinterpretation and rulings of an incompetent welfare administration. I appeal to THE TRIBUNE to investigate this act and its administration to determine why such rulings have been made.

INGA JOHNSON,
A 76 Year Old Widow.

McCUTCHEON RATES A MEDAL.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Mr. McCutcheon should rate a congressional medal for bravery in producing the cartoon on British propaganda at this time.

A copy of the cartoon should be hung in the halls of congress lest we forget.

HOOSIER.

WOULD WIPE OUT PAROLE BOARD.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—The slaying of Detective Edward Lynn, who twice killed gunmen in eleven years and who received a testimonial of $100 from THE TRIBUNE, is another illustration why the parole boards should be abolished.

L. OLDEN.

SOFT FOR OUR LAWMAKERS.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—With state medicine on the horizon, a sea breeze whispers that congress is reserving a soft berth for itself in the navy's new $4,850,000 medical center. Along with those other medical indigents—the cabinet—senators and representatives are now medical wards of the navy.

How did they—$10,000-$15,000 a year men all—creep into the charity class?

It seems there is a law which stipulates that navy physicians shall attend congress. By the usual political hocus-pocus it is now interpreted as opening the navy's medical facilities without charge to all federal lawmakers and cabinet officials. This was accomplished quite easily. There was no need of surveys proving that one-third of congress lacks adequate care.

What can be done about it? Well, you might write the admiral.

THEODORE H. MADAY, M. D.

HORSE AND BUGGY REFLECTIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—In the old horse and buggy days we hitched the horse before the buggy, but in this new Utopian, New Deal, C. I. O., WPA, humanity in government, spendthrift, wasteful, more abundant life period, what do we find? The high officials of the government scheme to increase prices because "high prices make prosperity."

In the "horse and buggy days" it was found that prosperity produced high prices, and that is common sense. Now comes H. M. with an addition to such fallacy by saying that we should encourage immigration because the "influx of foreigners makes prosperity," again putting the cart before the horse. It is prosperity that attracts the foreigners to our shores and country. Will common sense ever return to the majority of our people or is that expecting too much?

J. A. WEBER.

COMMENDS A NOVEL.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—The novel "A Door Closed Softly," by Alice Ormond Campbell, which ended recently in THE TRIBUNE, is a very worthy novel for several reasons. A careful reader is considerably impressed by the continuity, the very plausible plot, and in particular, the selection of words. Words not ordinarily heard in everyday conversation were used to perfection in the third person. I am sure that another novel by Alice Ormond Campbell would be relished by many of your readers.

HARRY G. SACHRISON.

HENRY POPE A FOUNDER.

Henderson, Ky., Dec. 6.—In answer to the inquiry in reference to the founding of the Warm Springs Foundation, Henry Pope of Chicago is the man referred to. Henry Pope and Roosevelt visited Warm Springs sometime around 1924, then a broken down resort. The two men purchased it, and subsequently developed it into its present state. Pope and Roosevelt fell out over a matter of extension policy, and Pope dropped out of the Foundation for several years, returning to active participation as a member of the board about a year ago. Pope's daughter suffered from infantile paralysis.

Knowing Henry Pope, it is my personal opinion that he avoids rather than seeks publicity, is glad to let F. D. R. take any glory he wishes so long as the good work of the Foundation goes forward.

FRANCELE ARMSTRONG.

DANCE NIGHTS BARRED.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Recently a student committee requested the principal of a certain west side school to have Friday night social dances. The principal flatly rejected the proposal. This came as a complete surprise to students and even some members of the faculty, for it was generally agreed that school dance nights would curb juvenile delinquency and help promote a better social life for students. We don't mean to criticize the principal, whom we regard as "a swell fellow," but rather we are asking to have Superintendent Johnson and Miss Ernestine Badt of the board of education give us advice on how we may convince our good principal of the importance of having Friday night social dancing at our school.

DANCING FEET.

OPEN SEASON FOR OPTIMISTS.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—This is the open season for optimists. Since the advent of the humanitarians in 1932, each fall the atmosphere is sprayed with con. Right after the first of the new year we will have a great business revival is the seven year old, dust covered, stereotyped come-on that they use.

We will enjoy a business pick-up when private building shows an increase. We'll reach that point only when the cost of construction has been reduced to the point where the majority of our citizens can afford to buy. To attain this end, those representing interest rates, material prices, taxes, and labor must co-operate.

CHARGE PAYOFF IN BALLOT DEAL AT TERRE HAUTE

G.O.P. Demands Renewed for Fraud Inquiry.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—A payoff consumating an election deal was made in a downtown hotel here just prior to the balloting Nov. 8. This was charged today by Republicans who have been investigating alleged widespread vote frauds in the Indiana election.

The payoff was made, it was said, with a pack of $20 bills of consecutive serial numbers which were transported to Terre Haute from an Indianapolis bank by a political leader prominent in state affairs.

Several Democratic leaders, headed by Frank McHale, Indiana Democratic national committeeman and dominant figure in the McHale-McNutt-Minton machine, came here for prolonged conferences just before the election.

Renew Quiz Efforts.

Investigators for the Republican state committee have renewed efforts to force an investigation of election fraud charges by a federal or county grand jury, or even by the United States senate. They have ample evidence to warrant such an inquiry they declared.

The investigators have amassed evidence in legal form to support, they said, the following additional charges:

1. Preëlection efforts of the Republican organization to purge the registration lists here of persons who were not entitled to vote failed were thwarted.

2. Due to this failure a substantial number of votes were cast illegally.

3. In at least one precinct money was paid to voters at the polls.

4. An undetermined number of mutilated ballots were counted by precinct election boards in the ratio of approximately three Democratic ballots to one Republican ballot.

5. In at least one precinct the voters were compelled to signify whether they wished to vote the Republican or Democratic tickets.

Allege Tallies Outside Polls.

6. In more than one precinct the ballots were taken from the voting places by members of the board and tallied outside the polls.

7. In at least one precinct the voting machine was so fixed as to register 100 votes for a certain candidate when ten votes were cast for him.

8. In one precinct it was found twenty five more persons were listed as having voted than there were ballots recorded on the voting machine.

9. Tavern keepers and operators of slot machines and gambling places were assessed to produce a slush fund which was used but not reported by any organization or candidate

Tardy Returns Suspicious.

Investigation of the situation began here the day after the election, when it became apparent that returns, even though voting machines were used, were very tardy. The lead of Republican candidates was cut down as late reports filtered in.

It was finally announced that United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys, Democrat, had been reëlected by a slim majority over his Republican opponent, Raymond E. Willis, and that the Democratic state ticket, with the exception of the office of secretary of state, had been elected by about the same narrow margin.

Van Nuys has countered efforts to obtain a recount of votes here and in six other key counties.

ADVOCATES ONE SIX YEAR TERM FOR PRESIDENT

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A single term of six years without eligibility to further election as President of the United States will be embodied in a constitutional amendment to be introduced at the next session of congress by Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], he said today.

Senator Burke said the compelling reason for his proposal is to curb what he called a trend toward more power for the President. He said that it was not pointed directly at the present administration.

Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] announced today he would introduce in the next session a resolution opposing a third term for President Roosevelt. He said he would use the wording of the resolution passed, 56 to 26, by the senate Feb. 10, 1928, opposing a third term for President Coolidge.

START STUDENT UNION BUILDING IN TERRE HAUTE

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Excavating work was under way today for the construction of a new students' union building costing $425,000 and the preparation of a site for the new $380,000 fine arts and commerce building of the Indiana State Teachers' college here.

The expansion program, involving an expenditure of $3,000,000, is the most extensive one undertaken in the history of the institution. It has enabled the college to double its physical property and increase its enrollment to a position which places it fourth among the state's schools. It will be led in enrollment only by Purdue, Indiana, and Notre Dame universities.

Instructs 124 Detectives in Use of Two Way Radio

Instruction in the use of two way radio was given yesterday and last night to 124 detectives at the detective bureau by Fred H. Schnell, in charge of police radio. Squad cars are expected to be equipped with the two way system shortly. Mr. Schnell also warned the policemen of the restrictions. MRS. NONA McADOO TAYLOR.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nona McAdoo Taylor, daughter of former United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo of California, has established residence in Reno and expects to file suit to divorce her third husband, Francis Taylor of New York City, at the end of a six weeks stay. Prince A. Hawkins, Reno attorney, said Mrs. Taylor arrived a few days ago and had discussed the expected divorce proceedings with members of his law firm.

G. O. P. TO OFFER PENSION BILL IN NEXT CONGRESS

Issue Is Discussed at Party Parley.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Rival Republican and administration old age pension bills will be introduced in the seventy-sixth congress when it meets next month.

Republican leaders in both the senate and house said today that there will be a Republican measure, though they would not undertake to forecast its character. They surmised, however, that it would provide for a substantial liberalization of the present social security act by lowering the age limit from 65 to 60 years and increasing the maximum federal contribution from $15 to $30 a month, making possible, with the state contribution, an old age pension of $60 a month.

Hoover Attends Meeting.

The question of the Republican attitude was discussed, it transpired, at a meeting of Republican leaders with former President Hoover today, although no conclusions were reached. Mr. Hoover was in Washington to attend a meeting of the Carnegie institute of which he is a trustee. He declined to be interviewed on political topics.

"I don't want to mix pure politics with pure science which I came here to discuss," he said.

Mr. Hoover plans to make a series of speeches on Roosevelt policies in the next few months which may serve as the prelude of the Republican campaign of 1940. Whether Mr. Hoover is harboring ambitions to be the party nominee is a subject of much speculation. One leader remarked that "Mr. Hoover is the ablest man in the Republican party but he would be the hardest to elect." Some of his friends expect him to make an ironclad disavowal of candidacy.

G. O. P. Leaders Attend.

The occasion of the conference today was a breakfast given for Mr. Hoover by William R. Castle, formerly undersecretary of state and now assistant to the chairman of the Republican national committee. Others present were Senators Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader of the senate, and Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.]; Representatives Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], and Thomas A. Jenkins [R., O.], and Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone of the Supreme court.

Congressman Treadway touched off the discussion of old age pensions with the opinion that this is an issue which the Republicans will be compelled to meet in the new congress. He pointed out that of the eighty-one new Republican members forty either committed themselves to the Townsend plan or some variation thereof or pledged themselves to join in bringing the question to a vote.

Mr. Treadway, at the first meeting of the ways and means committee of which he is ranking minority member, will offer a resolution providing for hearings on the Townsend plan, the $60 a month general welfare bill and related measures. He predicted that the other Republican members would support this move.

CHRISTMAS BOOK REVIEWS

Year Provides Fine Books for Older Children

For older children there are more than the usual number of excellent books this year. On Nov. 12 [Children's Book week] we reviewed briefly the year's outstanding juveniles recommended by the American Library association, and last week other books for younger children. Good books, besides those reviewed on Nov. 12, for older children, are given in the following list. Those marked with an asterisk [*] are recommended by the children's department of the Chicago Public library and are in circulation there. All juveniles are illustrated.

For Children 7 to 10 Years Old

A Story Parade Green Book, edited by May Lamberton Becker [Winston, $1.75]. A very fine collection of modern stories by noted authors. The best of its kind.

Stories That Never Grow Old, edited by Watty Piper [Platt & Munk, $1.50]. A large book profusely illustrated in color and black and white.

Three Rings, by Paul Brown [Scribners, $2]. An excitingly illustrated big story book about a circus family.

The Silver Princess in Oz, by Ruth Plumly Thompson [Reilly & Lee, $1.50]. Another book of a series which children have demanded for twenty years.

◆

Martin Pippin in the Daisy Field [Stokes, $2.50]. Delightful tales by the distinguished author of "Martin Pippin in the Apple Orchard."

Black, White, and Caroline, by Susan Ertz [Appleton Century, $1.50]. A distinguished English novelist tells a fantastic tale for children.

Nino, by Valenti Angelo [Viking, $2]. The author pictures his own childhood in Tuscany.

Cricket, by Berta and Elmer Hader [Macmillan, $2]. About a circus pony who wound up on a farm.

Once at Christmas, by Dorothy Thompson [Oxford, 50 cents]. What Christmas was like when a famous columnist was young.

For Children from 8 to Their Teens

East of the Sun and West of the Moon, edited by Edgar and Ingri d'Daulaire [Viking, $3.50]. A distinguished gift book, with six etchings and sixteen wash drawings. Well-loved Danish folk tales.

The Great Story [Harcourt Brace, $2]. The story of Christ's life in a continuous narrative in the exact wording of the Bible. Fifteen paintings by famous artists reproduced in full color.

Through the Harbor from Everywhere, by Irmengarde Eberle [Bobbs Merrill, $1.50]. The exciting stories behind the cargoes of ocean boats.

Jack, Jock, and Funny, by Eleanor Youmans [Bobbs Merrill, $1.50]. The adventures of some happy dogs.

◆

The Hobbit, by J. R. R. Tolkien [Houghton Mifflin, $2.50]. A fantastic tale destined, so they say, to live beside "Alice in Wonderland."

The White Camel, by Eden Phillpotts [Dutton, $2]. About life in Arabia. By a distinguished English novelist.

My Friend Mr. Leakey, by J. B. S. Haldane [Harpers, $1.75]. A brilliant scientist turns his talents to some fantastic tales for children.

The Children's Shakespeare, by E. Nesbit [Random, $2]. Twelve of the play's plots retold by England's popular writer of juveniles.

The Safe Way Club, by Catherine Bryce [Nelson, $1.50]. Teaches children to watch their steps.

For Older Girls

Girls are as liable to enjoy books of boys' adventure as boys are, and some boys like to read books about girls. These classifications, therefore, are not rockbound, merely convenient.

Felicity Dances, by Arnold L. Haskell [Lippincott, $2]. About training of ballet dancers.

Castle Camp, by Fjeril Hess [Macmillan, $2]. About a summer camp in Prague, Czecho-Slovakia.

The House in No End Hollow, by May Justus [Doubleday Doran, $2]. A tale of high courage in a Kentucky mountain girl.

◆

Penny Marsh, Public Health Nurse, by Dorothy Deming, R. N. [Dodd Mead, $2]. A story inspiring to a vocation.

Lupe and the Senorita, by Chesley Kahmann [Random, $2]. A romantic story of Porto Rico.

The Vanderlyn Silhouette, by Augusta Huiell Seaman [Appleton Century, $2]. An intriguing mystery of New York in the early nineteenth century.

The Secret of the Gold Earring, by Helen A. Monsell [Bobbs Merrill, $1.75]. Suspense, mystery, and thrills in New York in 1855.

For Older Boys

Rip Darcy, Adventurer, by Jack O'Brien [Winston, $2]. Thrills on sea, on land, and in the air.

The Scarlet Oak, by Cornelia Meigs [Macmillan, $2]. About a boy in New Jersey in 1817, gardener on the estate of Joseph Bonaparte.

Red Hugh of Ireland, by Jeannette Covert Nolan [Harpers, $2]. The story of Hugh O'Donnell, Irish hero in the days of Queen Elizabeth.

Northend Wildcats, by Clyde Brion Davis [Farrar & Rinehart, $2]. By a well known adult novelist, a "Tom Sawyer" and "Penrod" sort of book.

Strangers in the Desert, by Alice Dyar Russell [Harpers, $2]. A mystery story with thrills of setting and characters.

Rifles for Washington, by Elsie Singmaster [Houghton Mifflin, $2.25]. The pageant of the American revolution through the eyes of a private soldier.

Tal of the Four Tribes, by Herbert Best [Doubleday Doran, $2]. A jungle story by the author of the popular "Garram the Hunter."

For Children in Their Teens

Many a teen-age child will find, with glee, among his Christmas books Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Listen! the Wind," and Admiral Byrd's "Alone," and Felix Salten's tale of a squirrel, "Perri," probably put there by some adult who will promptly appropriate them. And he may also lose his copy of Richard Halliburton's "Second Book of Marvels" [Bobbs Merrill, $2.50] on account of its fascinating photographs of what that inveterate adventurer saw in the orient.

The Book of Insect Oddities, by Raymond L. Ditmars [Lippincott, $2]. Tells where strange insects are found and pictures them in natural color.

Give a Man a Horse, by Charles J. Finger [Winston, $2]. A tale of many exciting adventures.

Pasteur, by Francis E. Benz [Dodd Mead, $2]. About an inspiring "knight of the laboratory."

The Happy Autocrat, by Hildegarde Hawthorne [Longmans, $2]. The life of Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Wizard of the Wires, by Helen Nicolay [Appleton Century, $2.50]. Samuel F. B. Morse's exciting life story.

Your Daily Paper, by John J. Floherty [Lippincott, $2]. Tells in text and illuminating photographs how a newspaper is produced.

Midshipman Davy Jones, by Lieut. Raymond Toner [Whitman, $2.50]. Some say the greatest sea story since "Two Years Before the Mast."

Iron Duke, by John R. Tunis [Harcourt Brace, $2]. A college story with a different angle.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

Dixie Authors Are Fewer but Better in 1938

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

In the wake of the stirring and ponderous "Gone With the Wind" there came a flood of books about the south. Many of them were important contributions to the lore of a section. The publication of others must have surprised the authors as much as it pained this reviewer, who hails from those parts.

This flood of southern reading matter appears to have reached its peak in 1937. In 1938 the contributions were fewer but were infinitely better.

Some of the most valuable histories and biographies in many seasons have appeared this year. The novels, too, are better. They run not so much to share croppers and lynchings, but to absorbing—and sane—studies of the south as it was and is.

Probably the most valuable of the histories is The Story of Reconstruction, by Robert Selph Henry [Bobbs Merrill, $5]. In a stirring narrative, he brings the south forward from 1865, scrutinizing each section, then blending it into the pattern of the whole.

By far the best southern biography of the year is that of Admiral Raphael Semmes, who as commander of the raider C. S. S. Alabama, crippled Yankee shipping in the civil war. Semmes of the Alabama, by W. Adolphe Roberts [Bobbs Merrill, $3.50], is dramatic and historically accurate.

The year's outstanding southern novel is Gwen Bristow's The Handsome Road [Crowell, $2.50]. It is the second of a trilogy and brings to its destruction that strange and wonderful civilization that grew up along the lower Mississippi before the civil war.

The most valuable bit of contemporary writing is A Southerner Discovers the South, by Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer [Macmillan, $3]. Mr. Daniels tours the south from Baltimore to Texas; from Florida to Memphis and writes what he sees as he sees it.

Of this year's books on the southern scene, these four appear to be the most representative and the best. But a reviewer does not confine his reading to the lore of one section. And there have been many rich finds in the books that have come to him in the last twelve months.

Heading the biographies and histories on the general list is Mark Twain; a Portrait, by Edgar Lee Masters [Scribners, $2.75]. It is a harsh portrait, perhaps, but you will know Mark Twain better when you have read it. And there are some new Twain anecdotes.

Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette, by Nesta H. Webster [Putnam, $5], presents the case in behalf of the slain king and queen. Some scholars think it too partisan, but it is valuable in that it gives a larger understanding of the tragedy of 1793.

Moulders of Destiny, by Lloyd W. Eshleman [Covici-Friede, $3], is a brilliant and coördinated biography series. The great figures of the Renaissance and their influence on the modern world make up the theme.

Through the Fog of War, by Capt. Liddell Hart [Random House, $2.50], is a remarkable study of the forces and figures of the world war and of the armament race that has followed.

In the fiction list, Blow for a Landing, by Ben Lucien Burman [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.50], is another touching and delightful story of the shanty boat folk who spend their lives on the bayous and along the lower Mississippi.

As Once You Were, by A. S. M. Hutchinson [Little Brown, $2.50], is the fascinating tale of a successful author who tries to recapture the desires, loves, and hobbies that were a part of him when he was young. Hutchinson, you will remember, wrote "If Winter Comes."

Journey to the West, by Darwin L. Teilhet [Doubleday Doran, $2.75], recounts the breezy and unconventional life of a callously human advertising man. Sophisticate and amusing.

And there is much interesting nonfiction. High Iron, by Lucius Beebe [Appleton Century, $5], is a big book filled with the color of American railroading and packed with large pictures of locomotives and famous trains. An excellent gift book.

The Fun of Photography, by Mario and Mabel Scacheri [Harcourt Brace, $3.50], is unique among books of this kind. It is extremely valuable to all amateur and professional photographers.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

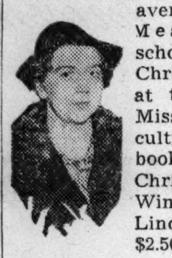
The Inquiring Reporter visited six Chicago bookshops as the most likely places to find persons interested in books and questioned the shoppers.

THE QUESTION.

What three books would you most like to receive for Christmas?

THE ANSWERS.

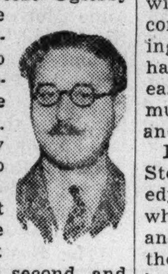
Dr. Ludwig Lewisohn, author and lecturer, whose home is in New Rochelle, N. Y., had stopped to see the owner of a famous Michigan avenue bookshop and to look for a beginners' book of German for a young friend. Dr. Lewisohn hoped to own a copy of "The Notebooks of Leonardo da Vinci," translated for the first time into English by Edward MacCurdy [Reynal & Hitchcock, 2 vols., $15]; "A New Anthology of Modern Poetry," edited by Selden Rodman [Random House, $3], and "The Complete Greek Drama," edited by Whitney J. Oates and Eugene O'Neill Jr. [Random House, $5].



Miss Mary K. Rich, 6023 Kenwood avenue, librarian at the Meadville Theological school, was shopping for Christmas gifts in books at the same bookstore. Miss Rich had no difficulty at all naming three books she would like for Christmas: "Listen! the Wind," by Anne Morrow Lindbergh [Harcourt, $2.50]; Carl Van Doren's vivid biography of "Benjamin Franklin" [Viking, $3.75], and Virginia Woolf's "Three Guineas" [Harcourt, $2.50].

D. E. Harvey of Boston, Mass., a manufacturer's agent, was in Chicago for the Automotive Service Industries show at the Navy pier. He chose "My Son, My Son," by Howard Spring [Viking, $2.50]; Dr. Arthur E Hertzler's "Horse and Buggy Doctor" [Harpers, $2.75], and "Alone," by Admiral Richard E. Byrd [Putnam, $2.50].

Miss Margaret Farrell, 525 North Austin boulevard, cataloger of the Meadville Theological school, chose "Benjamin Franklin," by Carl Van Doren [Viking, $3.75], "Ferdinand," Munro Leaf's story of the bull, with pictures by Robert Lawson [Viking, $1], and "Rebecca," by Daphne Du Maurier [Doubleday Doran, $2.75]. She also wanted "My America," by Louis Adamic [Harpers, $3.75].



Maurice A. Drubeck, 6920 Oglesby avenue, engineer of the Chicago waterworks department, said he has to be careful about his selections because his wife is a school teacher. Harry A. Franck's "Sky Roaming Above Two Continents" [Stokes $3.50], was his first choice; "Science for the Citizen," by Lancelot Hogben [Knopf, $5], his second, and "With Malice Toward Some," by Margaret Halsey [Simon & Schuster, $2], his third.

Edith Barnard, 1945 Stanton avenue, Whiting, Ind., a student at the George Rogers Clark High school at Hammond, Ind., was shopping in a Wabash avenue bookstore with her mother. Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Listen! the Wind" [Harcourt, $2.50], was the first book she thought of. "The Horse and Buggy Doctor," by Arthur E. Hertzler [Harpers, $2.75], was her second selection, and "Mozart," by W. J. Turner [Knopf, $4], third.

John Bowles, 900 Sheridan road, Glencoe, a moving picture camera salesman, turned the tables on the Inquiring Reporter by asking her to make some recommendations for Christmas gifts for his friends. However, he knew what he wanted for himself! Again "Listen! the Wind," by Anne Morrow Lindbergh [Harcourt, $2.50]; "All This, and Heaven Too" [Macmillan, $2.50], by Rachel Field, and "Sailor on Horseback," by Irving Stone [Houghton, $3], were his selections.

Dorothy Daniels, 610 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, a secretary, named "Away to the Canadian Rockies and British Columbia," by Gordon Brinley [Dodd, $2.50], as her first choice. Her other two choices echoed popular opinion, with "Rebecca," Daphne Du Maurier's best selling novel [Doubleday Doran, $2.75], and "Listen! the Wind," by Anne Morrow Lindbergh [Harcourt, $2.50].

Here's a Recommended Group in Travel and Adventure Fields

BY AL CHASE.

The 1938 crop of true adventure and travel books is one of the best in several seasons. Here are a few of the outstanding books of this type:

Enchanted Vagabonds, by Dana Lamb and June Cleveland [Harpers, $3.50]; the exciting voyage of a young couple by canoe from California along the Mexican and Central American coast. One of the most entertaining books of its kind in many years.

Assigned to Adventure, by Irene Kuhn [Lippincott, $3]; the lively autobiography of a newspaper woman who covered stories in far flung places.

Stars to Windward, by Bruce and Sheridan Fahnestock [Harcourt Brace, $3]; a gay, vivacious log of a two years' voyage of a small schooner from New York to the East Indies.

Captains Outrageous, by Morton Gill Clark [Morrow, $3]; an hilariously funny account of the unfortunate voyage of several young Americans from the south seas to France.

Frontiers of Enchantment, by William R. Leigh [Simon & Schuster, $3], an artist's adventures in Africa with the late Carl Akeley. Vivid writing combined with splendid illustrations and maps.

The Rolling World, by Richard Hallet [Houghton Mifflin, $3]; a well written autobiography of a globe wanderer, packed with adventurous incidents.

In Search of Soviet Gold, by John D. Littlepage and Demaree Bess [Harcourt Brace, $2.75]; one of the best pictures of modern Russia so far written—by an American engineer who spent ten years mostly in Asia.

Castaway Boats, by Capt. Victor Slocum [Lee Furman, $3]; a well mapped and illustrated anthology of wrecks at sea.

Lower Class, by George Youell [Caxton, $2.50]; the humorous and entertaining autobiography of a poor English boy who achieved wealth in America.

Following is a recommended group of adventure novels published this year:

Midshipman Davy Jones, by Lieut. Raymond J. Toner [Albert Whitman & Co., $2.50]; an unusually entertaining story of adventure in the war of 1812, with authentic colored plates of uniforms, flags, and maps and black and white illustrations by the author. One of the best books of its kind.

Midshipman Lee, by Robb White III. [Little Brown, $2]; a rollicking story of life at Annapolis and on a modern battleship.

The Dead Go Overside, by Arthur D. Howden Smith [Greystone Press, $2.50]; an exciting story of an African slaver woven about a romance at sea.

Jungle River, by Howard Pease [Doubleday Doran, $2]; one of the best stories of adventure this well known thrill producer has written.

DAPHNE du MAURIER
REBECCA

Give... "The year's best story-telling"

America's leading best-seller, REBECCA is the book everyone's talking about. "Daphne du Maurier leaves me breathless."—Harry Hansen, N. Y. World Telegram. "She is one of the most entertaining writers of the century."—Sterling North, Chicago Daily News. "No seeker after a good story should be willing to miss REBECCA."—John Patton, N.Y. Herald Tribune BOOKS. With praise like that from the reviewers, you can be sure it's a grand story—everybody's novel. Don't miss it! 457 pages full of excitement and suspense.

Season Rich in Poetry and Music Books

BY RUSSELL MAC FALL.

The year's yield of books can say, with Walt Whitman, "I am large; I contain multitudes," so that selecting the best even from those that have come to one reviewer is not easy. Among poetry and books about music especially the variety is great and the quality excellent.

In Trial of a Judge [Random, $1.50], Stephen Spender has written a tragedy of high seriousness about a judge who is revolted by the Nazi excesses and himself pays for refusing to be the instrument of persecution. It belongs in the great tradition of English poetic drama.

Alike pervaded by the horror of a civilized man dreading a return to an age of barbarism is The Carnival, by Frederic Prokosch [Harpers, $2].

U. S. 1 [Covici-Friede, $2] achieves the impossible: In it Muriel Rukeyser makes stirring poetry of a congressional investigation into the silicosis deaths in West Virginia.

Ballads are a form which Marjorie Allen Seiffert has made her own. Several are included in The Name of Life [Scribners, $2], which glitters with its admirably wrought verses and its resolute stoicism. Testament of Love, by Audrey Wurdemann [Harpers, $2], is a sonnet sequence of happy and passionate married love. Her husband, Joseph Auslander, in the title poem of Riders at the Gate [Macmillan, $1.75] is concerned with the forces of hate and destruction now loose in the world.

Two established poets honored with collections during the year are Genevieve Taggart with Collected Poems [Harpers, $2.50], and Robinson Jeffers, whose Selected Poetry [Random, $3.50] has a foreword by Jeffers summarizing his life work. Robert P. Tristram Coffin makes use in Maine Ballads [Macmillan, $1.75] of the homely sayings and characters he knows in that region.

Among the experimenters, E. E. Cummings reappears with Collected Poems [Harcourt, $3] in which hard-boiled humor, brief and beautiful lyrics and barbaric maltreatment of the language revel side by side.

Ogden Nash we have, too, with I'm a Stranger Here Myself [Little Brown, $2] as rollicking, shrewdly critical and adventurous in rime as ever. His only rival as a cosmic jester, E. B. White, pokes fun at poets, dictators, the radio, and all the passing show in The Fox of Peapack and Other Poems [Harpers, $2].

Two great New England poets who wrote for all time are the subjects of notable biographies. Herman Hagedorn's memoir of Edward Arlington Robinson [Macmillan, $3] is fastidious in style, penetrating in understanding of a reticent and brooding personality.

This Was a Poet, a critical biography of Emily Dickinson, by George F. Whicher [Scribners, $3], attempts an honest study of her much discussed love affairs, and evaluates her poetry in terms of American literature and the life of her time.

Poetry and music are such sister arts that they share the interest in Daniel Gregory Mason's Music in My Time and Other Reminiscences [Macmillan, $5]. Mason was a friend of Robinson and his group, and of most of the great musicians of our time, as well as being a notable critic and composer in his own right.

Jean Sibelius, His Life and Personality, by Karl Ekman [Knopf, $3], is a rare glimps into the career of one of the most reticent geniuses of our time. Another titan of the art finds his rhapsodist in Toscanini and Great Music [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50] in which Lawrence Gilman explains the peculiar excellence of Toscanini's interpretation of a number of master works.

Of the same generation and distinction is Ignace Paderewski, whose Memoirs [Scribners, $3.75] as dictated to Mary Lawton, embrace his active musical life down to the world war. Another prominent pianist is the subject of My Husband Gabrilowitsch, by Clara Clemens [Harpers, $4].

Two internationalists of the world of song, Geraldine Farrar and Lotte Lehmann, appear with autobiographies steeped in the names and moods of the opera. Miss Farrar's book, Such Sweet Compulsion [Greystone, $3], flits from the Italian rôles which won her fame to the motion pictures in which she made a new career. Miss Lehmann describes the struggles which won her first rank as a Wagnerian singer in Midway in My Song [Bobbs Merrill, $3].

Year's Random Reading Brings Diversified List

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

A year's indiscriminate reading, following no particular field, turns up a wide variety of published work. The following selections are from the best of the crop:

Long Haul, by A. I. Bezzerides. [Carrick & Evans, $2]. From his own bitter experience, the author has churned a vital, brutal, thought provoking book, centered around the men who try to make a living as wild cat truckers on the west coast. One of the most absorbing first novels of recent years.

End of Cornwall, by Richard Preston. [Vanguard, $2.50.] Cornwall is more than a picturesque end of England. It has small towns, ugly and haggard, with strangely warped inhabitants. This is the setting for Preston's story, disturbingly realistic, beautiful, and cruel, but not one for the squeamish reader.

Storevik, by Gosta af Geijerstam. [Dutton, $2]. Family life on a Norwegian island may sound a bit grim, but far from it. This idyllic tale has great charm and humor; even more, it is an absorbing projection of interesting people.

The Woman Who Could Not Die, by Iulia de Beausobre. [Viking, $2.50]. The author's poignantly moving tragedy of her imprisonment in Moscow is one of the greatest studies of personality behind bars. Factually, the book is fascinating. As a revelation of character, it is superb.

Goya, the Rebellious Genius, by Marion Chapman. [Egmont, $2.50]. Spain's great eighteenth century painter comes alive in all the flamboyant colors of his brush. A biographical novel, this work is lusty, gusty, and zestful; scholarly and just. An excellent Christmas gift for any intelligent adult.

Woman on Horseback, by William E. Barrett. [Stokes, $3]. For the lover of biography there could be no better reading than the life of Francisco Lopez, Paraguayan dictator, and his mistress, Eliza Lynch, the Irish niece of an English vice admiral. Their lives were turbulent and fateful for an entire continent.

The Prospects of American Democracy, by George S. Counts. [John Day, $3]. Democracy, to Prof. Counts, is no anemic middle way between communism and Fascism, but a dynamic power, the only ideal worthy of America's best efforts.

Charles Laughton and His Wife; She Views Their Acting Careers

"Charles Laughton and I," by Elsa Lanchester. [Harcourt-Brace, $3.50.]

Charles Laughton may not be a hero to his valet, but to his wife, Elsa Lanchester, he is as fine an actor as the stage and screen audience believes he is. Miss Lanchester does not hesitate to poke fun at him. In life as well as in print, she adds.

In this biography of her husband—and, by necessity, her autobiography as well—Miss Lanchester tells of how important the theater has always been to both of them.

"Charles has never achieved a performance without some suffering," she writes, "but the procession of characters he has brought to life all have friendly faces now. We look back through rose colored spectacles."

Tales of Human Experience Top Nonfiction List

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Two of the most popular books in the United States today are records of human experience, unique in the living and unique in the writing. Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Listen! the Wind," and Admiral Byrd's "Alone" record experiences which no other human beings have had, sifted through their own individual minds.

Charles A. Lindbergh shared in the physical experience, the first crossing of the Atlantic by airplane from Africa to South America in 1933, which is the subject of "Listen! the Wind" [and he provides a foreword and maps]. However, in Mrs. Lindbergh's pages it is a woman we come to know, undaunted but unashamed to confess her fear, courageous but seeing and honestly admitting the terror of the night's blackness as well as its enveloping peace. With the utmost and most beautiful restraint of word and record, she has written a book which is a classic.

A classic, too, is Admiral Byrd's restrained record of his long, lonely vigil at Advance base in the Antarctic, when death almost closed its icy fingers upon him. Both books have the quality of intense reality and intense simplicity.

Those two books are small sections of adventurous autobiography which would make any year memorable in literary history.

American Biography

To many readers the life stories of real persons are infinitely more exciting than fiction. Some of the outstanding biographies of the year are:

Benjamin Franklin, by Carl Van Doren [Viking, $3.75]. With a fine serenity these unhurried but never verbose pages tell the rounded life story of a great man. The most popular American biography of the year.

Sailor on Horseback, by Irving Stone [Houghton-Mifflin, $3]. A full-blooded biography of Jack London which reads like a novel. Much of the book is in words directly from Jack London's writings.

Lafayette, by W. E. Woodward [Farrar & Rinehart, $3.50]. A popular life of one of America's most popular traditional figures, written from today's perspective.

Fanny Kemble, by Margaret Armstrong [Macmillan, $3]. A delicious and intriguing record of one of the world's great actresses, and of a woman whose life story has all of the ingredients of exciting fiction. Published in July, but unforgotten.

A Puritan in Babylon, by William Allen White [Macmillan, $3.50]. A compelling biography of Calvin Coolidge and also a record of flamboyant America of recent memory by one of the most honest observers of the American scene and one of the country's most brilliant editors.

Elihu Root, by Philip C. Jessup [Dodd-Mead, two volumes, $7.50]. A major biography of a major figure in American history during the first quarter of the century. So meticulously done as to be a source book, in many instances, in its own right.

Armour and His Times, by Harper Leech and John Charles Carroll [Appleton-Century, $3]. An interesting biography of a man of power and an intriguing biography of one industry and its interlocking financial affairs.

The Big Four, by Oscar Lewis [Knopf, $4.50]. The exciting and fantastic life stories of California's big four, Huntington, Stanford, Hopkins, and Crocker. An absorbing book.

J. B. Murphy, by Loyal Davis [Putnam, $3]. The vivid life story of a vivid medical personality.

Farewell, the Banner, by Frances Winwar [Doubleday-Doran, $3.50]. A period study of "three persons with one soul," the poets Coleridge and Wordsworth and Wordsworth's sister, Dorothy.

American Autobiography, Letters, and Memoirs

Letters of Henry Adams: 1892-1918, edited by Worthington C. Ford [Houghton-Mifflin, $4.50]. One of the most interesting collections of letters in American history, by one of the most interesting of Americans, author of the classic, "The Education of Henry Adams."

The Letters of Lincoln Steffens, edited by Ella Winter and Granville Hicks [Harcourt-Brace, two volumes, $10]. A companion to "The Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens" and of equal importance, revealing the America which he observed for half a century. With a memorandum by Carl Sandburg.

Margaret Sanger: An Autobiography [Norton, $3.50]. The life story of a woman who has led the American crusade for voluntary motherhood.

The Education of an American, by Mark Sullivan [Doubleday-Doran, $3.50]. The author of "Our Times" tells how a young man of the 1890s found his place in the world of affairs which he recorded as an outstanding journalist.

Fashion Is Spinach, by Elizabeth Hawes [Random, $2.75]. The entertaining reminiscences of a famous American fashion designer. Published in the spring, but not forgotten. Its title has become a part of the current American slanguage.

A Poet's Life, by Harriet Monroe [Macmillan, $5], and The World at My Shoulder, by Eunice Tietjens [Macmillan, $3]. Two autobiographies, published in the spring, but of such interest and of such permanent value to any one interested in the American poetic movement that they are not to be forgotten. They are by the former editor and assistant editor of Poetry magazine and record the exciting saga of American poetry during the last twenty years, as well as Chicago and its artistic personalities.

The Horse and Buggy Doctor, by Arthur E. Hertzler [Harpers, $2.75]. A fascinating book of reminiscences, often very amusing, of a country doctor during the last forty years.

I Swear by Apollo, by William E. Aughinbaugh [Farrar & Rinehart, $3]. Another doctor's autobiography, this one bursting with adventures, many in far places.

Millbrook, by Della T. Lutes [Little-Brown, $2.50]. Memories of a Michigan country town in the 1880s by the author of "Home Grown."

English Autobiography, Biography, and Memoirs

Life of Christ, by Hall Caine [Doubleday-Doran, $3.50]. Based on thirty years of research by a popular novelist and completed after his death. It details the time of Christ rather than a personality.

Queen Victoria's Daughters, by E. F. Benson [Appleton-Century, $3]. One of England's best known writers tells the amazing story of the five daughters of Queen Victoria, whose marriages involved them in momentous events in half of Europe.

Letters of the Prince Consort, edited by Dr. Kurt Jagow [Dutton, $5]. Throws new light on the husband of Queen Victoria. Includes his love letters and more than 100 other previously unknown letters from the Hohenzollern archives.

World of Action, by Valentine Williams [Houghton-Mifflin, $3.50]. The autobiography of a well known English writer whose experiences cover world history for the last twenty years.

Marlborough, Vol. VI., by Winston Churchill [Scribners, $2.75; set of six volumes, $16.50]. The concluding volume of a great biography.

Louis XIV., by Hilaire Belloc [Harpers, $3.75]. Relates the problems of the reign of the "Roi Soleil" to modern problems of government and kingship.

Heroes of Thought, by John Middleton Murry [Messner, $3.75]. Short biographies of twelve men who have freed the world of its mental shackles.

Thrice a Stranger, by Vera Brittain [Macmillan, $2.50]. Autobiographical and a judgment by the author of "Testament of Youth" of three trips which she has made to America.

The Summing Up, by W. Somerset Maugham [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50]. Published in the spring, but so important that it remains green. One of the best autobiographies of a writer ever written.

Foreign Biographies and Letters

Chateaubriand, by Andre Maurois [Harpers, $3.50]. France's most popular scholarly biographer reviews the life of a famous French literary man from the French point of view [French].

Leonardo da Vinci, by Antonina Vallentin [Viking, $3.75]. A fine, vibrant biography of one of the world's greatest geniuses—artist, inventor, scientist, searcher after truth in every field. [French.]

The Notebooks of Leonardo da Vinci, edited by Edward MacCurdy [Reynal & Hitchcock, two volumes, $15]. One of the most important publications of our day—a full English translation of the famous notebooks of the greatest man of the Renaissance. [Italian.]

This Is My Country, by Stoyan Christowe [Carrick & Evans, $2.75]. The sincere autobiographical account of his Americanization.

The Healing Knife, by George Sava [Harcourt-Brace, $2.50]. The almost incredible life story of a well known surgeon, born Russian, much traveled, now working in England, written under a pseudonym.

The Enigmatic Czar, by Maurice Paleologue [Harpers, $3.50]. The biography of Nicholas I. of Russia, truly enigmatic. [French.]

Napoleon, by Octave Aubry [Lippincott, $3.75]. Shows the will to power as the motivating force throughout his life. [French.]

Life Class, by Ludwig Bemelmans [Viking, $2.50]. Rollicking reminiscences of an intriguing personality [a fine illustrator now] when he worked as bus boy and waiter in a hotel.

King of the Beggars, by Sean O'Faolain [Viking, $3.50]. A biography of Dan O'Connell, Irish patriot.

My America, by Louis Adamic [Harpers, $3.75]. A penetrating autobiographical study by a naturalized Slovene, author of "The Native's Return." Published in the spring, but remembered.

History

Building the British Empire, by James Truslow Adams [Scribners, $3.50]. America's most popular historian-scholar writes a short epic of the British empire.

March to Quebec, by Kenneth Roberts [Doubleday-Doran, $4]. Compiles and annotates the journals of the members of Arnold's expedition. Source material for "Northwest Passage."

Trending into Maine, by Kenneth Roberts [Little-Brown, $4]. History, reminiscence, and observation mingled in a pleasant volume.

Adventures of America, by John Kouwenhoven [Harpers, $3.50]. A pictorial history of our country from just before the civil war to after the Spanish-American war, from the old Harpers Weekly.

The Anatomy of Revolution, by Crane Brinton [Nortion, $3]. A searching study of revolutions of the past by an associate professor of history at Harvard.

The Gateway to History, by Alan Nevins [Appleton, $4]. Tells how scholars in history approach their task and leads readers toward a better understanding of the science of history. Helpful.

Behold Our Land, by Russell Lord [Houghton-Mifflin, $3]. A history of America in terms of its soil.

March of the Iron Men, by Roger Burlingame [Scribners, $3.75]. The stirring story of how inventions have affected our culture.

Out of Revolution, by Eugene Rosenstock-Huessy [Morrow, $6]. The story of western man and his civilization, as alive and positive as Spengler's was decadent and negative.

They Wrote on Clay, by Edward Chiera [University of Chicago Press, $3]. Interesting data on ancient life from the Babylonian tablets.

The Pageant of Japanese History, by Marion May Dilts [Longmans, $3]. A very readable record of Japan's past.

Pursuit of Happiness, by Herbert Agar [Houghton-Mifflin, $3]. The story of the Democratic party in America.

Democracy in the Making, by Hugh Russell Fraser [Bobbs-Merrill, $3.50]. From 1834 to 1844, with special emphasis on John Tyler.

Sucker's Progress, by Herbert Asbury [Dodd-Mead, $3.50]. The history of gambling in America.

Current Affairs

America Now, edited by Harold Stearns [Scribners, $3]. Thirty-six eminent Americans inquire into our civilization and discuss it intriguingly

The Coming Struggle for Latin-America, by Carleton Beals [Lippincott, $3]. Makes plain the important hold which Germany, Italy, and Japan already have on South America.

While England Slept, by Winston S. Churchill [Putnam, $4]. A review of world affairs since 1932 by one of England's great statesmen, with particular attention to the implications and results of the rearmament of Germany.

The Windsor Tapestry, by Compton Mackenzie [Stokes, $2.75]. Takes up the cudgels officially for the duke of Windsor. By one of England's best novelists.

A New Birth of Freedom, by Nicholas Roosevelt [Scribners, $2.50]. Asks where we, as Americans, are going, where we came from, and what we can do about the present confusion.

Guns or Butter, by R. H. Bruce Lockhart [Little-Brown, $3]. "The British Agent" revisited Europe this year and offers an interesting and intimate view of affairs.

Travel

One of the most popular books of the year was that hilarious travel diary, With Malice Toward Some, by Margaret Halsey [Simon & Schuster, $2], in which an American professor's wife quips her way through England, Sweden, and France. Bruce Lockhart's book involves travel, of course, and so do "Listen! the Wind," and "Alone."

Some books primarily about places follow:

Out of Africa, by Isak Dinesen [Random, $2.75]. One of the loveliest books of the year and, although published in early spring, green in the memory.

Tell My Horse, by Zora Neale Hurston [Lippincott, $3]. A unique record of a woman's initiation into voodoo in Haiti and Jamaica.

Philadelphia Folks, by Cornelius Weygandt [Appleton-Century, $4]. A sixty year resident of the Quaker city brings its past and its present alive.

Through Lands of the Bible, by H. V. Morton [Dodd-Mead, $3]. From upper Egypt through Palestine to Bagdad and Babylon and ending at Rome at Eastertime.

Powder River, by Struthers Burt [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50]. The latest addition to the excellent Rivers of America series, with vivid pictures of life in the western cattle country.

Cecil Beaton's New York [Lippincott, $4]. Smart, sophisticated impressions of New York in the words, drawings, and photographs of a famous Londoner.

Science and Nature

Power, by Bertrand Russell [Norton, $3]. An epical and epochal book which may well influence the course of history.

Science for the Citizen, by Lancelot Hogben [Knopf, $5]. An exciting outline of science [not at all a primer] by the author of "Mathematics for the Million."

Triumph Over Pain, by René Fulop-Miller [Bobbs-Merrill, $3.50]. The fascinating history of anæsthesia.

Zaca Venture, by William Beebe [Harcourt-Brace, $3]. A scientific expedition in the Gulf of California made real and thrilling.

The Romance of Human Progress, by Arthur Stanley Riggs [Bobbs-Merrill, $5]. An informal, fascinating book about archæology.

The World Was My Garden, by David Fairchild [Scribners, $3.75]. The autobiography of a famous American plant explorer who has traveled in the remotest regions of the world in search of new foods for us.

Life in an Air Castle, by Frank M. Chapman [Appleton-Century, $3]. A famous naturalist describes the fascinating birds and beasts he met around his Canal Zone cabin.

Indian Cavalcade, by Clark Wissler [Sheridan, $3]. The autobiography of a great authority on the American Indian recording his anthropological adventures.

Wild Lone, by B. B. [Scribners, $3]. A memorable story of a red fox.

This Is Living, by Donald Culross Peattie and Gordon Aymar [Dodd-Mead, $4]. A beautiful book about nature and the living world with full page photographs in color by Mr. Aymar and text by Mr. Peattie, whose "Prairie Grove" [Simon & Schuster, $2.50], a nature record of an old grove just out of Chicago, is still remembered, although it was published in the spring.

Animal Neighbors of the Countryside, by Joseph Wharton Lippincott [Lippincott, $2.50]. A nice nature book about the creatures around us.

Belles Lettres and Essays

Philosopher's Holiday, by Irwin Edman [Viking, $2.75]. Although usually listed as an autobiography, really a series of delightful essays about everything on earth that interests the author.

Three Guineas, by Virginia Woolf [Harcourt-Brace, $2.50]. England's most brilliant woman writer attacks woman's economic subservience to man trenchantly and, at times, with rapierlike humor.

Can Women Be Gentlemen? by Gertrude Atherton [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.50]. Lively proposals of stimulating ideas in essays.

Variety, by Paul Valery [Harcourt-Brace, $2.50]. The second series of essays by a famous French academician.

Enjoyment of Literature, by John Cowper Powys [Simon & Schuster, $3.75]. Adventures among the masterpieces from Homer to Hardy.

The March of Literature, by Ford Madox Ford [Dial, $3.75]. Tells the fascinating story of the great literature of the world from Confucius to the present.

Short Story Has a Future After All, Recent Crop of Collections Indicates

BY MARCIA WINN.

The short story seems to have a future after all. This may seem overly optimistic, in view of some of the strange death rattles in the art of story telling in recent years, but several excellent collections have been published in the last few months.

The O. Henry Memorial Award Prize Stories of 1938, edited by Harry Hansen [Doubleday Doran, $2.50], is a collection of unusual vigor and power. Such stories as Albert Maltz's "The Happiest Man on Earth," which is the tale of a young man's desperation to get work; or Richard Wright's "Fire Cloud," the steelcut story of a Negro minister and his hungry flock, or John Steinbeck's rarely beautiful "The Promise" are not easily forgotten.

* * *

That bright young problem child of the short story, William Saroyan [who tails the O. Henry collection], is with us again, giving intimate glimpses of Mr. Saroyan and his strange, self distressing mind in The Trouble with Tigers [Harcourt Brace, $2.50]. Many of the stories in the collection are based on Hollywood, where Mr. Saroyan has been sojourning for the past year or so. If you like Saroyan, you'll like his new book. To me it seems like all his other books. Of course he CAN write.

For sheer power, no American writer can touch I. J. Singer with his stories of the chaotic world of Polish Jewry in The River Breaks Up [Knopf, $2.50]. This fascinating collection is heady with color and character.

Sally Benson's Emily [Covici Friede, $2] is a scintillating group of short stories about women, written with a pen so knowing as to seem cruelly poisonous.

The Cleft Stick, by Walter Greenwood [Stokes, $2.50], is a somber group of stories about British working people on the dole. If not heavily undershot with gusty humor, it would be depressing. All, however, are excellently done. So are the Arthur Wragg woodcut illustrations.

* * *

Short stories have not been this writer's only reading this year. Three other books remain green in the memory.

England's Years of Danger, by Paul Frischauer [Oxford, $2.75], is a graphic account of the years when Napoleon threatened the peace of Europe. The book is made vivid and dramatic by the use of excerpts from documents, memoirs, and letters of the era.

The Enigmatic Czar, by Maurice Paléologue [Harpers, $3.50], is a colorful biography of Alexander I. of Russia, that strange, sensual mystic who outwitted Napoleon and twice rode into Paris in triumph.

Many driblets of sound wisdom, given in nonsensical patter, for the girl going to New York—or any big city—to look for work and glamor, will be found in Listen Little Girl—Before You Come to New York, by Munro Leaf [Stokes, $1.50].

Read this Unusual Story!
PETER CRABTREE
A Tale of Two Continents
by Oscar R Zipf

Peter hated war, and our entry into it. Yet he went. He, with other American soldiers, took part in the Archangel Adventure in North Russia and fought for months after the Armistice. The secret purpose was to obtain control of the Trans-Siberian Railroad. The greatest hush-hush war in history.

The purpose? Was it not to set up a puppet government in Russia and Siberia to be dominated by England and France? To nearly every reader that will come as a startling revelation. A fascinating story of the insane processes leading to mass murder, interwoven with a love story unfamiliar to fiction.

Comments:

IDA M. TARBELL: ". . . The following of Peter's mental and spiritual struggles through the period before we went into the war, while we were in it, and after the end thoroughly interests me. . . . I am glad to have had the opportunity to read the book."

HOMER CUMMINGS, Attorney General, U. S.: "It is a story of absorbing interest and the theme has been handled admirably."

LLEWELLYN JONES, author and reviewer: "The author is no pacifist, but a student of the hidden causes of war. . . . An exciting piece of fiction."

COL. FRANK O. LOWDEN, Governor of Illinois during the war: ". . . extremely interesting. A good story, told clearly and effectively."

E. R. SHAW, Chief Justice of Supreme Court of Illinois, letter dated Nov. 30, 1938. "Research put into this volume is apparently enormous . . . do not see how you could have accumulated and co-ordinated so much accurate information on such widely separated points . . . you have succeeded in weaving a very touching love story into a tremendous indictment of war as an instrumentality of international relations."

DANIEL C. ROPER, Secretary of Commerce, U. S.: ". . . a real service in the data presented . . . enticing, informative, and impressive. . . . Something to reflect upon for the present and future."

THE ILLINOIS BAR JOURNAL, Nov., 1938, closes a long review with: "It is to be hoped that this story will be as widely and intelligently read as it justly deserves."

2D "WIFE" LOSES FIGHT TO SHARE BRAINARD ESTATE

Not Legally Married, Court Officer Finds.

Mrs. Laura Farthing Brainard could not remember the color of the uniforms the bell boys wore in the hotel at which she said she began her honeymoon. She said there were twin beds in the hotel room. Hotel records showed the hotel had no twin beds.

These were among the major reasons given yesterday by John Sbarbaro, Circuit court master in chancery, when he recommended that her children receive no share in Charles H. Brainard's $100,000 estate. The master recommended that Mrs. Gertrude Gullickson Brainard and six brothers and sisters of Brainard be recognized as his heirs.

Learns of Other Wife.

Brainard was a construction engineer living at 605 North Ashland avenue, River Forest. After he was killed in a mine accident in 1937 Mrs. Laura Brainard, who lived with him at the River Forest home, claimed one-third of the home for each of her two children.

She said she married Brainard in 1929 and that it was not until five years later that she discovered he had another wife—Mrs. Gertrude Brainard, who lives at 428 Rex avenue, Elmhurst.

Mrs. Laura Brainard said she went to see Mrs. Gertrude Brainard and later called on her several times with Brainard. Laura called Gertrude "Gertie."

Mrs. Laura Brainard said she continued to live with Brainard because of the two children she said she bore him—Charlotte, now 7 years old, and Patricia, now 6.

Contests Claim of Laura.

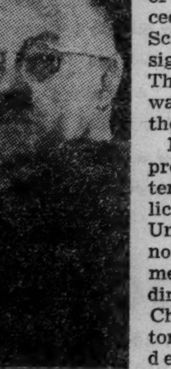
Mrs. Gertrude Brainard, who had been declared incompetent, contested the claim that Laura made for her children. Gertrude was joined by her husband's brothers and sisters. Although the legal battle concerned only the River Forest home, in which Laura still lives, it was understood that the decision would apply to the entire estate.

Mrs. Laura Brainard testified that she had been married by a justice of the peace in St. Charles township, Kane county, and that they spent the first night of their honeymoon at the Baker hotel in St. Charles.

Master Sbarbaro commented that all the justices then in office in the township had denied performing the marriage and that no license was ever produced. That and Mrs. Brainard's lack of familiarity with the hotel, he said, convinced him that she never was married to Brainard. Brainard's name was not on the hotel register.

DR. LLOYD ARNOLD IS APPOINTED TO BOARD OF HEALTH

Mayor Kelly yesterday appointed Dr. Lloyd Arnold as a member of the Chicago board of health to succeed Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, who resigned Thursday. The appointment was confirmed by the city council.



Dr. Lloyd Arnold.

Dr. Arnold is professor of bacteriology and public health at the University of Illinois college of medicine and is director of the Chicago laboratory of the state department of public health. He lives at 5844 Stony Island avenue.

Dr. Schmidt's duties as secretary of the city board of health will be taken over by Dr. Francis A. Dulak, a member of the board since 1934. Dr. Schmidt is secretary of the mayor's syphilis control committee.

Investigate $25,000 Fire in Furniture Warehouse

Earl Downs, assistant corporation counsel, yesterday was investigating a fire earlier in the day which caused $25,000 damage to a warehouse of the American Furniture company on the second and third floors of a three-story building at 642-44 East 47th street. Downs said there had been several suspicious fires in the vicinity recently, including one Wednesday which destroyed a wing of the Colman elementary school, 4655 South Dearborn street.

Santa Busy? Take a Look at Harried Postal Workers

Santa Claus may be a busy fellow these days, but postal employés will tell you he has a snap. They insist they're the ones who are busy. And maybe they're right. In the post-office yesterday were mountains of mail, incoming and outgoing. And, said employés, the worst is yet to come. The worst is the last minute mail. Officials reiterated their plea that Christmas gifts be mailed early.

MRS. CYNTHIA RICHARDS DE ZAVADOW.

Mrs. Cynthia Richards de Zavadow was 17 years old when she met Vladimir de Zavadow on a visit to France. She could not speak his native Russian. He knew no English. But within six weeks they were engaged. She returned to Chicago and studied languages at the Starrett School for Girls. A year later, in 1935, she married De Zavadow at Monte Carlo. He was known as a Russian nobleman and a son of a former admiral of the Russian navy.

Yesterday Mrs. de Zavadow divorced him in Judge Philip J. Finnegan's court. She said her husband deserted her and their infant son at Cannes last year when she objected to his bringing a Miss Valentine to their home. Her attorney, John J. Yowell, said De Zavadow is living in Europe. Mrs. de Zavadow is living at 6633 Merrill avenue.

7,300 PROTEST 1938 PERSONALTY ASSESSMENTS

A total of 7,300 complaints were filed against the 1938 Cook county personal property assessments, Emmett Whealan and Paul Drymalski, members of the board of appeals, announced yesterday. The deadline for filing complaints for the last township—New Trier—was yesterday. The complaints numbered less than half those filed for 1937. The board will finish hearing the 1938 complaints by the middle of January.

If your taste is for dryer drinks

As America's first gin distiller, we cater to the American taste for dry drinks.

Fleischmann's is not a liqueur type gin.

It is extra dry—not sweet.

That's one reason why it blends so beautifully with vermouth and fruit juices.

Another plus in its favor is the quality of the spirits that go into Fleischmann's Gin. Every drop is Fleischmann-distilled from grain to bottle.

Try it in your home. Call for it at restaurants.

YOUR PENNIES, KIDS, WILL MAKE SOME ONE HAPPY

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Thanks, kids, for your support of the Junior Good Fellow movement which was started several days ago. We believe that this can be a grand organization and that it will be not only an inspiration to the older Mr. Goodfellows, but also will enable you to take care of scores of unfortunate families at Christmas time with baskets of food, toys, and candy.

Nancy Rose Zeller.

One of the most enthusiastic juniors is Chris Augle, 14 years old, who attends Tilden Technical High school and is a member of the Valentine unit, 720 West 35th street, of the Chicago Boys' club.

Irving Rudolph, executive of the general Chicago Boys' club organization, has appointed the following unit Junior Good Fellow leaders: Young Augle and Billy Bills of Valentine unit, Leonard Lopez and Stanley Morello of Old Town, Donald Will of Lawndale, James Vivalich and Gus Papas of Ogden Hill, Charles Swanson and Eugene Theard of Woodlawn, Emil Warda and John Osborne of Sheffield, and Richard Toblasky and Harold Crouse of Lincoln.

Little Nancy Rose Zeller, 5 years old, who can sing "Stop Beating Around the Mulberry Bush" and do the Lambeth walk at the same time, has joined the Junior Good Fellows. She's going to earn money for her basket by singing on Monday, Dec. 19, at the University school primary department Christmas party program. It will be given at 1:30 p. m. at 1106 Lake Shore drive.

Ex-Mayor of Idaho Town Found Guilty of Murder

Twin Falls, Idaho, Dec. 10 [Saturday].—(AP)—A jury of twelve men early today found Duncan M. Johnston, former Twin Falls mayor, guilty of first degree murder. The jury recommended life imprisonment. Johnston was accused of killing George L. Olson, Salt Lake City jewelry salesman.

STATE STREET SHOPS STAYING OPEN LATE FOR YULE SHOPPERS

Beginning tonight, and continuing through Christmas, shopping hours will be extended on State street to meet the rush of Yuletide shoppers. Many trading centers in metropolitan areas extended their hours last week for the convenience of their evening customers, and the rest have announced Thursday, Dec. 15 for the beginning of night shopping.

At dusk today, the enormous lamp post wreaths in State street will be turned on to glow brightly red and green, lighting the way for crowds expected to invade the Loop. For the first time, the Loop's department stores, women's wear shops, men's furnishing stores, shoe stores and variety shops will open simultaneously for late shoppers. Nearly all stores will remain open until 9 p. m.

Though it is too early to hazard a comparison between the holiday business of last year and this, members of the State street council yesterday expressed gratification at the early turnover on their shelves. Many reported large volumes of sales requiring early reorders of toys and household articles.

Hides $675; Bandits Find it Without Any Trouble

Boris Angeloff got $675 from the bank to cash pay checks yesterday and took it to his tavern at 204 South Halsted street. He put the money in a box behind the bar. Five minutes later four bandits came in, and, without asking where the money was, went to the box and took it.

CHAMPION SANTA RETAINS LEAD IN LOOP YULE DRIVE

Among the 25 Santa Clauses who go to work every morning to stand by their chimneys and receive donations for Christmas dinners for the poor, loop crowds are recognizing some old friends. Among them is Charles Young, 67 years old, short and plump and jovial, recognized for his smile and his merry blue eyes. He was top man last year and is ahead so far this year in amount of funds collected. The Christmas baskets are being provided by the Volunteers of America, who for 43 years have fed the needy of Chicago Christmas dinners.

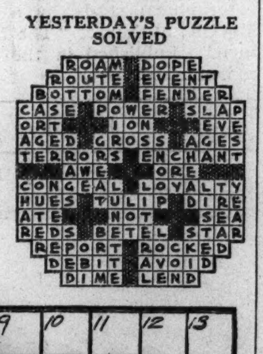
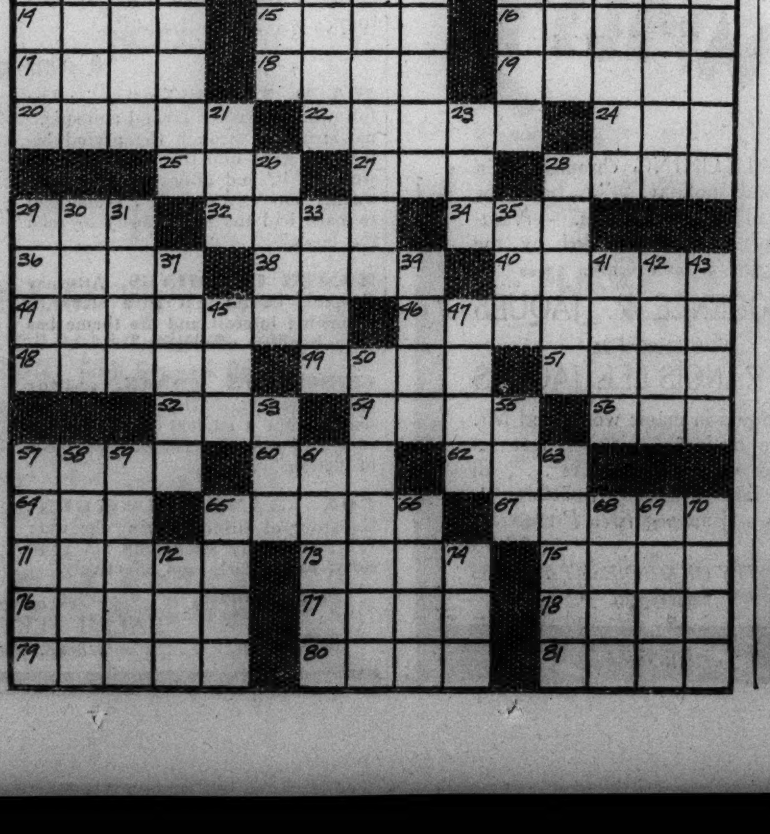
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





What is this thing called SWING?

Shades of Beethoven, Brahms and Bach—what is this riotous, racketous, nigh irrepressible rage called SWING?

Old gin in new bottles is Edward Barry's term for it—a weird yet powerful, jungle-like stimulant causing jitterbugs to climb trees, whoop and holler and otherwise throw evolution into reverse.

In the Color Graphic section of tomorrow's Chicago Sunday Tribune, the Tribune music editor will tell what swing is, how it started, how it works and why it affects listeners the way it does. Whether you like swing or not, Edward Barry's article in tomorrow's Color Graphic will tell why it cannot be ignored. Be sure to read it.

John Trumbull's historic paintings of "The Surrender of Lord Cornwallis" and "The Surrender of Lord Burgoyne" will be reproduced in full color in the Roto Picture section of tomorrow's Chicago Sunday Tribune. John A. Menaugh will highlight these great American victories in his story about them in tomorrow's Color Graphic.

Mary Meade's SNOW CAKE

Mary Meade's famous Christmas snow cake will play a return engagement tomorrow in the Color Graphic section. Here is your chance to get the recipe which thousands of women wrote in for last year. You'll find it on page 10.

Morning Exercise.

Every week morning a chauffeur driven car stops on the inner drive just north of North avenue and three distinguished looking gentlemen step out and take a brisk walk in the park. Then they return to the limousine and depart, presumably for their respective offices.

Trick precious gadget—a pin with a gold heart locket imposed on a question mark of diamonds. The heart is a locket upon which the profiles of the giver and recipient are to be etched. . . . John Becker and Leonard D. Weil, both of Chicago, authored the comedy, If You Get It, Do You Want It? which the Brattleboro theater is now producing in its permanent civic theater in Brooklyn. It's a satire on buyers and dealers of modern art. Becker, son of Benjamin V. Becker, ought to know the inside, for he ran an art gallery in New York, specializing in the work of modern artists. . . . A well known real estate broker in the Palmolive building was offering to bet any one at the luncheon table a dollar that he has given up all forms of gambling for all time. . . . The Pied Piper of the police force, the tall, handsome trafic cop who sings in a melodious tenor voice as he pilots the school kids across State and Division streets every morning. . . . Strangest combination of the day: Wallace Beery, Ina Ray Hutton, enfolded in a mink coat, Yacht Club Boy Charles Adler, and former Senator Jim Watson of Indiana in a huddle in the Congress lobby.

Sketchbook of Swing.

George Von Physter's sketchbook from the lives of swing musicians is finally out. It's called Destiny and Von Physter, who played with some of the famous old bands, such as Goldkette's and Neibur's, knows his background. The book is a collection of sketches, each with an explanatory page, and an introduction by Carl Cons. . . . ". . . for swing music is like painting or sculpture, but instead of the brush and palette it's the valve and mouthpiece. And instead of starving in a garret one goes hungry in a small gin joint or an old hotel bedroom. It's Lust for Life through the bell of a horn."

Kids of All Ages at Opera House for a Fairy Tale

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A burning passion for music and the belief that an opera house is a less objectionable place than a classroom drove hordes of children downtown yesterday afternoon for the Chicago City Opera company's annual mounting of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel." Authentic children did not entirely account for the crowd which comfortably filled the Civic Opera house, for hundreds of us who are now enjoying our second or third childhood followed the classical story as eagerly as our juniors.

The tale of the boy and girl who were lost in the wood, who encountered a witch whose principal failing was a fondness for well cooked children, and who outwitted this witch and cooked her instead, was enchantingly enacted by a cast composed of four of the opera company's gifted starlets and three of its most reliable veterans.

Elizabeth Brown as Hansel made herself over into a sunny and rollicking little boy. The part of Gretel went to Louisa Hoe, who became as elfin looking a child as ever pushed a witch into an oven.

The rich, round Brown contralto and the finely textured Hoe soprano blended gloriously in the prayer. And the piece boasted much more than mere loveliness of tone. Its majestic melody had an eloquence and a flexibility for which Conductor Leo Kopp must take one-third of the credit. This melody, by the way, was not borrowed by Humperdinck from the theme music of the Sunday night symphonic hour. Exactly the opposite is the case.

Margery Mayer made a vibrantly voiced Sandman. Helen Margolyne, the Dewman, became a vocal and physical embodiment of morning cheeriness and hope.

Mark Love, as the children's kindly father, sang his bluff first act music with a confident, virile swing. The only male in the cast, he upheld successfully throughout the afternoon the honor of the weaker sex. May Barron enacted the sorrowful, eloquent mother; Sonia Sharnova the likable, though lamentably bloodthirsty witch.

The brilliant Hollywood staircase scene in the second act delighted the audience with its brightness and disappointed only those children who have come to believe that an effect like this always heralds a pas de deux by Ginger and Fred.

In the evening the company repeated Puccini's lavish "Turandot," with Armand Tokatyan instead of Galliano Masini taking the part of Calaf. Mr. Tokatyan sang his frightfully difficult second act music with sonority and huge dramatic power.

The presence of Richard Schreiber as a finely voiced mandarin in "Turandot" raised to three the number of Chicagoland Music Festival veterans taking part in a single day's operas. Louisa Hoe and Margery Mayer also have received honors in this contest.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A reader writes that she's been watching our column carefully for dope on the alleviation of irritation after the bath these chill days. We thought we'd done that subject up brown, but maybe not.

She wants a preparation to use after her bath or shower, one that won't leave the skin sticky; that won't make her clothing messy, and that will relieve the excessive dryness that is uncomfortable and unattractive.

In the last few years the beauty houses have made several contributions to the comfort of those women.

Outstanding among these creams and oils and lotions is a preparation called an after-the-bath oil. But it is not oily. It is a milky white liquid cream that can be massaged in quickly and that is dried completely in just a few moments. It doesn't film the skin, nor leave it the least bit greasy. But its soothing and softening properties are simply astonishing.

We know several mothers who use it consistently for their babies and we have never yet suggested it to any man or woman without being thanked for an excellent tip.

We have found, on our own experiments, that it serves as a darned good hand lotion, too. It keeps the skin soft, but if chapping has already sneaked up on you it is an efficient corrective.

This is among the least expensive of all the bath preparations of its kind. It is just one item in a complete line of preparations designed especially for the alleviation and beautification of dry skin.

Gala Concert Tomorrow to Benefit Opera

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Civic Opera house will be the destination of many friends of opera tomorrow night for a gala benefit concert for the Chicago City Opera company. As an old and sincere friend of opera, it is disagreeable to write of a benefit for the opera company. Benefits for charities are something else; they are splendid and worthwhile, but opera should not be included in this category.

The public does not support opera in Chicago in such a way that it would need no benefits. Jason F. Whitney, president of the company, says that opera would be self-supporting if every performance were eighty-five per cent sold. No Chicago company ever has had a chance to prove that full houses all during the season would leave no deficit. Chicagoans never have been opera minded enough to make the S. R. O. sign a necessity more than a few times each year.

Fourteen Stars, Ballet Will Give Performance.

Fourteen of the opera stars and the Littlefield Ballet are giving their services to make tomorrow night's concert a memorable one. Elen Dosia, Annunciata Garrotto, Helen Jepson, Margery Mayer, Constance Merrell, Hilde Reggiani, Eva Turner, Virginia Wallace, André Burdino, George Czaplicki, Jean Fardulli, Carlo Morelli, James Melton, and Armand Tokatyan will be the singers, with Dino Bigalli, Angelo Canarutto, and Leo Kopp as conductors. The ballet will present the Dance of the Hours from "La Gioconda."

Mme. Dosia and her husband, M. Burdino, will sing in "Romeo and Juliet" this afternoon and on Monday night they will repeat their performance of "Manon." Miss Jepson is singing one of her best parts, Violetta in "Traviata" tonight.

Tomorrow's breakfast party at The Tavern will be in honor of the opera company. Mme. Dosia, M. Burdino, Mme. Turner, Mme. Garrotto, Mr. Melton, Mr. Kopp, and Louis Hasselmans will be the special guests.

Several Parties for Debutantes.

Several parties have been planned for the debutantes this week-end. Mrs. Cyrus Hall Adams will entertain for Miss Margaret Hutchins this evening at a small dinner dance at the Drake hotel.

Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Edward DeWitt Shumway are entertaining for Miss Hutchins and Miss Mary Ryerson at a supper and hocky party. Mr. and Mrs. Shumway will take their young guests to supper at the Casino before going to the game.

Another hocky and supper party planned is one that Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley and Mr. and Mrs. William M. Spencer are giving tomorrow night for Miss Jane Zimmerman. Today Mrs. John A. Spoor is giving a luncheon for Miss Sally Perry at the Casino.

Mrs. Harry H. Barnum and her daughter, Mrs. Clement Haile, are entertaining at cocktails this afternoon in the former's Winnetka home for Debutante Helen Chancellor.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Kurtz are giving a dinner and theater party tonight for Miss Miriam Bartlett, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bartlett of Winnetka. "I'd Rather Be Right" is the show the young people will see.

Wayne Hunt Holds Annual Ball Tonight

The Wayne hunt's annual ball will be held tonight at the Dunham Woods Riding club with pink coats and formal attire much in evidence. About 150 will have dinner in the clubhouse and then adjourn to the coach house for dancing.

Among those who are giving dinner parties are Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III., wife of the M. F. H.; the Raymond O. Mitchells, Eugene Buffington, Howard Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Davis, Arthur Farwell, Mr.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Recollect "The King of Alcatraz" in which Gail Patrick performs a surgical operation at sea? . . . Practically the same situation is used for the big punch in "The Storm."

It is a tale of the Seven Seas in which tough hombres are very tough, a coward is a coward of deepest dye and the heroine, a steamship nurse, comes through brilliantly when an operation at sea is called for and no doctor is present to perform the deed.

As you know, all of the he men cataloged in the cast—Bickford, MacLane, Foster, Sawyer—are smooth as well as virile actors. They justify their reputations in this film. Messrs. Bickford, Foster, and Sawyer are ship radio operators. Mr. MacLane is a "yellow" captain. . . .

Tom Brown, one of your pet juveniles, does a neat job as Bob Roberts' adoring brother. Nan Grey is clever as the pretty nurse he falls in love with.

The storm at sea, during which Peggy performs her gallant deed, is a wild one and scenes attending the operation—superintended through radio by a surgeon on land—are fairly suspenseful. Among other melodramatic incidents are another storm and the sinking of a blazing ship with all hands aboard.

The piece sports some comedy.

It is lutsy, unsubtle fare.

See you tomorrow.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Mary Graham Kervey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Cabeen of Galesburg, Ill., to Chester C. Schuetz, son of Mrs. A. R. Alrich of Chicago, will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the rectory of Holy Name cathedral. After a wedding trip in the south Mr. Schuetz and his bride will be at home in Indianapolis.

The bride attended Stephens college at Columbia, Mo., and was graduated from the University of Illinois. Mr. Schuetz was graduated from the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis.

New Nightgown in Silk Jersey Is a Smart Buy

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Career girl finds for Christmas include the new thin-as-a-wisp jersey silk nightgowns way under the five dollar mark. If these aren't super something, we've lost our cunning. Three flattering colors are pink, the pink of a candy stick; a luscious shade of aquamarine, for the smooth blonde with blue eyes, and a slinky black.

The three colors are matched by three models, one a ruched around the top bodice style with string thin straps; the second a demure square cut neckline with short puffed sleeves gathered into a narrow band and a gathered skirt; the third is one with a sophisticated Grecian shirred top.

Nothing dull or too sternly practical about these winners, except the good news they'll tub, not demand a pressing session. Slick for the travelers on your list, the jersey is all silk and thin as a mist of color. These star attractions are soft, clinging, and streamlined in the modern manner.

With the money you save on these siren creations in jersey you can snag a good looking robe to complete the outfit. Pencil striped woolly looking stuff is enough like bagheera to fool an expert. The sleeves are short and the streamline smooth, a trick achieved with some pretty fancy cutting of the striped material in diagonal lines. At the waistline on either side are bows of red ribbon. The inevitable concealed zipper is in the front. You'll find black and navy with the chalk stripe lines about an inch apart. The price will please you.

Other robes, also mercifully tagged for a skimpy budget, are the printed cottons that are quilted with all the swank of a sleek satin model and the nunlike robes of soft thin flannel. These are well tailored and generously pocketed; some have wide skirts and some have gored silhouettes. They're tops for any chilly morning and the best bargains of the season.

Dance Authority Describes Exercises to Build Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

You can put the best gas and oil into your automobile but, if the motor is not properly adjusted, you will have engine trouble. "The same thing," says the Marquis de Revuelta, a leading authority on dancing and body training, "is true of the human body. You may eat the most nourishing foods, but unless you learn to control and coördinate your muscles which stimulate the digestion, the food will not be properly assimilated and will go either into flabby fat or waste material which does not feed the tissues and leaves you very thin.

"If you are among those who wish to reduce," says De Revuelta, "the following is an excellent exercise: Bring the feet together and support yourself with one hand so that you will have balance control. Now place a piece of paper between the legs about six inches above the knee. The trick is to hold this paper in place, because to do so you must press hard with the inside muscles of the legs. As you press you will feel your abdominal and posterior muscles flatten. Now rise on the balls of your feet, not relaxing these muscles, then lower heels to the floor, counting 1, 2, 1, 2, etc. Repeat this exercise every morning and you will be amazed at the flattening of your abdomen and the narrowing of the hips.

"If you are painfully thin: Spread your feet to about 45 degrees. Shift your weight from one leg to the other, forcing the whole weight to the outer side [and muscles] of the leg. As you shift your weight, roll the hips in a circular motion. To learn how to roll the hips: As you shift the weight to the left foot, you will find that the right comes slightly off the floor. With the weight held firmly on the left, move the hips slightly to the left, then forward, then to the right, and the weight will shift to the right foot. The motion of the hips now goes back and to the left where the weight falls on the left foot and you have completed the circle. At first you will feet awkward, but shortly you will find that you do it easily with a smooth rotation of the hips. At the same time you can have the satisfaction of knowing that you are mastering the fundamental movement of the rumba. You have only to modify the movements to have the ballroom version."

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

New Year Resolutions.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 9.—Know all men by these presents that these are the 1939 resolutions which Hollywood will make or should make with 1939 just around the corner. How long these resolutions will endure deponent knoweth not.

Hedy Lamarr: Nearly every foreign star who has come to the American screen has become so dopey and daffy and affected that they have lost all contact with the American public. So I will continue to be as human and natural as I am today, remembering that the bigger they are the nicer they are. Today the people of Hollywood like me. I'll never win "billing" more impressive than that.

Edward Arnold: Seeing what good fortune has come to me in the last twelvemonth, I will never again permit the movies to crucify me by starring me. I do not care who plays the cinema's starring rôles, so long as I have a fat part in their support.

Margaret Sullavan: I will stop acting affected and recapture the sincerity which I possessed on the Broadway stage. Never again will I tell the M.-G.-M. publicity men that I don't care what the newspaper critics say about me, "as I rarely read what is written." That sort of affectation will pass with the old year.

Any movie magnate: This year I will give some youngster a break in my next picture, realizing that the kids need a helping hand. In my next picture I will put some veterans to work, realizing as Jimmy Walker phrased it so gently: "The cheers of yesterday have such a short echo."

Alice Brady: I will dedicate myself this year to getting a dramatic rôle such as I played in "In Old Chicago" and forsake the nitwit comedienne rôles that have made audiences forget I once starred in "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Dorothy Lamour: I will smite Paramount hip and thigh if they suggest that I lend my shapely self to another "Tropic Holiday."

Joan Crawford: I will kiss and make up with Franchot Tone and we will live happily ever after, as the story books have it.

Nelson Eddy: I will stop feeling that the newspaper men are solidly against me, right or wrong. I will meet them with an open mind and be as critical of my own behavior as I am of their behavior.

Paulette Goddard: I will continue to study hard with Samuel Kayzer, knowing full well that the art of acting is not bequeathed to the indolent or the careless.

Jimmy Stewart: I will learn to pace my delivery, retaining the charm of deliberation, but also getting a change of pace that will benefit my slow address and relieve it of monotony.

John Barrymore: In 1938 I had one of the biggest years, because I listened to Elaine, who has my best interests at heart. So in 1939 I'll do likewise, abjuring the wassail bowl and kindred fleshy diversions that are not good for man or beast.

Edgar Bergen: Knowing the struggles I went through, I'll go out of my way to help other youngsters, who may be just as discouraged at this stage of the game as I was a year ago.

Katharine Hepburn: Though the temptation be severe, I shall keep my thoughts to myself instead of popping off.

Any movie star: I'll send as many words to my mother, this year, as I send to the publicity department.

Mickey Rooney: I have done things that were a trifle slap-happy this last year, and offended a lot of people who sincerely wished me well. This year I will act my age and be a thoroughly nice kid. In other words, I will do all my acting on the screen.

John Garfield [or any youngster]: I will watch intently the things that Paul Muni does NOT do in this next picture, because some critics have said that I overacted in my first flicker. I will pay more attention to these critics than those back slappers who do not know a great deal about acting and can therefore harm me.

Joan Bennett: Possessing beauty, I will this year work to develop a voice that expresses it, conscious that my present voice lacks the warmth and expression which it should have, and can have with a little work.

Norma Shearer: I will stop fretting too much over what I think people are saying, content in the knowledge that only what I do on the screen is important to the movie fans.

Any Hollywood director: I will leave all the acting to the actors on the set.

Any Hollywood columnist: I will not tear a performer to pieces for the sake of a "smart" line; I will substitute gentleness for ridicule, a word of encouragement for an unthinking blast: I will remember, through 1939, that the power of the press is an obligation as well as a boast.

Her Second Choice

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright, 1938. By Elizabeth York Miller.]

SYNOPSIS.

Nora Stacy refuses to follow the advice of her aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Callender, and encourage Bob Matherson, rich young bachelor, recent owner of Fairways, an estate near to the modest English cottage where Nora lives with her aunt until Nora's fiancé, irresponsible Jim Murdock, whose family live next door, writes from Calcutta breaking the engagement. Heartbroken Nora writes Jim that she'll marry the first man who asks her. She hears Jim is returning home for Christmas, with a wife. At a dinner party at his home Bob takes Nora up to his Tower room and proposes. Nora agrees to marry him before Christmas—in spite of designing Mrs. Pearl Almy, who has rented a cottage on Bob's estate. Three days before the wedding Jim returns, without a wife, and demands that Nora run away with him. Mrs. Almy interrupts their meeting. Nora feels she is morally pledged to Bob, who has settled an income on her aunt. Bob has to be in town for two days before the wedding. Mrs. Almy asks him to call before he leaves. She tells him of seeing Jim and Nora in each other's arms. Jim delivers a wedding present for Nora—a package of her love letters to him. But he keeps back the one in which Nora vowed to marry the next man who asked her. Mrs. Almy gets hold of it and sends it to Bob on his wedding morning. To prevent Jim making a scene at the wedding Bob invites him to be an usher, planning to leave him in the Tower room with a doctored bottle of whisky. Jim revives enough to make a scene at the reception.

INSTALMENT XII.

A STRANGE HONEYMOON.

They drove off in the car which was suitably decorated with a bouquet of old slippers obscuring the number plate, and spent most of the journey up to London brushing off confetti.

"I'm glad I don't make a habit of getting married," Bob said, when they stopped the car and got the chauffeur to help them.

They left the festoon of slippers in a hedge and Bob asked the chauffeur if he would mind discarding his ornate white buttonhole.

"I don't want to drive up to Florian's looking like a circus," he said.

He was irritated and at the same time annoyed with himself for feeling that way, principally because his little scheme for putting Jim Murdock away for the duration of the festivities had missed fire. He ought to have doubled the quantity of those sleeping tablets. But then, you never know—the fellow might have a weak heart.

When they had resettled themselves in the car, Nora said: "Bob, I ought to have told you about Jim."

"Why should you? Everybody else has—so why should you trouble?"

Although he smiled she felt badly snubbed and said no more.

It was dark when they got to the hotel, and coming into the bright lights made Nora blink. She felt forlorn, bewildered, even a little bit afraid, for this wasn't quite the same man who had fastened that string of pearls about her throat only a few nights ago and told her that she was superlatively beautiful. Something had changed him. Well, she could guess what it was, and Aunt Dorothy had been right. She ought to have told Bob everything there was to tell about Jim Murdock and herself.

Everything? Tell him that Jim had cruelly jilted her and that even so she still loved him?

She gave a little shiver for the horror of it.

People in the foyer stared at them. They were a couple worth looking at. But curiously enough they did not look in the least newly married.

Florian's was probably Mayfair's most exclusive hotel and certainly its most expensive. They were shot up in a gilded cage accompanied by a Mr. Albert who was something important in the management, and appeared to hold Bob in great respect.

Mr. Albert swept them into their suite at about the same moment that the porters arrived with their luggage, together with the floor valet, maid and waiter.

It was impressive, but confusing.

There was a big sitting room overheated and overdecorated with flowers, with two bedrooms opening from opposite sides.

Bob soon disposed of the retinue.

"I think that would be your room," he said to Nora. You might like to change into a rest gown. "I'll order some tea."

The maid was unpacking the bag she had brought for the night. It had in it the very type of gown Bob had intimated—one of Aunt Dorothy's extravagances.

Nora put it on, and wondered if she should put some color on her face as well, but was too tired to bother with it. She felt half dead.

Strange he had taken two bedrooms. She hadn't thought of married life like that, somehow. But of course it didn't mean anything, really. This thought startled her and there was almost too much color in her face, now. She turned hastily away from the mirror, ashamed of her own confusion. She was married, she was Bob Matherson's wife, and there was no sense in feeling coy about it. But it had not seemed at all real until this moment, and now Nora knew quite definitely that she was afraid of her husband.

"Nora, the tea's here."

"I'm coming."

He had tapped on her door and called without opening it.

An elaborately dressed table was drawn up before the fireplace.

"So now we are married," said Bob.

"Bob—" she began hesitatingly.

"Wait a minute before you say anything. Have a look at this. I found it in my post this morning."

He took out his note case and handed her the jigsaw portion of her letter to Jim Murdock.

"It wasn't sent anonymously," he said. "It was sent to me by Pearl Almy, who thought she was doing me a good turn. She says your friend left the pieces in her wastebasket on an occasion when his failing for drink had got the better of him. It doesn't really matter whether her story is true or not, but I thought it was a good one. It sounds much better than if she and Murdock had planned it out between them."

"Jim wouldn't . . ." Nora said, white to the lips, sick with dismay. Her voice shook.

"No, I should think it most unlikely he would do anything so cruel and underhanded," Bob said, caustically. "I very nearly did not marry you, Nora."

"O . . . !" she gave the laden table a push, and half arose.

"Don't go, I beg of you. Let's have it out, fair and square and then we'll know where we are. You don't love me—in fact, it's admitted that you dislike me, to put it mildly. Well, now I am going to tell you something that may surprise you. I am not in love with you, either—so if I've been sold you have, too. Logically we haven't either of us much to grumble at."

"What did you marry me for?" Nora asked, with a flicker of spirit.

"I was just coming to that. I married you to suit my own convenience, my dear. O, I don't go as far as you do—I won't say you didn't attract me. You do, even now. I could make love to you very easily—and like it. But I am not going to. I am not so hard up as all that. I don't have to make love to a girl who's in love with somebody else. Thank God, I found out in time. Now it's your turn. What did you marry me for? Anything apart from my money or because your aunt wanted you to?"

Nora pressed her hands to her face. They were as cold as stone despite the heat of the room.

This was a nightmare; even more unreal than the fact that she was married to this strange man.

"Save your tears for later if you don't mind," he said, not unkindly.

She dropped her hands and stared at him with dry, burning eyes.

"I wasn't crying. I was trying to think."

"Why you married me?"

"Yes—I want to be honest with you."

"Well, I think it's about time."

"That's unjust! You've admitted as much when you said you married me to suit your convenience. What do I know about you or the girls you have been in love with?"

"I have never been in love since I was 19—and that's a long time ago. Her name was Daisy Jones and she was my landlady's daughter at Oxford. I would have married her if my father, who was alive at the time, hadn't stepped in and stopped it—God rest his soul and bless him eternally. That's my lovelife—all of it. We don't count light amours. We only count the heady ones—and I haven't had any."

"Very well, you can have it then. I accepted you because you were the first man who asked me to marry him after Jim Murdock threw me over. It was the day after I wrote that letter. Perhaps you remember. . . . You came along as I was reading the one I had from him. You said I looked ill or worried or something. I thought my heart was broken that day, but I guess hearts can be broken all over again."

Chor-Noble Nuptials Take Place Today

About forty friends of Mme. Suzanne Noble and Dr. Herman Chor will assemble in the living room of the Philip Mahers' home in Lake Bluff at 4 o'clock this afternoon to hear the Rev. Aubrey Moore of Evanston read the marriage service for Mme. Noble and Dr. Chor. The bride will be unattended and will be given in marriage by Mr. Maher. Dr. Theodore J. Morris will be the best man.

Dr. and Mrs. Chor and her little son, Pierre, will be at home at 1018 North State street after a brief wedding trip. Next summer Dr. and Mrs. Chor plan to take a trip to Denmark and France, where the bride lived until she moved to Chicago about ten years ago.

The James E. Bennetts and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooper Jr. are giving a dinner at the Churchill tonight for their children and the other girls and boys who are members of the Dance club. The second meeting of the club will be held tonight at the Girls' Latin school.

This Will Be Busy Day for All Ages

This will be a busy day for all ages. The children attending a specially arranged program at the Esquire theater this morning will be asked to name their favorite movies and actors. The Woman's Exchange of Chicago is sponsoring the programs, and one of its young board members, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., has enlisted a group of workers to query each child.

Following a lecture by Charles duBos, professor at the University of Notre Dame, in the library of the Alliance Française at 11:30 o'clock this morning, M. duBos and many of his audience will move on to a luncheon at the Arts club.

Mrs. Milan H. Hulbert and Mrs. John Storrs have arranged the luncheon for M. duBos, and among the guests will be the French consul, Rene Weiller, and Mme. Weiller, Mrs. Walter Bracken, Mrs. Ralph James, and Mrs. Ralph T. Winston.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations will hear Lord Russell speak "In Defense of Munich" at luncheon time today at the Palmer house.

Surrealist Ball Will Be Tonight

The evening's program provides a variety of amusements, including a concert by the Chicago Bach chorus at Orchestra hall and a Surrealist ball, to be given by the Women's Faculty club of Northwestern university medical school at the Knickerbocker hotel.

The last event will benefit the school's medical clinic, and promises to be a gay party. Among those giving cocktail parties before the benefit, which is to be a dinner-dance, are Dr. and Mrs. Loyal Davis, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Mason, Dr. and Mrs. John Wolfer, Dr. and Mrs. M. Herbert Barker, Dr. and Mrs. Bowman Crowell, and Dr. and Mrs. William S. Holmes. Costumes are not obligatory, but the committee hopes that the guests will come in "surrealist" dress.

Mrs. Benjamin M. Stout is entertaining at a musical and tea at her home in Oak Park from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The Baroness Wenner will be at home, 619 North Michigan avenue, from 5 to 7 o'clock tomorrow for tea or cocktails.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Just last Friday I published a hand received from a St. Louis correspondent, remarking at that time that some merry prankster had slipped over the immortal Mississippi Heart Hand on the unsuspecting contestants at a social duplicate game. I am glad to see that my guess proved correct. Note:

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: After mailing that hand in to you I found out that it was a joke played on us by one of the club members. I have another very interesting hand to submit, but am almost afraid to send it for fear it will turn out to be another prank. However, here it is: I was South.

"West, dealer.

"The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 no trump	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

"As soon as I passed I realized that I should have said four hearts, but my partner was the 'dictator type and it is almost as much as your life is worth to take a bid away from him. When I laid down the dummy after a lead from East of his fourth best club I feared my partner was going to have a stroke, so I just sat with my eyes glued on the dummy, afraid to glance up.

"North won the opening lead with the club king and led the ace of hearts, East's king falling. The queen then caught the jack. The next lead was a small diamond and East passed it up, never dreaming that the ten spot on the board would hold the trick.

"After running all the hearts and discarding clubs and diamonds [except the ace] from his own hand North took the spade finesse and, lo and behold, ended up with six no trump! I felt as if I had been given a reprieve from the death-house! —MRS. B. P., St. Louis."

Well, all's well that ends well. I must say, however, that if I had let three no trump stand I would have been even more scared than my correspondent was. Moreover, holding the South cards, I would jump to four hearts over one no trump whether I was playing with Casper Milquetoast or Attila the Hun!

The Art World Has a Turn at Yuletide Shows

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Art institute reproduction department has prepared a number of color cards, monotypes, and etchings for the Christmas season.

The famous Jaffe collotype cards are especially beautiful. It is amusing to note that these cards are made in Vienna, Austria. The ones which are being received have the word "Austria" carefully marked out and "Made in Germany" is the slogan instead.

◆

The annual exhibition of paintings and sculpture by Swedish artists has been on view at the Edgewater Beach hotel. It is, as formerly, a sane show with paintings of varied merit. There are marines, landscapes, and portraits, and on the whole the average of technique and craftsmanship is well sustained. The exhibit closes tomorrow.

At the Chicago Woman's club, in the Tudor gallery, are water colors by Frances Farrand Dodge. These are well done, colorful, and charming.

A Christmas show has opened at the Gallery of the Artists' union, 205 East Superior street. There are wood carvings, ceramics, jewelry and metal work, as well as pictures. John Stenval, known for his paintings and etchings, has turned silversmith and contributes several bracelets in various metals and of different design.

The animal of the hour, Ferdinand the Bull, has been taken by the horns and successfully grappled with by Emmanuel Viviano, who has turned out a lively portrait of the beast in terra cotta.

◆

Torres, Mexican born Chicago artist, contributes a set of handsome hammered metal dinner plates. Eugene Deutsch is showing three large vases. And so it goes. Much of the work is sophisticated and not entirely pleasurable, of such are the scarlet-nailed angels by Connie Moran, fashioned from aluminum.

Kay Francis and Baron to Marry, Friends Certain

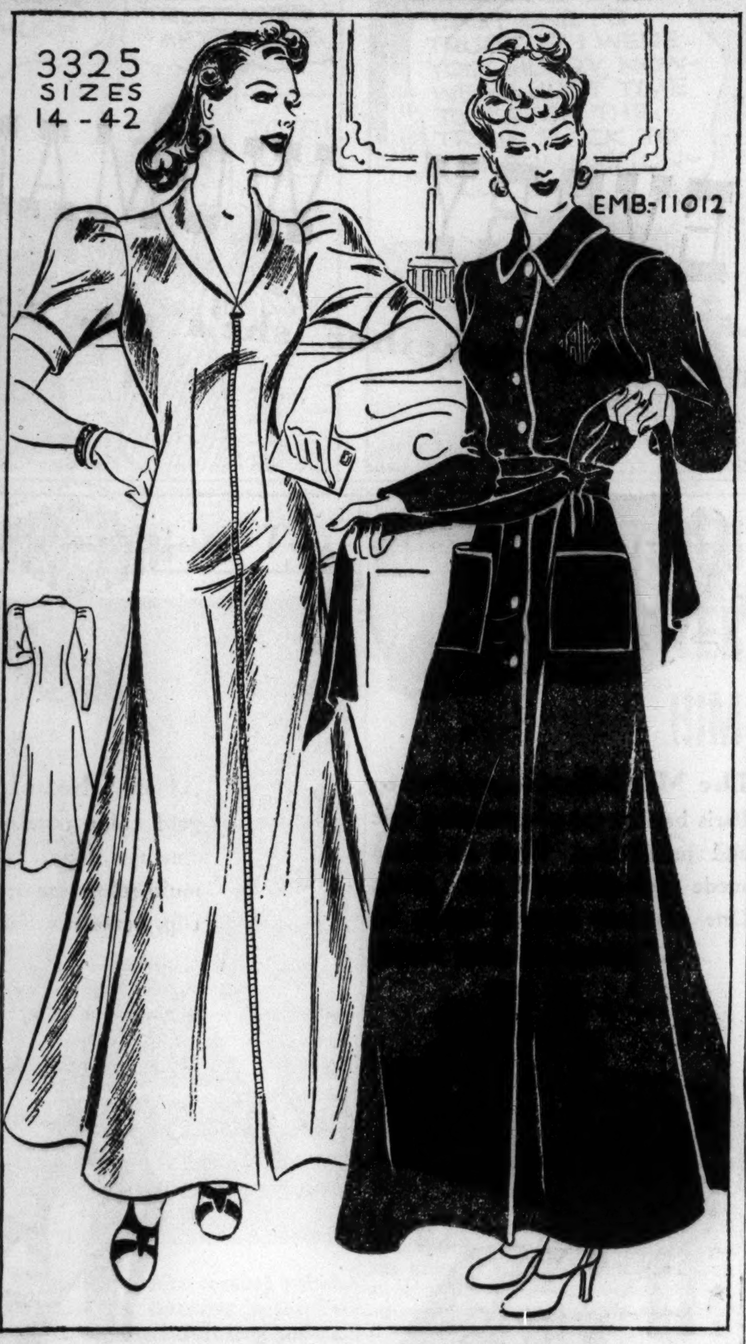
Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Reports that there would be no wedding for Kay Francis, film actress, and Baron Erik Raven Barnekow, airplane expert, have been dispelled by friends who saw the actress greet the baron affectionately on her return from a southern vacation cruise Wednesday. Baron Barnekow was on hand when Miss Francis stepped from an American airliner at the Glendale airport. They embraced and left the field together. Last night they were seen having supper at a Hollywood club.

House Coat and Trim Robe



WOMAN'S AND MISS' ROBE OR HOUSE COAT.

Our single pattern today allows you two different versions of loveliness for your leisure hours: A feminine house coat and a tailored robe. They're delightfully simple to make, since there are so few seams and very little cutting.

The house coat is pretty enough for hostessing informally. It has a V neckline with a soft, rolled collar. The short sleeves are puffed and have rather deep cuffs of the material. A slide fastener does decorative duty down the entire front. Darts cleverly nip the garment in to the figure. Molded at the hipline, the skirt flares gracefully and gradually toward the hemline. Satin, moiré, velvet, and crêpe all are excellent mediums, and the loveliest colors imaginable are available in these fabrics this season.

The robe is tailored yet feminine, too. It has a shirtwaist collar on a round neckline. Buttons are used down the front. The sleeves are tailored and comfortably wide. Two capacious pockets for your cigarets, lipstick, and trifles are on the skirt. A wide and long sash knots itself around the waist. A nice idea is to make this coat of soft woolen or velvet, and to bind it in a contrasting color.

Embroidered monograms are a marvelous touch on intimate apparel. There's a nice pattern, No. E-11012, which you may have for 10 cents extra.

Style No. 3325 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement.

A reader, who says she enjoys our column, nevertheless would like a change in one respect. She doesn't like our recipes for cooking red cabbage. She's never seen the genuine old-fashioned German cabbage among our cookery material. We thank her for telephoning her own recipe, which I'm sure many other readers will appreciate having.

German Red Cabbage.

1 solid head red cabbage
Salt, pepper
⅓ cup sugar
1 cup vinegar
4 slices bacon
½ medium onion

Shred the cabbage, add salt, pepper, sugar, and vinegar, and keep overnight in a covered crock. Chop the bacon and sauté the onion with it. Add cabbage and a small amount of water, about ½ cup, and cook until tender.

◆

How to get smooth, unlumpy gravy is a worry of another reader. The solution is to blend very thoroughly the drippings or fat with the flour before adding any liquid, then to stir constantly as the liquid is added. One uses the same proportion of flour and fat to liquid as is used in making white sauce—two tablespoons flour and two tablespoons drippings for each cup of liquid. Most cooks measure this with the eye when making gravy, as it sometimes is a little awkward to measure out liquid from the skillet and then put it back in again. If a brown gravy is wanted the flour must be browned by itself in a pan over low heat, or in the skillet with the fat before any liquid is added. After water or milk has been poured in, it's too late for browning.

◆

If you want a flaky pie crust work the shortening into the flour in coarse lumps. If you want a mealy crust work it in finely. Both crusts will be very tender if your method is good.

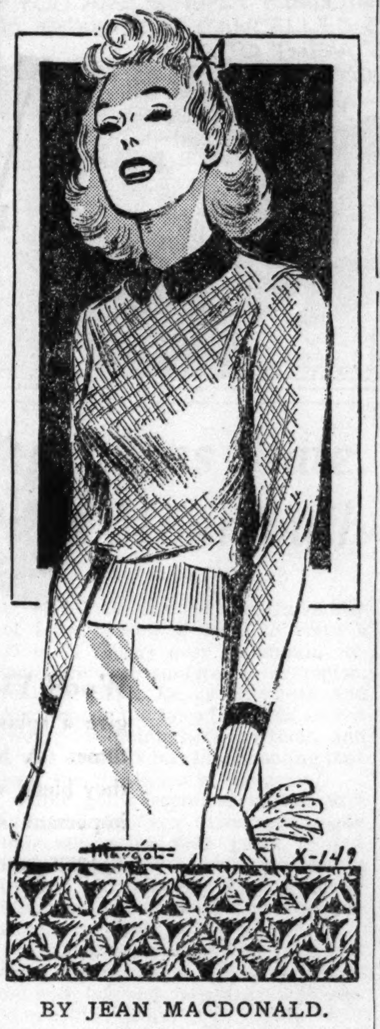
◆

"How am I going to cook this venison?" asks a housewife who is expected to prepare a feast of deer meat. And another woman, to whom a piece of bear meat had been sent, wonders about cooking that. Venison, being very lean, often is larded before it is cooked. But this is a tedious operation and not necessary if the animal was young when killed. To roast it, brush all over with melted butter and place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Lay strips of fat salt pork over it, and roast at 350 degrees until tender, basting frequently with butter. About 25 minutes per pound are required. Venison steaks may be broiled, but they must be brushed with fat first.

Bear meat may be cooked like pork, or it may be marinated in a dressing for two days [as you would prepare sauerbraten] and then braised.

"How to Cook Wild Game," one of our newest booklets, should be helpful to others who suddenly find themselves recipients of gamey gifts. It costs 5 cents by mail, 3 cents if you stop for it in the Tribune Tower lobby or at the downtown Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street.

Simple Sweater Is Knitted in 'Crazy Stitch'



BY JEAN MACDONALD.

This is indeed a topsy-turvy world. First there were "crazy" quilts and now there are knitting and crochet designs in "crazy stitch." Don't be misled by the title, because the work isn't crazy. On the contrary, this sweater worked in crazy stitch is one of the most attractive and simplest of knitting jobs. It is worked with the collar in contrasting color, and a narrow band of the same shade is used at the top of the cuff. Instructions for knitting this sweater are available in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement.

For instructions for knitting the sweater in "crazy stitch," No. X-149, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

A Good Party Makes Friends for Young Folk

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The mother who is worried because her daughter has few friends, the young girl who has changed schools and finds herself lonely, the shy daughter herself [and the shy son, too,] are among the readers of this column from whom I hear frequently.

To give all the help I should like to, I'd have to be a consulting psychologist with office hours. There are, sometimes, so many angles to these matters. But also the remedy may take a simple form, such as, for one suggestion getting your son or daughter interested in some activity, hobby or art with a group of young people. This usually means their going to a class somewhere, or your forming one.

◆

The other simple remedy is to bring young people into the house by hook or crook. Use your ingenuity and create some sort of informal social life for your child, and this may apply to your sons as well as your daughters.

Keep the house open for them. Invite one or more often to supper, or to go on an entertaining or interesting jaunt—a picnic, the movies, or some point of interest, like a flying field, or the aquarium, or to inspect an ocean liner. In a new place and a new school a lively party will often start the ball rolling.

Sale of Articles Made by Blind Closes Tonight

This afternoon and tonight will be the last opportunities of the public to purchase articles at the annual Christmas exhibit and sale of the Illinois Industrial Home for the Blind at 1900 South Marshall boulevard. Among the articles made by seventy-five blind persons are hand woven baskets, linen tea towels, gayly colored aprons, and even a rowboat. Proceeds from the sale go to the blind workers themselves.

Sir Herbert Grierson of Smith Faculty Marries

Northampton, Mass., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The marriage of Sir Herbert Grierson, 70, lord rector of Edinburgh university and research professor at Smith college, to Miss Margaret Storrs, 40, former Smith professor of philosophy, was announced today by the college. The wedding took place in England on Dec. 7. The couple is en route back to the United States. They will make their home in Northampton.

The Housewife

Bridge tables and chair sets make welcome Christmas gifts to card playing friends. You can select these items from a tremendously wide assortment and at almost any price. One set we came across recently is in the low price bracket, yet is built to give excellent service.

The table has an all-steel frame and strongly braced steel legs. It won't sag or wobble. It has a plywood top, not one of composition or paper. Steel is used in the chairs, too, with a baked enamel finish. The seats are of plywood, padded and upholstered. Both chairs and table fold and can be put in the closet.

Colors in which this set is obtainable are black, dubonnet, green and brown combined with contrasting covers. And you'll be amazed at the low price. EDITH WEIGLE.

More than 600 men will attend the 27th annual dinner of the Indiana society of Chicago tonight at 7 o'clock in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house. Scores of well known Hoosiers are coming from Indiana and some are coming from as far away as New York and Washington, D. C.

Lawrence A. Downs, president of the society, has returned from the south for the occasion. Among the guests will be Will H. Hays of New York and California, formerly of Sullivan, Ind.; John T. McCutcheon, George A. Ball of Muncie, Harold Van Orman of Evansville, former lieutenant governor of Indiana; former Senator James W. Watson, and Gen. Leigh R. Gignilliat of Culver Military academy.

Cadets from the academy will appear on the program. Philip Maxwell will be master of ceremonies.

C. Y. O. CROWNS 16 BOXING CHAMPIONS; 12,000 SEE FINALS

WELTERWEIGHTS PUT ON SHOW'S HARDEST BOUTS

O'Connell Wins to Retain Title.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Four welterweights supplied the major portion of the fireworks last night before 12,000 cheering customers in the eighth annual Christmas fund boxing tournament of the Catholic Youth organization in the International amphitheater.

Two of those 147 pounders—Joe O'Connell of St. Nicholas of Tolentine parish and Stanley Murczek of St. Barbara—met in the concluding bout of the sixteen bout program to battle for the welterweight championship in the open division. The durable Murczek, making his fourth attempt for a title, put on a stirring punching rally in the final round, but the sharper boxing of O'Connell gave the southwest side Irishman his second C. Y. O. open crown in two years. Last December he won the 135 pound title.

McCusker Beats Ryan.

Earlier in the evening the fans saw two novice welterweights, redheaded John McCusker from St. Barbara's parish of Brookfield, and 16 year old Bud Ryan of Our Lady of Sorrows put on what was undoubtedly the best show of the night. McCusker took the first round and was on the way to earning the second when young Ryan, captain of the novice squad, began a comeback which almost gave him the round, and then continued same throughout the third. McCusker finally was awarded the decision.

In the penultimate bout of the night, Willie Goldsmith, colored boy, who won the 1936 lightweight title and was beaten for same by O'Connell last year, came back to be boss of the open 135 pounders for another twelve month. Willie, a southpaw, who knows how to hit with his right, won the decision from another portsider, Harry Sparrow of S. S. Peter and Paul.

Proceeds to Charity.

The proceeds of last night's show will be turned over to the C. Y. O. fund for underprivileged youth, conducted by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, founder and director of the C. Y. O. Bishop Sheil made a brief speech of thanks in the intermission between the novice and open classes. Music for the flag raising ceremony and other portions of the program was furnished by the C. Y. O.'s own band of fifty pieces, recruited from parishes throughout the Chicago diocese.

Hiner Thomas Wins.

The first open bout of the evening saw the dethronement of one defending champion of the show and the reseating in the No. 1 spot of an old pew holder. The loser was Curtis McDaniel of Holy Family parish and the winner none other than Hiner Thomas of Corpus Christi, most popular colored fighter in the C. Y. O. entourage. Hiner, who had held the middleweight championship of the league in 1935, made no bones about taking it away from McDaniel. The latter, whose coiffure was strictly in the current upsweep mode, could do little with

REPORT PIRATES HAVE PURCHASED FRED HUTCHINSON

New Orleans, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—William E. Benswanger, president and treasurer of the Pittsburgh Pirates, declined late today to confirm or deny a report that his club had purchased Fred Hutchinson, star right handed pitcher, from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Hutchinson was the standout pitcher on the coast, winning twenty-three games. It was understood that virtually every major league club had been negotiating for him.

"Let me put it this way," Benswanger said when asked about Hutchinson. "I won't say we won't buy him. It will be at least three or four days before anything is done."

Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, said: "Pittsburgh beat us to him."

GALENTO STEPS UP AND ORDERS —A MALTED MILK

Tony Galento's first airplane ride apparently made a new man of him.

Arriving here last night by plane from St. Louis, the pudgy heavyweight of beer drinking fame walked without a word up to a refreshment stand and voluntarily ordered a malted milk.

This unprecedented act left his usually talkative manager, Joe Jacobs, speechless. Galento and Jacobs, accompanied by Harry Mendel, six day bike racing impressario, were en route to Minneapolis, where Galento has a fight scheduled with Dick Daniels.

ROMNES SOOTHED BY CHECK AFTER TRADE IRKS HIM

Doc Is Reluctant to Go to Toronto Leafs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Doc Romnes, erstwhile Blackhawk star center, went snorting into Chicago headquarters of the Hawks yesterday. Goodness, but he was angry at having been traded to the Toronto Maple Leafs for Bill Thoms. A hell of a way to treat a gent who had given the best years and all that sort of thing.

Doc was in excellent voice as he started to sing his song to President Bill Tobin. Bill didn't listen much, but after a while shoved an oblong piece of paper into the irate athlete's range of vision. It was a check for $1,000 made out to Elwyn Romnes before said Elwyn, or Doc, stomped in.

Check Stops Him.

Romnes forthwith quit singing about his intention to quit hocky forever and ever. He had been saying something about giving the remainder of his life to building and directing fishing camps in the north woods. He had been praising the wide open spaces as compared with the stuffiness of steam heated hocky rinks. But the check for a grand stopped him.

"Just a little present the Major has been wanting to give you for long and faithful service," said Tobin in reference to the check. "See, the ink is very dry. The Major was going to wait till Christmas but since you happened to walk in, you might as well take it before you start for Toronto at 8 o'clock tonight."

Tobin explained further that the check was in no sense a bonus for reporting to Toronto or a yielding to a yelping athlete. Just what he had told Romnes, a gift of appreciation for past performances, and no heart balm.

It's No Precedent.

Naturally the Hawks don't want to establish a precedent for soothing brokenhearted hocky players on departure from the team. Especially since there are several others who are or should be on the brink of departing. However, Mr. Tobin's statements should be accepted as accurate. The ink on the check really was very dry.

The suggestion that Romnes become a member of the Maple Leafs came first from Manager Sport Smythe of the Leafs. He wanted a play making center of the Romnes type and was willing to give up a scoring center of the Thoms type. The Hawks are goal hungry—they've made three in their last five games and have been shut out in their last two—and want to see the puck in the cage of opponents even if it is put there with the rink janitor's scoop. So the fact that Thoms scores himself as often as he sets up scores for his wingers, wasn't looked upon as a rap.

Face Leafs Tonight.

The records of Romnes and Thoms in this regard give some idea of the difference between the two men. In the last three years prior to this season Romnes made 27 goals and 61 assists for 88 points; in the same span Thoms made 47 goals and 48 assists for 95 points.

Thoms worked out with the Hawks in Toronto yesterday. Romnes left the team in Buffalo to come here for his big and profitable beef. He will not get to work out with his new teammates until tonight's game between the Hawks and the Leafs.

Tiger Jack Fox, Stabbed by Woman, in Grave Condition

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Tiger Jack Fox, colored light heavyweight boxer who was seriously wounded early today in a fight at a Seventh avenue hotel, was in Harlem hospital tonight in critical condition. At the hospital it was said he was stabbed below the heart, and was weak from loss of blood. A colored woman told police Fox tried to detain her in his room against her will, and that she stabbed him in self defense.

De Paul Beats Arkansas State, 61-32; Iowa Whips Monmouth

The De Paul university basketball team took its turn at thumping Arkansas State last night, running up 61 points while yielding 32 as the Arkansas quintet lost its third game in three nights to Chicago teams. Loyola and Armour Tech previously had defeated the southerners.

De Paul used seventeen players, with Capt. Bob Neu, Jim Skrodzki, and Ted Szukala providing the bulk of the scoring. Between them they accounted for forty-three points, with Neu the leader on seven field goals and six free throws, a total of twenty.

This trio combined to shoot the Blue Demons into a 20 to 4 lead midway through the first half. Metzler and Baldwin, who led the Arkansas scorers with 8 points each, and Keller then went to work and cut the De Paul advantage to 29 to 16 at the half.

The Blue Demons ran their lead to 40 to 18 before Arkansas scored again in the second half. Leading 61 to 24 late in the game, the De Paul regulars came out and Arkansas State was able to count eight more points before the end of the game. In a preliminary game the De Paul freshmen beat St. Mary's of the Lake, 60 to 28.

IOWA BEATS MONMOUTH

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Scoring spurts in the closing minutes of each half enabled the University of Iowa basketball team to score a 37 to 34 victory over Monmouth college, Midwest conference champion, tonight. Capt. Benny Stephens and Abe Anapol, the Iowa forwards, scored twenty-two points between them, and it was Anapol's last half shooting that kept the Hawkeyes in the game.

After going scoreless in the first half, the Chicago sophomore made four successive field goals to put Iowa ahead four minutes before the end of the game. Field goals by Stephens and Irwin Prasse clinched victory for Iowa.

Stephens sank three field goals and eight free throws to win scoring honors with fourteen points. Dick Moody, Monmouth guard, was second with twelve points, scored on six field goals.

Kenny Bastian, reserve Iowa center, dropped in three quick baskets in the closing minutes of the first half to enable the Hawkeyes to finish the period with a 19 to 19 tie.

EIGHT BIG 10 TEAMS PLAY

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Eight Western conference basketball teams will play tonight. Three of these, Michigan, Illinois, and Ohio State, are meeting their first opponents. All games, of course, are against nonconference teams, for the Big Ten race does not start until next month. Iowa, which played last night, now has met two opponents, while Purdue will open its season in Lafayette

Baseball Market Closes, Leaving Cubs Big Dealers

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Dec. 9.—The major league magnates today closed up the trade market conducted in connection with the minor leagues' convention and scattered to their respective homes to replenish their money supply before proceeding to New York, where the major leagues are scheduled for their annual business sessions next week.

When the major league owners and managers held their last minute button hole conferences today, they still were sparring for better terms in various proposed trades, thus leaving to the Cubs and Giants the honor of having put over the only big transaction of the gathering here.

The above mentioned exchange moved Outfielder Hank Leiber, Shortstop Dick Bartell, and Catcher Gus Mancuso to Chicago and sent Shortstop Bill Jurges, Outfielder Frank Demaree, and Catcher Ken O'Dea to New York. The experts still are trying to come to an agreement on which club drew the choicer end of the deal.

Hartnett's Trading Balked.

Gabby Hartnett, Cub manager, who returned to Chicago today, admitted that his desire to give his 1938 National league champions another jostling might not succeed. As mentioned previously, Gabby will grab anything that is good, particularly a pitcher and a first baseman, but thus far he hasn't found anybody willing to talk business unless the Cubs will turn over one of the few players Gabby is determined to retain.

The Cub manager, according to reports, isn't interested in First Baseman Buddy Hassett, whom the Brooklyn club has placed on the market, but he might consider Gus Suhr, if the Pittsburgh Pirates should decide to dispense with the veteran's services. Suhr, however, can't be traded until the Pirates get a man for his place. Despite denials, the Pirates are said to be trying to purchase Zeke Bonura from the Washington Senators, but the bid of Bill Terry, Giant manager, remains tops and formal transfer of the Italian boy to New York may be announced shortly. The Cub officials never made any attempt to capture Zeke.

Gets Offer for Whitehead.

Jim Dykes, the Sox pilot, who was among those heading toward Chicago today, will proceed to New York with only one thought in mind. He still believes there is somebody in the American league who eventually will be willing to make a fair deal for Pitcher John Whitehead. The only offer thus far for the big fellow who doesn't believe in keeping himself in condition for work came from Eddie Collins, business manager of the Boston Red Sox. Collins wanted to give Pitcher Archie McKain and Dykes' response was that he wouldn't take a dozen McKains for his problem boy.

At one stage of the baseball show here Dykes thought he had clinched a deal whereby Whitehead would go to the Cleveland Indians for Pitcher Dennis Galehouse. This transaction was sidetracked when Manager Oscar Vitt of the Indians discovered other clubs were interested in Galehouse. The Indians are in a bad way for a second baseman and have been talking Galehouse to the St. Louis Browns in exchange for Don Heffner. Boston is trying to induce the Indians to give Galehouse in trade for Infielder Eric McNair, who is of questionable value because of a knee injury.

Tiger Dickering Futile.

The dickering between Dykes and Manager Del Baker of the Detroit Tigers appears to have simmered down to nothing. The Tigers want Outfielder Larry Rosenthal but have balked over Dykes' demands that the Sox get Outfielder Chet Laabs and Pitcher George Coffman. Another reason for the Tigers holding off is that they don't want to make any alterations as long as there is a possibility of buying Outfielder Earl Averill from the Indians or making a deal with Washington for Infielder Cecil Travis. After these little matters either are dropped or completed the Tigers may resume consideration of the price Dykes has placed on Rosenthal.

RAIN AND HUTSON GIVE GREEN BAY CAUSE FOR GRIEF

Brilliant End Won't Start Against Giants.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 9.—Dense gloom encompassed the Green Bay Packers today. A steady downpour throughout the night, which may leave the Polo grounds playing surface gummy and treacherous, and Coach Curley Lambeau's announcement that Don Hutson may not be able to start, made a gruff and disconsolate group of the eager young men who stormed into the city last night prepared to battle the New York Giants for the professional championship Sunday.

Hutson, injured in the Detroit game Nov. 13 and unavailable for the previous meeting between the title contenders Nov. 20, was reported recovered and ready to play. This morning, however, it developed that his knee still is too sore and weak to permit him to pivot or cut, two artifices imperative to his effectiveness. After a conference with the great pass catching end, Lambeau announced that Hutson, in all probability would not start and would be used sparingly, if at all. Wayland Becker, a former Marquette star and professional veteran, will replace him.

Giants Made Favorites.

Lambeau's announcement was greeted by a swift shifting of the odds, with the Giants becoming the favorites. Hutson is considered the principal threat to Giant supremacy. Becker is a much better defensive end, but it was Hutson's fleetness and his pass catching which Coach Steve Owen and his Giants feared. The Giants also appeared to welcome the rain. They contend that a slippery field and ball will slow down the Packers' attack more than their own.

There was no change in the clinical reports on Herman Schneidman, blocking back, and Bobby Monnett, veteran passer and ball carrier, who were on the hospital list with Hutson Nov. 20 when the Giants defeated the Packers, 15 to 3. Both cavorted without restraint as the squad drilled in Central park this morning and Lambeau said they would play.

But Things May Change.

Although the Packers' outlook is dismal at the moment, events of the last twenty-four hours may have a salutary effect on the champions of the western division, who seek to take the world title back to little Green Bay for the fifth time. Football is a very funny game, principally because the contestants are human. New York has whipped the Packers in their last two appearances in the Polo grounds. No team relishes losing regularly and it is especially embarrassing to players from a town where every taxpayer is a club stockholder and every stockholder a personal acquaintance. The Packers are determined to win this one for several reasons, chief of which is the matter of personal pride.

Deprived of Hutson and with frequent showing of motion pictures keeping alive the memory of that 15 to 3 affair, the Packers are expected to curtail their passing Sunday, relying more on the running ability of Cecil Isbell, Clark Hinkle, and Monnett against the Giants' five man line.

Tuffy Leemans is the only Giant ball carrier the Packers are especially concerned over. Leemans is regarded as the finest open field runner in the league today. His 75 yard dash off tackle beat the Packers three weeks ago. After Leemans the Green Bay defense will concentrate chiefly on Ed Danowski, an excellent passer.

Ticket Offices Shifted.

Ticket offices for the game were moved out of the suite occupied by the Giants today and set up several floors below, after federal men had interrupted the sale for a time late yesterday by arresting two window clerks on a charge of noncompliance with the federal internal revenue act. Tim Mara, Giant owner, reported

OBTAIN 2 OTHER PITT STARS AND T. C. U. CENTER

Get Stebbins, Daddio and Aldrich.

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Many of the country's leading college football players were awarded to the Chicago Bears and Chicago Cardinals today as the National Professional Football league apportioned 200 stars of 1938 at its annual draft meeting. Some of this new crop of seniors will not play professionally, but those who choose to enter the National league are bound to the clubs which obtained them in the draft.

The Cardinals, who experienced a disastrous season, took half of the 1938 University of Pittsburgh back field: Marshall Goldberg and Harold Stebbins, who, if they decide to join the Chicago team, will be teammates of Frank Patrick, Pitt full back who was graduated a year ago. Bill Daddio, Pitt end for the last three years, also was chosen by the Cardinals.

Aldrich First Choice.

The Cardinals' first choice in the draft was Charles Aldrich, husky center from Texas Christian university. The Cardinals also sought John Chickerneo, another Pitt back, but he was the second choice of the New York Giants.

The Bears' draftees included Sid Luckman, the star Columbia passer, who has asserted that he will not play pro ball; Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross' smashing full back, and Earl Brown, Notre Dame end.

The Bears did not draw Luckman, but wound up with him when Pittsburgh, the second team to draw, took him as its first choice. The Pirates owed the Bears their first choice as part payment in the deal which sent Eggs Manske to Pittsburgh last year. Loss of Luckman to Chicago caused considerable stir among the New York and Brooklyn delegations, who, with an eye on gate receipts, wanted the great passer to remain in the eastern division if he reconsiders his decision to forego professional football.

Beinor to Brooklyn.

Ed Beinor, Notre Dame tackle, was taken by the Bears, but reverts to Brooklyn to whom the Bears owed their fourth choice as part payment for Half Back Joe Maniaci, obtained from the Dodgers this season.

Other players to whom the Bears drew exclusive rights included Bob Voigts, Northwestern tackle; John Wysocki, star Villanova end; Solly Sherman, Chicago quarter back, and Ed Simonich, Notre Dame full back.

Howie Weiss, Wisconsin full back, went to Detroit. Brooklyn took Vic Bottari of California, and Green Bay, seeking centers, selected Charles Brock of Nebraska. Eric Tipton, Duke's famous kicker, was Washington's tenth choice.

The complete selections:

CHICAGO CARDINALS.

Aldrich, Texas Christian, center; Goldberg, Pittsburgh, back; Wolff, Santa Clara, tackle; Stebbins, Pittsburgh, back; Daddio, Pittsburgh, end; G. Faust, Minnesota, back; Dwyer, New Mexico, back; Hinkebein, Kentucky, center; Brown, Notre Dame, end; Crowder, Oklahoma, back; Wyatt, Tennessee, end; Thomas, Oklahoma, guard; Sabodis, Citadel, center; Miatovich, San Francisco, tackle; Clarke, Santa Clara, guard; Goins, Clemson, end; Elkins, Marshall, back; Huffman, Marshall, end; Kochel, Fordham, guard; Rice, San Francisco, tackle.

CHICAGO BEARS.

Osmanski, Holy Cross, full back; Wysocki, Villanova, end; Delaney, Holy Cross, tackle; Beinor, Notre Dame, tackle [transferred to Brooklyn]; Heilman, Iowa State, end; Dannies, Pittsburgh, center; Bray, Kalamazoo Teachers, guard; Wood, Tennessee, back; Braga, San Francisco, back; Roise, Idaho, back; Bock, Iowa State, guard; Stolfa, Luther, back; Voigts, Northwestern, tackle; Armstrong, Tarkio, tackle; Masters, Newberry, end; Sherman, Chicago, back; Simonich, Notre Dame, back; Vogeler, Oklahoma Aggies, center; Forte, Montana, tackle; Kischer, Iowa State, half back.

PITTSBURGH PIRATES.

Luckman, Columbia back [transferred to Chicago Bears]; Manders, Drake, back [transferred to Brooklyn]; Patterson, Baylor, back; McCullough, Oklahoma, back; Wheeler, North Dakota State, back; Boyd, Baylor, end; Palumbo, Detroit, back; Nelson, Michigan State, end; Petro, Pittsburgh, guard; Lee, Carnegie Tech, back; Tomasetti, Bucknell, back; Cochrane, St. Louis U., back;

Proselyting Can Be Legitimate, Claims Zuppke

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Coach Robert C. Zuppke said today what University of Illinois football needs is some "legitimate proselyting" by alumni.

"Sure, there's legitimate proselyting," he told the Midday Luncheon club. "It's going on all the time by organizations and churches. I've noticed that great football material is developed at colleges whose stadiums aren't yet paid for. We've paid for our stadium, and this year we had only forty freshmen out for football."

Of his "critics" the veteran coach said:

"These critics put themselves up as judges when they are no more qualified to judge football than I am, after five or six trips each fall, to judge the work of the engineering or commerce schools of the university."

GLENBARD BEATS HINSDALE; LEADS WEST SUBURBAN

Downers Grove, La Grange Whip Riverside, York.

Glenbard made its debut in the West Suburban High School Basketball conference last night by beating Hinsdale, 28 to 25. The result put the Glen Ellyn quintet on top as the other leaders were beaten.

Downers Grove, after losing to York in the opener, 32 to 29, last week, came back and defeated Riverside, another opening round winner, 34 to 21, while La Grange, which lost its first test to Riverside, won from York last night, 26 to 23.

Evanston took the lead in the Suburban league when it won its second game, defeating Waukegan, 28 to 25, in Waukegan.

The Central Y. M. C. A. Day quintet scored its first victory in two years in the Private School league, defeating Luther institute, 16 to 15, on the Central court.

Previous to the win the loop school lost 34 consecutive games, and today was forced to pile up an early lead before triumpring over Luther. Lineups:

M'LEOD DEFEATS HACKBARTH IN SENIORS' GOLF

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Fred McLeod, 56 year old Washington, D. C., professional, carded an eight over par 80 today to beat Otto Hackbarth, Cincinnati, in the eighteen hole playoff of the annual seniors' golf tournament.

Hackbarth finished with an 82 in the match played over the Augusta National course.

The pair was tied up at 154 after the completion yesterday of the second eighteen holes of the thirty-six hole event. Play originally had been scheduled for fifty-four holes, but the number was reduced after rain prevented play the first day.

MIAMI INVITES McKEESPORT TO FOOTBALL GAME

Miami, Fla., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—The McKeesport [Pa.] High school football team today was invited to participate in Miami's annual Christmas day football game. Its opponent will be either Miami or Miami Edison, which will meet Dec. 19 to decide the city championship.

Leading prep elevens throughout the United States sought the invitation to compete here. Among them was East High of Aurora, Ill. McKeesport, western Pennsylvania champion, lost only one game this season.

Dates Are Set for State Meet in Basketball

Dates for the basketball tournament sponsored by the Illinois High School Athletic association were announced yesterday by H. V. Porter, assistant manager.

Cities where the regional and sectional contests will be played also were announced, but the district tournament centers will not be chosen until after Jan. 1, Porter said, because his staf has yet to group the schools in regions.

District tournaments will be played Feb. 22-25; the regional tournaments, March 1-4; sectional contests, March 8-11, and the state finals at the University of Illinois, Champaign, March 16-18. Regional contests will be played in the following fifty-nine cities:

Aledo, Anna, Athens, Aurora [West], Belleville, Bridgeport, Carlyle, Carrollton, Carthage, Casey, Chenoa, Chicago Heights, Clinton, Decatur, De Kalb, Dixon, Dundee, Duquoin, Dwight, East Moline, Effingham, Eldorado, Elmhurst [York], Fairfield, Fisher, Freeport, Galesburg, Gibson City, Gillespie.

Herrin, Hoopeston, Kankakee, Kewanee, Lincoln, Mattoon, Mendon, Metropolis, Morris, Mount Carmel, Mount Morris, Pana, Pekin, Peoria [Woodruff], Pittsfield, Princeton, Rockford, Roseville, Rushville, Salem, Savanna, Springfield [Lanphier], Tuscola, Virginia, Watseka, Waukegan, Wenona, West Frankfort, Westville, Wood River, and a city yet to be named.

Sectional tournament centers, March 8-11, are:

Bridgeport, Canton, Casey, Champaign, Edwardsville, Elvin, Galesburg, Johnston City, Joliet, Moline, Mount Vernon, Ottawa, Quincy, Rockford, and Taylorville.

The Chicago city champion is classed as a sectional winner to round out the sixteen teams which compete in the state finals

Miss Henie Takes Skating Partner for Tango on Ice

For the first time in her career, Sonja Henie will be seen in a doubles number when the 1939 Edition of the Hollywood Ice Revue opens a seven day engagement at the Chicago Stadium on Christmas night. Her partner will be Stewart Reburn of Toronto, Ontario, one of Canada's greatest figure skaters.

Miss Henie and Reburn appear in a tango on ice, which has been well received wherever the Hollywood Ice Revue has been seen on its cross-country tour since it left Hollywood.

Harry Losee, who has directed Miss Henie in all of her moving pictures, was lent by the Twentieth Century Fox studios to direct the glittering 1939 Hollywood Ice Revue. With him came, as assistant musical director, Jack Pfeiffer, musical director for the studios.

Miss Henie makes five personal appearances in the revue, finally appearing in the rôle of Alice in a colorful fantasy, "Alice in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass."

The entire production was created, rehearsed, produced, costumed, and perfected in Hollywood with Miss Henie supervising the selection of the 100 skating dancers who make up the cast.

FELLER APPEALS, GETS TEMPORARY DRIVING LICENSE

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Bob Feller, Cleveland's young pitching star, is back behind the wheel of his new automobile, but it may be only for a short time. He regained his driving license temporarily by filing a notice of intent to appeal to the state Supreme court.

Feller lost his license for 90 days after he was fined $100 for speeding 87 miles an hour.

Packers Have Ample Cause for Their Grief

business was as brisk as usual and that more than 25,000 tickets already have been distributed.

Giant officials claimed the arrests resulted from the inability of federal agents to get 50 yard line seats. A subpena calling for the Giants' books for the last five years was issued today. The internal revenue department had called for the books by next week, but today's court order, which took the Giants by surprise, demanded they be turned over by noon tomorrow.

The inability to supply the agents with 50 yard line seats, Mara said, was due to the large number of season reservations, which have first call. Among the permanent boxholders is Jim Farley, postmaster general, who sits behind the Giant bench.

How It All Started.

The specific charge against the Giants was selling tickets for more than the established price. One of three agents shoved two $20 bills through the window to Charles Chaplin, a 21 year old law student and part time worker, for a set of tickets. Giant officials said the youngster, in the rush of business, had mistaken the bills for two $10 certificates, and had made change on that basis. The bills were marked. Chaplin and Mara's 29 year old niece, Mrs. Helen Mara, who was in charge of the office, were arrested. Mara, who promoted prize fights in the days of Tex Rickard, furnished bail of $250 for Chaplin and his niece was released in his custody.

Blind Brook and Artillery Play Tonight

An intersectional polo battle between Blind Brook of New York City and the 124th Field Artillery of Chicago will head of program of three games starting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the 124th Field Artillery armory.

Intercity rivalry in the Metropolitan Polo league senior division also will be in evidence when the Detroit Falcons clash with the Evanston Polo club.

The program will open with a four to six goal division game between Fort Sheridan and the Rangers, the only teams still undefeated in this bracket.

Merrill Fink, six goal player; Earle Shaw, who carries an outdoor rating of six goals, and Steve Healy, former member of the Chicago Ramblers, will be in the Blind Brook lineup.

The 124th Field Artillery trio will include Lieut. Bill Fergus, Capt. Romeo E. Mura, and Lieut. Don Rice.

Fort Sheridan will rely heavily upon the scoring ability of Capt. C. B. Hutchinson, who set a new league record of ten goals last Saturday against the Chicago Shamrocks.

The 122d Field Artillery Lancers will present their annual horse show and polo game tonight in the 122d Artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue.

The program will include contests in horsemanship, a mounted drill by the Black Horse Troop band, a jumping exhibition in which Corporal Charles Grant will take his horse over a human hurdle, a musical chair race, a stake driving contest and several other numbers.

The 122d Artillery polo team consisting of Johnson, Harrison and Pio will take part in the polo game against a team to be named tonight.

COLUMBUS BEATS AUSTIN HIGH ON SAFETY, 14 TO 13

Dodson, of Winners, and Peifer Are Stars.

Columbus, Miss., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Sensational running by Adrian Dodson, Columbus full back, carried the Lee High School eleven to a 14 to 13 victory over Austin High of Chicago tonight. A crowd of 6,000, including Gov. Hugh White, saw the intersectional battle.

Dodson and Casey Peifer of Austin lived up to advance notice. Both made several long runs.

The Generals outplayed Austin, rolling up fourteen first downs to seven, but it remained for a safety to give Columbus the winning margin. Once Austin held Lee on the 5 yard line and again on the 7.

Dodson Goes Over.

Columbus scored on a forty-five yard march in the first five minutes. Dodson went through right tackle for twelve yards, then got twenty-five at right end. A penalty set Columbus back to the 12, but on the next play Dodson went over. His placement was wide.

Early in the second quarter Peifer fumbled the pass from center outside the end zone for an automatic safety and Columbus led, 8 to 0. Just before the half ended Austin went forty-seven yards to score after Maggos had intercepted a Columbus pass. Peifer ran seventeen yards to the Columbus 30 yard line and in two more plays picked up another twelve yards. Maggos added three then Peifer found a hole to score. Thodos converted and at the half Columbus led, 8 to 7.

Peifer Passes for Touchdown.

After the third period kickoff Peifer passed from his own 25 to Veihman who gathered in the ball on the Columbus 40 and sped for a touchdown to give Austin a 13 to 8 lead.

Columbus came right back, using the old Alabama corkscrew play to win. Dodson took the ball on his own 44 yard line, went through left guard and outran the Austin secondary to score. A few minutes later Dodson intercepted an Austin pass and dashed fifty yards before he was pulled down. The lineups:

COLUMBUS [14].		AUSTIN [13].

MUSCLE OVER WARES' KIDNEY IS TORN IN SPILL

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Examination at Harper hospital disclosed today that Eddie Wares, Detroit Red Wing hocky player injured in last night's 1 to 1 tie with the New York Americans, suffered a badly torn muscle over his left kidney. First indications had been that the kidney was ruptured.

Club officials said Wares, a right winger, would be out of the game for from three to five weeks. He skidded headlong into the boards late in the second period. His helmet apparently saved him from serious head injury, but his own stick was rammed into him as he fell.

South Chicago 'Y' Swim Team Beats Sears-Roebuck

The South Chicago Y. M. C. A. swimming team defeated the Sears Roebuck Y., 50 to 23, in a dual meet in the South Chicago Y last night.

Monday evening against Monmouth.

The outstanding game locally is the invasion of Northwestern by the University of Pittsburgh. The Wildcats opened the season Wednesday night with a 45 to 23 victory over Carleton. Tonight's game is the first for the Panthers. Pitt will have only one upper classman in the starting lineup, Bob Johnson, a junior guard. Among the four sophomores is Irving Paffrath, 6 foot 2 inch forward, who is regarded as one of the best prospects in the east. He will pair with Ed Straloski. Mel Port is the center and Jimmy Klein is the other guard.

N. U. Lineup Stays the Same.

Coach Dutch Lonborg probably will start the Northwestern lineup that met Carelton. Les Harman, a substitute last year, led the Wildcats in scoring against Carleton. The veteran Jim Currie will be the other forward. Bob Koble, center, a senior as is Currie, played well defensively in his first game and his perfected push shot from the free throw line accounted for four field goals.

Ad Vance and Bernie Davis apparently will develop into about the best pair of guards Northwestern has had in recent years. They will be supported by the veteran Bob Voigts.

Chicago, victorious in its first two games, will face Marquette university tonight in Milwaukee. The Hilltoppers lost a hard fought engagement to Wisconsin last Monday, 27 to 26, and Chicago will have more difficulty than was anticipated. Coach Bill Chandler of Marquette plans to start only one sophomore, Bill Komenich, a guard from Gary, Ind. The team will be rounded out by Bob Deneen, Harvard, Ill., and Glenn Adams, Carpentersville, Ill., forwards; Erwin Graf, Elgin, Ill., center, and Dave Quabius, Milwaukee, guard.

Notre Dame at Wisconsin.

Victorious in their early games with Kalamazoo college and Ball State Teachers, Notre Dame tonight invades Madison to meet Wisconsin. Coach George Keogan took ten players on the trip and he still insists that it is too early to tell just how good the Notre Dame varsity will be. Making the trip to Wisconsin were Du Charme, Ellis, Ertel, Caglione, Klier, Ryan, Irska, Sadowski, Smith, and Ziegenhorn. Members of last year's basketball squad who returned this week from Southern California have not worked out with the squad. In this group is Earl Brown, one of the best guards in the central states.

Illinois' varsity will meet Washington university, but this game will be preceded by a game between the Illinois B team and Illinois college. Huddie Hellmich, former Illini captain, is coach of the Washington quintet. Illinois college is coached by Bud Riegel, another former Illinois captain. The double-header was scheduled by Coach Doug Mills in an effort to get an early line on his sophomore players. Illinois expects to depend on first year players this season.

Three sophomores are listed in the Illinois lineup that will start against Washington, which boasts a quintet of seniors. John Drish, sophomore from Morton High school, Cicero, is at forward with Hapac, a former team mate at Morton. Lewis [Pick] Dehner, senior letter man, is at center.

At guards, Howie Cronk, Anderson, Ind., and Harold Shapiro, Rochester, N. Y., sophomores, have the edge, but Coach Mills may switch to a pair of letter men, Colin Handlon, junior, and George [Jay] Wardley, senior.

Michigan Plays State.

Michigan's basketball team, first product of Bernie Oosterbaan as head coach will open its season against Michigan State. The Spartans, promising to be one of the strongest teams in State history, will be favored over the Wolverines, rebuilt this year following the graduation of John Townsend.

Indiana will continue to depend largely on sophomores in its second game of the season tonight with Miami university. In the tentative lineup Coach Branch McCracken has said he will name the forwards from among Bob Dro, Paul Armstrong, and Tom Motter, sophomores, and Bill Johnson. Capt. Ernest Andres probably will pair with Marvin Huffman, a junior, at the guards.

Ohio State, with fine prospects according to reports from Columbus, will give its squad its first test tonight against George Washington college, Washington, D. C. Minnesota plays its third game of the season with Carleton college.

Armour Tech, already victorious in two games, moves to Lake Forest tonight. Last year Lake Forest won two games from Armour.

TOLES WINS OVER BARLUND IN HARD TEN ROUND BOUT

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Roscoe Toles, Detroit heavyweight, banged his way to an unanimous decision over Gunnar Barlund of Finland in ten rounds of savage fighting in the Hippodrome tonight. A crowd of 5,000 fans paid $7,080 to see Toles make his New York debut.

Only Barlund's amazing resistance to punishment and his remarkable recuperative powers saved him from a knockout. Toles' powerful rights to the jaw and head staggered Gunnar, and his knees buckled under him.

Toles weakened under fire. His right was like dynamite for two rounds. It almost knocked out Barlund in the second. It rocked Barlund perilously in the fourth and again in the sixth. But a withering body fire from Barlund sapped Toles' punching strength. Both his marksmanship and effectiveness suffered.

Defenders Defeat Bartels in New Century Basketball

The Chicago Defenders defeated the Bartels, 35 to 31, in the feature game of the New Century Basketball league last night in the Marigold Gardens. In other games the Northtown Currency five triumphed over the Queen of Angels squad, 23 to 19, and the Rookery Club won from the Wood-Davis team, 56 to 40.

C. Y. O. Boxers Batter Way to Sixteen Titles

the diligent offense of Thomas, who won all the way.

John Gendell, the young Greek, who stands only 5 feet 7 inches tall, despite his registration in the 175 pound class, showed that he thought nothing of Ed Chapman's 6 feet 1 inch, and superior reach, by maintaining a two handed barrage against the Chapman withers for three rounds and a well earned decision.

Al Noto Loses.

The heavyweight struggle, third on the open schedule, saw two Corpus Christi teammates, Southpaw Fred Washington and Little Jeff Hampton, wrangle through three rounds, with Washington receiving the decision after the hard working Hampton had failed to connect. Jeff toiled so industriously, in fact, that there was a spell in the last round where he retired to a corner while the larger Washington belabored him with a will.

The 1937 flyweight finalists were halted in any victory designs they might have had in the first two open bouts in the light classes. First came Al Noto of Presentation, a former novice winner and runnerup last year. Al found the sharper boxing of Willie Moon of Corpus Christi a trifle too complex for him and Willie a colored lad with a Skeezix hair-do, ran off with the 112 pound championship.

Bausone Brothers Win.

The 118 pound battle saw Walter Cavalieri of Holy Rosary, the 112 champion, who was attempting to graduate into the bantamweight title rôle, lose to Frank Bausone of St. Mel. The latter was a little too smart for Cavalieri and thus two C. Y. O. trophies will rest in the Bausone manse out on Monroe street, for Frank's brother Tony, earlier had taken the novice flyweight honors of the evening.

Wayne Fidler, a handy looking eighteen year old who won the novice feather crown two years ago, came into his own as a big timer by giving Mike Sanchez, a native of Louisiana, a thorough lesson in boxing. Wayne sent his punches where he wished to, while Mike swung too wildly to score to any appreciable degree.

The novice program of eight bouts showed that these tyros were not quite as unversed as the title of their class would indicate. They yielded six decisions, one knockout, and a technical knockout.

Barton Scores Knockout.

The aforesaid knockout was scored by John Barton of Corpus Christi, who caught Gene Campbell of St. Matthew with a right hand midway through the second round of their 175-pound argument. The technical knockout was set down in favor of Anthony Zaze of St. Anthony's of Cicero, when his opponent, Edward Henrich of St. Edwards, suffered a leg injury in the final round.

The C. Y. O. Saturday morning classes, in which the tinier lads are encouraged to take up boxing, put over another championship graduate when 16 year old Bobby La Civita outpunched Peter Stancik of St. Anthony of Cicero to win the 126-pound novice title. Bobby had been taking the Saturday morning instructions for four and one-half years before last night's successful title bid.

ILLNESS OF BAER HALTS HEARING OF DAMAGE SUIT

Rome, N. Y., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—The $50,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. William W. Wallis of Rome against Max Baer, which was to be heard before Justice James T. Cross today, was postponed until Jan. 9 when attorneys for the former world's champion said he was confined to his Sacramento, Cal., home by a nose ailment.

Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, were summoned to appear here. Charles E. Hardies, Amsterdam, N. Y., Baer's attorney, said he was unable to give details concerning the boxer's illness. Mrs. Wallis charged she was injured when the bleachers collapsed in Baer's training camp in Speculator, N. Y., in September, 1935.

Wheaton College Five Faces Elmhurst Tonight

Wheaton college will play the Elmhurst basketball team in the Wheaton gymnasium tonight. The crusaders are seeking their third successive victory, having already defeated Joliet Junior college and the Chicago Teachers college this season.

Elmhurst, with the largest squad in its history, including eleven veterans, will try to reverse the 1937 results when Wheaton won both games.

Jackson Junior College Five Beats Olivet, 39-27

Olivet, Mich., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Led by John Magira, who scored 14 points, Jackson Junior college defeated Olivet, 39 to 27, tonight.

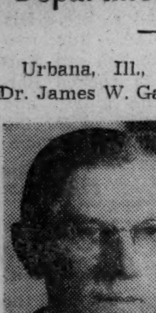
DR. J. W. GARNER, AUTHORITY ON WORLD LAW, DIES

Chief of Political Science Department at U. of Ill.

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Dr. James W. Garner, professor of political science at the University of Illinois, and recognized as one of the world's foremost authorities on international law, died in Burnham hospital, Champaign, today following a ten days' illness. He was stricken while attending a concert by Lily Pons here Nov. 28, the illness being diagnosed as meningitis.



Dr. J. W. Garner.

Dr. Garner was the author of numerous books and a noted lecturer. He was president of the International Institute of Public Law, and associate editor of the American Journal of International Law. He was an outspoken advocate of international relations based upon law and justice.

Born in Mississippi.

Dr. Garner was born Nov. 22, 1871, on a farm at Summit, Pike county, Mississippi. He received the degree of bachelor of science from Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical college in 1892; master of philosophy, University of Chicago, 1898; and doctor of philosophy, Columbia university, 1902.

Honorary degrees were awarded him by the University of Calcutta, India, 1922; Oberlin university, 1924; University of Lyons, France, 1926; and Columbia university, 1929. In 1926 he was named a chevalier in the French Legion of Honor.

Early High Teacher.

He married Miss Theresa Leggett of Leggett, Miss., in 1895. He taught in Mississippi high schools in early life and later at Bradley Polytechnic institute, Peoria; Columbia university, and the University of Pennsylvania.

In 1904, Dr. Garner became professor of political science in the University of Illinois. He then was the only man teaching the subject, having fifty students. There now are 1,400 students in the department and thirteen instructors.

BITE INTO CAKE BRINGS 2 ACHING MOLARS AND $450

Andrew Sutton, 31 years old, a well digger of Zion, likes devil's food cake with chocolate frosting. The bakery department of Zion Industries, Inc., run by General Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva, makes that kind of cake.

On Oct. 23, 1936, Sutton bought a 10 cent devil's food cake and took it home for dinner. He bit into it eagerly. Then he jumped from the table with a pained yell.

Sutton told all about it yesterday to a jury before Judge William L. Pierce of Belvidere, sitting in the Circuit court in Waukegan. "When I bit into the cake," he testified, "I bit into a half inch nail that was in the cake." He contended the nail had ruined two good molars and had caused them to pain constantly ever since. He thought he should get $10,000 damages. The jury awarded him $450.

MISS MARY VOSE, EVANSTON SOCIAL WORKER, IS DEAD

Miss Mary Richardson Vose, 58 years old, member of a pioneer Evanston family and an active welfare worker, died yesterday in her home at 824 Forest avenue, in the suburb. She was the daughter of the late William M. R. Vose, early Chicago banker and real estate man who began building in Evanston in 1872.

Miss Vose was graduated from the Northwestern university music school and from a Chicago school for social service training. From 1912 to 1915 she was managing director of the Provident association, a charitable institution in Topeka, Kas. Later she worked for the Red Cross and other agencies in Chicago.

Two brothers, Frederic P. and Walter S., survive. Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Monday in the Second Presbyterian church of Evanston.

CANCER 'HEALER' FILES AS PAUPER; SEEKS FREEDOM

Attorneys for Lester [Old Doc] Tilton, self styled cancer healer, filed a pauper's petition yesterday before Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court. The petition seeks Tilton's release from the Bridewell. In 1933 Tilton was sentenced to one to five years in prison and was fined $2,000 on a charge of conspiracy to violate the state medical practice act.

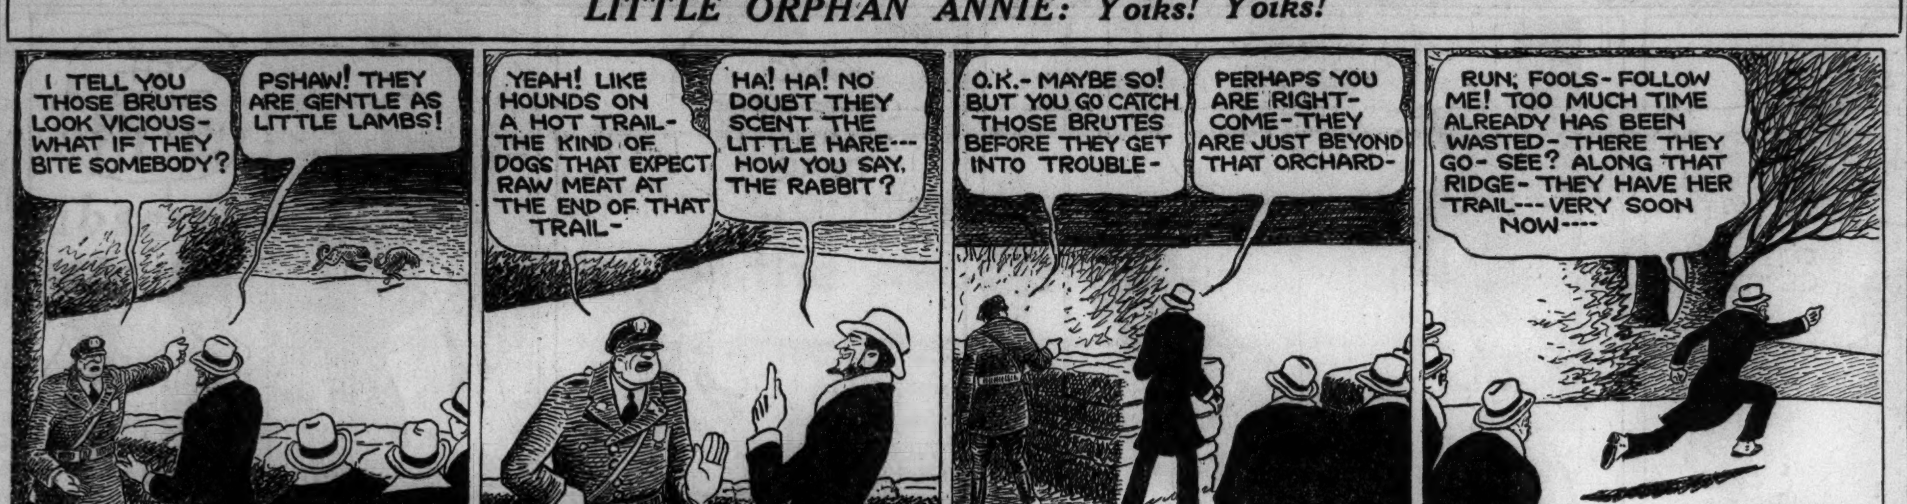
Last September he was released from Joliet penitentiary and was taken to the Bridewell to work out the fine at $1.50 a day, which would take more than three years. The pauper's petition asserted that Tilton is unable to pay the fine and should not be forced to work it out. Judge McKinley set the hearing for next Thursday.

Greek Dictator Makes Self Boss of Church and School

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 9.—Dictator John Metaxas today assumed direct charge of education and public worship. He took over the ministry of education. Dictator Metaxas warned that he would "bring order into the church."

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Yoiks! Yoiks!



I TELL YOU THOSE BRUTES LOOK VICIOUS- WHAT IF THEY BITE SOMEBODY?
PSHAW! THEY ARE GENTLE AS LITTLE LAMBS!
12-10-38
YEAH! LIKE HOUNDS ON A HOT TRAIL- THE KIND OF DOGS THAT EXPECT RAW MEAT AT THE END OF THAT TRAIL-
HA! HA! NO DOUBT THEY SCENT THE LITTLE HARE--- HOW YOU SAY, THE RABBIT?
O.K.- MAYBE SO! BUT YOU GO CATCH THOSE BRUTES BEFORE THEY GET INTO TROUBLE-
PERHAPS YOU ARE RIGHT- COME-THEY ARE JUST BEYOND THAT ORCHARD-
RUN; FOOLS- FOLLOW ME! TOO MUCH TIME ALREADY HAS BEEN WASTED- THERE THEY GO- SEE? ALONG THAT RIDGE- THEY HAVE HER TRAIL--- VERY SOON NOW----

Gallus J. Bader, 74 years old, a prominent banker in Gary, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor, and Whiting for many years until his retirement in 1930, died yesterday in La Porte, Ind., after a week's illnes. During the depression he used his personal fortune in an attempt to save several banks of which he was an officer.

GROUND BROKEN FOR SOUTH SIDE TRADE SCHOOL

Ground was broken yesterday for the construction of the $3,150,000 vocational school at Anthony avenue and 87th street. Mayor Kelly and other public officials participated in the ceremonies, which were attended by more than 1,500 school children and parents.

Mayor Kelly dug the first clod of earth with a stainless steel shovel presented to him by Bennett M. Livezey, chairman of the event. The mayor said that the new school would present new opportunities for thousands of Chicago children.

The building will be completed by the school's opening term next fall. Construction is being financed by the board of education and a federal grant.

TAX COLLECTORS TO WEAR SMILES AND BADGES, TOO

All tax collectors in the county treasurer's office are going to wear smiles hereafter. Naturally, you can't find the man you paid, again, just by asking for that fellow with a smile. Well, Treasurer John Toman's going to fix that. He'll have all his tax collectors wear badges with numbers. See? You can just call up and ask for Smile 79 and get your man, if that's his number.

The reason: The treasurer wants tax payers given a friendly greeting and courteous treatment. Hence the smile. He doesn't want his collectors to forget. Hence the numbers. You might want to report them.

Youth Dies of Tularemia Contracted from Rabbit

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 9.—(AP)—George Borror, 16 years old, of Milford, died at the Watseka hospital of tularemia, rabbit fever, which he contracted from a rabbit that he cleaned four days ago.

LADY ANNE GRENFELL, WIFE OF LABRADOR MISSION FOUNDER, DIES

Boston, Mass., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Lady Anne Elizabeth Grenfell, wife of Sir Wilfred Grenfell, famous founder of the Grenfell missions in Labrador, died today in Boston after a long illness. She was 53 years old.

Active with her husband in his work among the natives on the Labrador coast, she was particularly interested in furthering the industrial activities of those served by the missions.

Born in Lake Forest, Ill., Nov. 11, 1885, daughter of a colonel who fought under Gen. Robert E. Lee in the civil war, Lady Grenfell was educated at Bryn Mawr college. She was married to Sir Wilfred in Chicago Nov. 18, 1909.

325,000 Lb. Hydraulic Press Made in U. S. for France

Tonawanda, N. Y., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Six freight cars were being made ready today to transport a 325,000 pound hydraulic press to the seaboard. The mighty press will be shipped to the French air ministry for use in stamping out airplane parts. The manufacturer said the press is capable of exerting 2,500 tons pressure per square inch.

Charles Booth, 70, British Ship Magnate, Dies in Fall

LONDON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Charles Booth, 70 years old, Liverpool shipping magnate, fell to his death today from a bedroom window at the home of a London relative. The British Press association described his death as accidental. Booth was chairman of Alfred Booth & Co., Ltd., and of the Booth Steamship company, Ltd. He is survived by his widow, the former Grace Wells of New York.

DREYFUS OF U. S. SUED ON FALSE ARREST CHARGE

Oberlin M. Carter, sometimes called the American Dreyfus, was made a defendant yesterday in a $100,000 suit for false arrest. The suit was brought in Circuit court by Russell A. Miller, owner of a garage at 666 Green Bay road, Winnetka. Miller charged that Carter had him arrested for automobile theft after he had towed Carter's automobile in after an accident. Four Wilmette policemen and the police magistrate were named defendants with Carter.

Carter, 81 years old, lives at 2947 Wilson avenue. He has been fighting forty years to clear his name of a fraud charge. He was convicted at a court martial in 1898, dismissed from the army, and sent to prison on a charge of defrauding the government of $3,000,000 while an army captain. Carter blamed political enemies.

Continue Erratic Driver's Case; Can't Wake Him Up!

Bernard J. Callahan was asleep in the bull pen of the Safety court yesterday when his name was called for arraignment on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Four hours earlier his automobile had crashed into a street car in front of 1462 Elston avenue. Bailifs were unable to arouse Callahan. Judge Stephen Adamowski continued the case to Monday. Callahan is 30 years old and lives at 5211 Montrose avenue.

SEEK A COUNCIL COMMITTEE FOR CITY PLANNING

The city council yesterday referred to its finance committee a request for Mayor Kelly to appoint an aldermanic committee of five members for future Chicago planning. Ald. John Egan [13th] made the request.

Soon the land use survey will be started, Ald. Egan said, and the planning committee will be needed to study the results. He also suggested that a new city department for planning Chicago be set up in the 1939 budget.

"The program of improvement and development of Chicago along a carefully planned schedule determined by the findings of the survey will cover a period of many years in the future," he said. "This work, particularly slum clearance, should be directed by competent and well qualified persons."

FIRST SUBWAY CONTRACT GETS O. K. OF COUNCIL

The city council yesterday authorized the award of a contract for the building of the first section of the State street subway to the Herlihy Mid-Continent Construction company. Mayor Kelly immediately signed the order. The contract provides for the excavation and construction of the tunnel between Illinois street and Bellevue place at a cost of $2,744,604.

Philip Harrington, city subway commissioner, said he expects to make the award to the Herlihy company on Monday. The concern was the lowest of eight bidders. Ceremonies to mark the beginning of the work will be held Saturday, Dec. 17, at 3 p. m. The celebration will be held in State street near Chicago avenue.

Mother Knows

That when she was a youngster she took Father John's Medicine for colds—so now she gives it to her little girl to increase resistance to colds, and to develop more vigorous health.

Its successful use by millions during the past 84 years is a most convincing proof of value. It must be good.

DODD'S PAYMENT IN HIT-RUN CASE TO BE RETURNED

Richmond, Va., Dec. 9.—(AP)—George E. Haw, Richmond attorney, said tonight a $25 check tendered to Lespinia W. Grimes, mother of the Negro child, critically injured in what state police described as a hit-run accident near Hanover courthouse Monday, would be returned to former Ambassador William E. Dodd Sr.

Dodd is free under $2,000 bond pending his arraignment at Ashland, Va., Dec. 17 on a warant charging him with being the driver of the car which struck the child.

The letter from Dodd to the mother of the child, made public here today, said the reason he "did not stop to talk things over was that I thought the child had escaped. Besides, I did not want the newspapers all over the country to publish a story about the accident. You know how newspapers love to exaggerate things of this sort."

MEDAL AWARDED DOG FOR SAVING LIFE OF WOMAN

Alfie, an English bull terrier, got a medal yesterday. It was presented by Dr. W. A. Young of the Anti-Cruelty society on behalf of the American Humane association. On the medal was inscribed "To Alfie, a dog, for saving a woman's life." The woman is his mistress, Mrs. Adele Severn, 648 Marengo avenue, Forest Park. Alfie was still a pup when she found he was deaf. She decided to keep him, anyway.

She and Alfie were walking across the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks at Hannah avenue, Forest Park, on Nov. 1, when a freight train, backing slowly, knocked her down. She fell with her legs across the track, but clung to the leash. Five persons saw her plight, none near enough to aid. Alfie saw the train, too. He pulled Mrs. Severn clear just before the train rolled by.

MEMBER OF BUND STRUCK IN COURT; ASSAILANT FLEES

William L. Wernecke, a member of the German-American bund and an alleged Nazi sympathizer, was struck in the face yesterday during a fracas in the Boys' court. His assailant escaped.

The assault occurred before court opened. The cases to be heard included those of ten men arrested Nov. 30 near a bund meeting at 2349 Byron street, and nine men seized after a riot on Nov. 28 at a meeting of the Silver Shirt League of America, an anti-Semitic and pro-Nazi group.

Judge Eugene J. Holland continued the cases to Dec. 14 and 15, respectively, so that they may be heard by the regular court judge, Judge Joseph Graber. The assault on Wernecke occurred, witnesses said, after he made a slighting remark to Defense Attorney Roland V. Libonati.

GENERAL PROBE OF M'KESSON'S AFFAIRS STARTS

Vast Missing Assets Still a 'Mystery.'

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Federal, state, and county agencies joined forces today in a searching inquiry into the tangled affairs of McKesson & Robbins, Inc. Yesterday the big drug company was placed in receivership after the discovery of an alleged overstatement of assets of at least $10,000,000.

Attorney General Homer Cummings ordered the federal grand jury to ascertain whether the firm had violated any federal law. New York's attorney general, John J. Bennett Jr., sent two of his assistants to the New York Stock exchange to discuss the matter with officials there. Acting District Attorney Sewell Tyng went to the federal building to determine what New York county authorities could do in the case.

SEC Has Entered Inquiry.

Another federal agency, the Securities and Exchange commission, already was involved in the inquiry. Judge Alfred C. Coxe approved the appearance of the SEC as a party to the company's reorganization proceedings under section 10 of the Chandler act, the new federal bankruptcy procedure. In addition the SEC has opened its own private investigation.

In Washington Cummings said his department had decided to present evidence to the grand jury following a conference there last night in which Assistant Attorney General Brien McMahon, chief of the criminal division; Robert Kline, attorney for the SEC; James J. Caffrey, the commission's regional administrator in New York; and Frank Noonan, of the staf of United States District Attorney Lamar Hardy, had participated.

Grand Jury to Start at Once.

Cummings said the grand jury investigation would be started immediately but did not indicate what, if any, federal statutes it was believed may be involved.

The stock exchange gave out testimony of Julian F. Thompson, treasurer of the company, and W. L. Cummings, a director. Cummings said that "the facts are really comparatively simple, but they are so darned fantastic that we still can't believe them."

Cummings testified that officers of the company whose suspicions were aroused only recently, have discovered that the crude drug department of the company, which year after year reported big profits was apparently "just a shell" and that the assets it claimed may not exist at all.

To maintain this fiction, Cummings said, the company's auditors received financial reports of an English firm, ostensibly compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, but now denounced by that company as clever forgeries.

"Warehouses" Only Addresses.

A Canadian company through which the crude drug department dealt, he said, proved to consist of an office in Montreal with one employé. "Warehouses" of this company in Canada were found to be nothing but mailing addresses.

The two witnesses said that perhaps the most baffling aspect of the fraud was the motive for it, and he could not even guess at that except to say he had been given a hint that perhaps bootlegging of alcohol was involved.

F. Donald Coster, president of the company, Cummings testified, is an expert in crude drugs, and the crude drug department was "entirely under his personal supervision."

Other Developments.

Other developments in the case were:

Representatives of the accounting firm of Price, Waterhouse & Co., who worked for McKesson and Robbins, were ordered by New York's attorney general to produce copies of their audits and other records tomorrow.

The Manufacturers' Trust company resigned as trustee for the company's 5½ per cent bonds, effective Jan. 9.

In Hartford, Conn., the two receivers appointed announced that they were winding up their activities, considering themselves supplanted by the Chandler act trustees.

The securities of the company continued to swing sharply in the New York over-the-counter market. In the morning, the bonds were 64 bid, 67 asked. Later they slipped to 59 bid, 61 asked, but strengthened to 60 bid, 61 asked, before the close. Both the preferred and the common stocks were weaker, the former quoted at 10 bid, 12 asked, and the latter at 1⅝ bid, 2⅞ asked.

TAX FREE U. S. HOUSING BOOSTS PUBLIC LEVIES

Tax exemption for federal housing projects means heavier taxes for the general public, Newton C. Farr, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, said yesterday. He made the statement in a debate with Miss Elizabeth Wood, secretary of the Chicago Housing authority on "Public Housing and Taxation." The debate was held at a luncheon given by the Metropolitan Housing council at the Hotel Sherman.

Miss Wood said a large group of families was unable to pay rentals high enough to enable private real estate interests to build housing projects. The government had to help, she said, with heavy subsidies in the form of tax exemption.

Over 10 Billion Is Subscribed for U. S. Bonds

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—The nation's investors offered to lend the government the near record breaking total of $10,300,000,000 last Monday, the treasury department announced today.

Cash subscriptions to the current financing operation, however, will be allotted for the first time on a straight percentage basis, whereas subscriptions to previous financing had been allotted in full up to $1,000. Evidence of padding on "a large scale" caused the change, a treasury official said.

Subscriptions for the 2¾ per cent bonds were allotted 7 per cent, and subscriptions for the new notes 9 per cent. The treasury estimated that the allotment for both issues will probably total $740,000,000.

Find Subscriptions Padded.

As an illustration of the padding in subscriptions, treasury officials pointed out that in some instances family trusts entered subscriptions in the name of each member of the family. In one case, they said, a cemetery association entered subscriptions in the names of all its lot owners, some of whom were dead.

Officials explained that the treasury's action in allotting all subscriptions on a straight percentage basis was taken as a matter of fairness to bona fide subscribers. Doubt was expressed that bidders could pay for all the securities they subscribed for because the bids amount to nearly one-fifth of the nation's bank deposits.

Issues Total 700 Millions.

In Monday's financing operation the treasury offered to sell for cash $400,000,000 worth of 2¾ per cent long term bonds and $300,000,000 of 1⅛ per cent short term notes. It also offered to exchange either new bonds or notes for $941,613,750 of old notes maturing next March.

Cash subscriptions for the bonds aggregated $5,732,000,000. Subscriptions for the notes totaled $3,646,000,000. Holders of the March notes accepted more than 97 per cent of the exchange offer.

One reason for the heavy subscriptions, officials said, was the prospect that the new securities could be sold at a profit immediately. This prospect has already materialized. Although the securities subscribed for last Monday will not actually be issued until Dec. 15, today's market price on rights to buy the securities put a premium of nearly $2 per $100 on the bonds and notes.

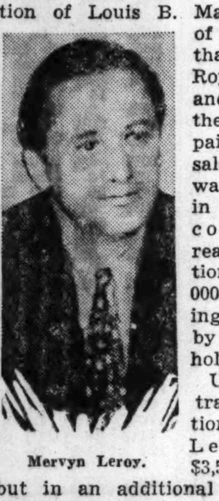
Reveal Loew's Producer Got $300,000 Pay

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A deposition of Louis B. Mayer, chairman of Loew's Inc., that Mervyn LeRoy, producer and director for the company, was paid an annual salary of $300,000 was read today in State Supreme court. It was read in connection with a $30,000,000 accounting suit brought by minority stockholders.



Mervyn Leroy.

Under one contract, the deposition declared, LeRoy received $3,500 a week, but in an additional contract provision was made for further payments to make a total of $300,000.

Mayer's deposition also described an arrangement for the payment of about $900,000 to the estate of the late Irving Thalberg, producer, in settlement of a claim for a share in company profits, and the employment of Norma Shearer, Thalberg's widow, at $150,000 a picture for six pictures.

The company, the chairman said, had invested $800,000 in a production of Marie Antoinette and if Miss Shearer had left the company, as she was said to have threatened to do, the picture might "just as well be thrown out the window."

NEBRASKA CITY MAY GIVE UP USE OF PWA POWER

Ord, Neb., Dec. 9.—[Special.]—The city council today passed a resolution branding as unsatisfactory its electrical service from the North Loup public power and irrigation district. The district is one of the Public Works administration hydro-electric projects in Nebraska.

Earlier, the council adopted another resolution notifying the district that the city has taken steps to guard its forfeiture rights should it be deemed necessary to go into court for abrogation of its contract. Many consumers have complained about current interruptions, the council said.

Fuller Brush Company to Pay Employe Bonus

Directors of Fuller Brush company, Hartford, Conn., yesterday voted a Christmas bonus of one week's salary to its employés. The company has about 1,100 employés. A. C. Fuller, president, estimated sales this year will show a gain of about 25 per cent over 1937.

Toy Industry—1.

The American toy industry, which once again is looking to its all important Christmas business, takes in an estimated $230,000,000 each year. Five hundred established toy makers compete for favored places on the annual list prepared by the kiddies with the aid of parents or relatives.

Psychologists estimate that 95 per cent of the toys on the market today are streamlined versions of playthings which were popular a generation or so ago. Parents or fond relatives choose toys they consciously or unconsciously want to play with themselves, psychologists say, or they select those which recall memories of their own childhood. Thus, the demand continues along somewhat standard lines, and the child's development usually is of secondary importance.

In this connection, psychologists cite as an example of the "paradoxical" demand one toy store which lists half a dozen adults as regular customers. Each has bought more than $1,000 worth of toy soldiers and equipment for his own amusement. Also, many women doll collectors have standing orders for every new character doll placed on the market.

RAIL FREIGHT RISES; VOLUME EXCEEDS YEAR AGO FOR THIRD WEEK

Freight car loadings in the week ended Dec. 3 climbed 4.6 per cent, or 28,761 cars above the total for the same period a year ago, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The advance last week was the third consecutive gain over last year's levels.

Loadings during the week totaled 649,086 cars, an increase of 87,002 cars, or 15.5 per cent over the preceding week's total, which was reduced by the Thanksgiving holiday.

The advance last week was more than seasonal, according to the Dow-Jones seasonally adjusted index.

COURT ORDERS UTILITY TO PAY ODLUM'S CLAIM

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday entered the formal order finally approving the payment of $3,200,000 by the trustee of the Utilities Power and Light corporation in settlement of claims held by the Atlas corporation, New York investment trust. Of the claim $1,200,000 consisted of a commission to Floyd B. Odlum, president of Atlas, for negotiating the sale of the English properties of Utilities Power.

The claims are to be paid at once to save $750 a day interest, Roger Q. White, attorney for Charles True Adams, trustee of Utilities Power, declared.

Associated Investing, an affiliate of the Associated Gas & Electric company, had at first objected to the settlement but withdrew its formal protest. Associated Investing owns a substantial amount of securities of Utilities Power.

Burke Flails Evils in U. S. Labor Policy

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special.]—Charges that "grievous wrongs have been perpetrated in the name of government" in carrying out labor policies were made today by Senator Edward R. Burke of Nebraska in an address before the congress of American industry of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Senator Burke called on industry, labor, and the government to determine whether they were following the proper course. He assailed the administration of the Wagner act and said that it should be amended. He said he had such amendments in mind and was hopeful of their passage.

"It is essential for employers, employés, and the government each to reconsider its position and determine whether in all respects each has been following the correct course in labor relations," he declared.

Urges Labor to Coöperate.

"The old days of complete employer domination are now a thing of the past. Labor, organized and unorganized, must be ready to do its part. Radical and misguided leadership should be renounced, weapons of violence and intimidation discarded.

"We now come to the third factor, government. That grevious wrongs have been perpetrated in the name of government, consecrated to liberty and dedicated to fair dealing between citizen and citizen, is now the widely accepted belief from one end of the country to the other.

"Either because of defects in the Wagner act or in its administration or both, instead of diminishing the causes of labor disputes, the enforcement of this act has multiplied such causes. The board has so used its tremendous power as to harry and harass every employer it could bring within its reach."

Adopt Labor Program.

The industrialists concluded their regular session with approval of the following tenets:

1. The proper function of government in labor relations is to insure equal rights for both employer and employé with due regard for the public interest and the rights of individual citizens.

2. The right of workers to self-organization and to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing should include the full and free voluntary exercise of such right without interference, restraint, or intimidation from any source.

3. When controversy has reached a stage where legal or judicial action becomes necessary, such action should be in accordance with our long established rules of judicial procedure.

4. Any legislation affecting the relations of employer and employé should in its provision and administration observe the constitutional rights of free speech, right of property and the right to work.

Wisconsin Battery Maker to Shift Work, Cut Staf

Madison, Wis., Dec. 9.—(AP)—W. W. Cargill, president of the Ray-O-Vac company, battery maker, announced today about 600 employés would be laid off late this month or early in January. He said a major part of the business will be transferred to the firm's subsidiary plant at Lancaster, O. Cargill said production costs at Lancaster are lower and the Madison plant would be used only for such production as the subsidiary cannot supply. The pay roll loss here was estimated at $65,000 monthly.

North American Aviation Gets Order for Army Planes

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The army contracted today for seventy-four observation military airplanes and spare parts to cost $2,346,128. Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, announced the award of the contract to the North American Aviation, Inc., Inglewood, Cal. Fifty of the planes are for National Guard organizations and twenty-four are for the regular army.

MEXICO TO SWAP OIL ABROAD FOR CASH, MACHINES

Deal to Represent About 17 Million.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Mexico completed negotiations today for the sale of about $17,000,000 worth of oil in exchange for cash and machinery and supplies, expected to come mostly from Germany.

Germany already has become a heavy seller of various goods here since Mexico expropriated British and American oil companies last March 18. Recently Germany has been invading relatively new fields, selling chemicals, typewriters, office machinery, and supplies which she did not market here before.

Representatives of United States business firms here say they have noted increasing competition from Germany and in some cases have virtually lost their own entire Mexican business.

American Negotiates Deal.

The oil deal completed today is with W. R. Davis, New York oil man. Mexico earlier this year concluded a transaction with Davis for 10,000,000 barrels of oil on the same plan.

Although President Lazaro Cardenas announced shortly after the March expropriations that Mexico would not sell oil to Fascist nations, he later said that "if the democratic nations won't buy our oil then we must sell where we can."

Some United States supply firms which had been selling oil machinery, parts, and supplies to the Mexican government have been rejecting such orders recently.

Suarez said the Davis deal was on a basis of about 40 per cent cash and 60 per cent credits. Davis "naturally is at liberty to sell the oil where he wishes," Suarez added.

Trade Oil to Japan, Italy.

Since the March expropriations, Mexico also has exchanged various cargoes of oil for Japanese beans, and has sold oil to an Italian firm.

United States Ambassador Josephus Daniels called upon President Cardenas today to say farewell prior to leaving a week from today on a Christmas vacation in the United States. It was reported they discussed the Mexican government's plan, announced today, to expropriate and distribute to peasants rich sugar plantations owned by the United Sugar company, an American concern.

Although no official figures have been given regarding the amount of land to be taken over, the United Sugar company properties are estimated at about 75,000 acres.

U. S. to Scrutinize Deal.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—State department officials said today this government was inquiring into a reported barter deal between Mexico and Germany involving about $25,000,000 of oil taken from expropriated American oil properties in Mexico.

In the past the department has not intervened in such barter deals on a smaller scale. Now, however, it was said this government was extremely interested in the disposition of this oil until "effective and adequate compensation" is made as promised.

Sues Over Mexican Oil.

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A $1,500,000 damage suit, originating in Mexican oil, was filed in federal court today against the Royal Dutch interests by the Eastern States Petroleum company, an independent American bulk dealer and refiner.

Alleging a conspiracy to prevent Eastern States from selling Mexican oil in foreign markets, the suit named as defendants the Asiatic Petroleum corporation, the Shell Union Oil corporation, and the Anglo-Mexican Petroleum corporation, affiliates of the Royal Dutch company.

The complaint was filed under the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts. It charged threats and coercion had been used since last July to induce banks not to extend credit, oil brokers to refrain from selling its products and ship brokers to refuse to charter ships in order to block Eastern State's sales.

Foreign Currencies Fall in Terms of Dollar Value

Foreign currencies fell in value in terms of the dollar on exchange transactions yesterday. The British pound lost ⅛ cent, closing at $4.67. French francs were quoted 0.0025 cent lower at 2.63 cents.

Heads Manufacturers

HOWARD COONLEY.

New York, Dec. 9.—[Special]—Howard Coonley, chairman of the board of Walworth company, Inc., will be president of the National Association of Manufacturers next year, it was announced today. Coonley is 62 years old. He was born in Chicago and started his business career there as an office boy with a chocolate company.

Charles R. Hook, retiring president, will become chairman of the association's board of directors. The elections of the association are by the board of directors on the recommendation of a nominating committee. Hook is president of the American Rolling Mill Company.

Coonley has been with the Walworth company since 1913, when he joined as president. Since that time the company has grown from one plant to its present five. It manufactures valves, fittings and a complete line of pipe tools.

During the war, Coonley was a member of the emergency industrial commission of Massachusetts and vice-president of the Federal Emergency Fleet corporation. From 1925 to 1932 he was chief of the first chemical warfare procurement district.

WEEK'S OUTPUT OF AUTOS SETS 1938 HIGH MARK

Automobile production this week totaled 100,705 cars and trucks. It was the first time this year that output exceeded the 100,000 mark for a single week, Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., announced yesterday. Production last week was estimated at 97,795 units and in the like 1937 week the total was 85,763.

The increase was reported by Ward's as indicating that the automobile industry has "passed its crossroads" and is definitly on the way to an improved position over that of the model year recently closed.

The Automobile Manufacturers' association estimated factory sales of passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada were 383,000 in November. This was a gain of 78 per cent over the 215,296 total for October. It was the first month since October, 1937, that the total exceeded that of a corresponding month of the preceding year. November, 1937, sales totaled 376,629.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK DIVIDEND BOOSTED TO $8

Quarterly Payment of $2 Is Voted.

Directors of the First National bank of Chicago yesterday raised the annual dividend rate on the bank's shares from $6 to $8. A quarterly dividend of $2 a share was declared, payable Jan. 1, 1939, to stockholders of record Dec. 24.

The directors also voted to increase the bank's surplus account by $2,500,000 to $32,500,000. The addition was made by transferring that amount from undivided profits.

Yesterday's dividend action restores the rate which was maintained by the bank from 1923-'28. In 1929 the stock was placed on an $18 a year dividend basis, which was maintained until the end of 1931.

Dividend Cut, Then Omitted.

The rate was reduced to $12 a share in 1932. No dividend payments were made in the three years following, 1933-'35. Dividends were resumed at the rate of $1 quarterly in 1936, payments for the year totaling $4.50. In 1937 the rate was raised to $6 and dividends have been paid at this rate since.

The annual report of earnings will not be released until the annual meeting of stockholders next month. In the year ended Dec. 31, 1937, the bank reported a profit of $4,807,500, equal to $16.02 a share, after provision for doubtful accounts.

Continental Directors Meet.

Directors of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company held their regular meeting yesterday but took no dividend action. Dividends are considered twice yearly at the January and July meetings. The bank has been paying cash dividends on the common stock at the rate of $2 a year.

The bank has been using a large part of its earnings to pay off existing preferred stock. The amount remaining outstanding is $25,000,000.

It is considered likely that the directors may vote to distribute more of the earnings in cash dividends on the common stock when they meet next month.

A regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 and an extra of 75 cents were voted yesterday by directors of the Personal Loan and Savings bank. The dividends will be distributed Jan. 3 to stockholders of record Dec. 30. On Oct. 1 similar regular and extra disbursements were made.

BALABAN & KATZ TAKES $6,000,000 GROUP INSURANCE

A $6,000,000 group insurance plan which will protect employés of the Balaban and Katz corporation and subsidiaries was announced yesterday by John Balaban, secretary and treasurer. The entire cost will be borne by the companies, he said.

The plan, to become effective Dec. 15, is arranged by the Equitable Life Assurance society. It provides life, health, accident, and hospitalization insurance for more than 220 employés in the offices of the parent corporation and in more than 100 theaters in three states. The amounts of insurance are based on earnings, with $2,500 the maximum in the event of death.

HOLIDAY BUYING VOLUME FALLS BELOW YEAR AGO

Christmas purchases in department stores last week fell below the year ago volume, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The national average was 2 per cent lower.

The largest decline was recorded in the Chicago area and the only gain was made by the Boston district where sales rose 11 per cent.

In the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district store sales slumped 6.8 per cent. The biggest decrease was in Chicago where volume fell 8.8 per cent.

This week general retail sales rose to a new peak for the year, Dun & Bradstreet reported.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 9.—Price movements were virtually static on the stock market today. At the close the majority of leaders showed only fractional changes. Most of them were on the downside.

In the steels, United States Steel and Bethlehem kept above water. Others were mostly lower.

Satisfactory reports of automobile production aided motor shares for a time. Chrysler wiped out an early loss to close unchanged. General Motors, Continental and Yellow Truck sagged.

Glenn Martin was a weak spot in the aviation group, dropping 1¼ points. Mixed fractional changes prevailed in the rest of the division.

The weekly trade report showing a pickup in Christmas business was largely ignored by the merchandising section. Final quotations for such issues as Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Macy, and Woolworth were unchanged or slightly lower.

Last week's sharp expansion in freight loadings failed to bring any life to rail issues. Instead, such leaders as Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, New York Central, and Chesapeake and Ohio gave ground.

Public utility issues displayed early firmness on some fair buying. Then they quieted to relinquish their gains and more.

Oils receded small fractions for the most part.

Coppers ruled around Thursday's final quotations.

Transamerica recovered a large fraction on moderate support.

Arrangements were made today for transfer of a membership in the New York Stock exchange at $70,000 a decline of $1,000 from the previous sale.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Rail loans and United States government issues accounted for a substantial number of gains in an uneven bond market today.

Lively demand for bonds of Chicago and Eastern Illinois and Chicago Great Western followed Washington reports the Reconstruction Finance corporation would supply $11,500,000 to further reorganization of both properties. Chicago and Eastern Illinois 5s of '51 pushed up 2¾ points on large volume, and the 5s certificates scored an equal gain. Chicago Great Western 4s of '59 climbed 1¾.

Some United States government issues moved up to new high marks for the December upturn, but as a whole the list was uneven, closing 5-32ds higher to 4-32ds down. Some Italian loans took another tumble on the rift in relations with France over a territorial dispute.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were irregular yesterday in dull trading. THE TRIBUNE average of twenty stocks closed at 10.74, off 0.05 from Thursday. Volume was 55,000 shares including 14,800 Commonwealth Edison rights. The rights closed at 13 cents, off 1 cent.

Chicago corporation common, with 9,250 shares traded, led in volume. The issue closed at 1⅝, off ⅛. LaSalle Extension finished ⅜ higher at 3. Commonwealth Edison company gained ⅛ at 26¼. Swift & Co. dropped ¼ to 18½.

Bank Stocks.

Shares of the First National bank yesterday advanced $5 in brisker trading. The rise followed announcement by the directors that the annual dividend rate will be increased from $6 to $8 a share. The stock closed at $227 bid, $231 asked. Other leading Chicago bank stocks closed irregular in light dealings.

Commodities

Most commodity futures prices were lower yesterday. Futures of copper, rubber, cocoa, and hides, however, moved upward moderately.

A reduction of 0.10 cent a pound in the price of lead was the most important feature of the day. The initial cut was made by the American Smelting and Refining company, which reduced prices to 4.75 cents a pound at New York and 4.60 cents a pound at St. Louis. Lead futures slipped 0.09 to 0.10 cent a pound on the cut.

Other futures which closed lower were wool tops, zinc, tin, silk, coffee, and sugar.

The copper market was quiet. Domestic copper remained unchanged at 11.25 cents a pound, but quotations for export dropped again. Final trades were made at 10.32½ cents a pound.

AM. TELEPHONE NET OPERATING INCOME FALLS

OctoberTotal$1,227,320; Sink in Ten Months.

Net operating income of American Telephone and Telegraph company in October amounted to $1,227,320, the company reported yesterday. Income was $1,584,739 in the same month last year. The figures cover operating activities only, and are computed after taxes but before interest and other revenues received.

Harry C. Hatch reports distillery profiting.

Net income in October this year was $604,926 against $936,385 in the like 1937 month. Dividends received from subsidiary and other companies, which constitute the major part of the company's income, are not accrued in the accounts monthly but are included usually in March, June, September, and December. Dividends are included in the item "other income" in the month in which they are taken into account and accordingly the amount reported in any month for net income does not reflect the rate of earnings of the company for that month.

Ten Months' Figures.

In the first ten months of 1938 American Telephone reported net operating income of $8,708,277, against $16,143,659 in the same period last year, and net income of $112,155,347, against $132,998,795 in the like 1937 months.

Nash-Kelvinator corporation reported net loss of $7,655,138 for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30. Current assets on Sept. 30 were listed as $25,032,897, including $12,687,875 in cash and government securities and $10,403,134 in inventories. The corporation said it had no funded debt and current liabilities were $3,681,904.

The New York Central railroad in October was operated at a profit for the first time in any month since October, 1937, the road reported. Net profit was $915,102, equal to 14 cents a share, against $168,650, or 3 cents a share, in October, 1937.

Reports Profit "Satisfactory."

Earnings of Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts, Ltd., thus far in the current fiscal year indicate another twelve months of satisfactory operations, H. C. Hatch, president and chairman of the board of directors, told stockholders at their annual meeting in Walkerville, Ont., yesterday.

Operations at the Peoria distillery in the fiscal year ended Aug. 31 were at 85 per cent of capacity against 76 per cent of capacity in the preceding year, Hatch said. Output at the Walkerville and Toronto distilleries also increased.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A two-way market developed for hogs yesterday which sent top lights up 5 to 10 cents for the session and to within 10 cents of the highest level since middle of last month. Medium and heavy butchers were bought slowly at steady to 10 cents lower rates. The premiums paid for lights over the heavies was the largest of the season.

There was little life in the trade for cattle yesterday. Only 1,000 head arrived, not enough to put quotations of all classes. With demand narrow this light run moved slowly over the scales at rates about steady with the average of the preceding session.

Buyers in the lamb trade preferred fed western stock yesterday and these brought strong to 10 cents higher price, selling up to $9.50.

FOREIGN BONDS.

CORN ADVANCES; EXPORT DEMAND IS MORE ACTIVE

Wheat Ends Lower After Early Upturn.

Wheat and corn futures on the Chicago Board of Trade advanced yesterday to new high prices on the current upturn. Corn was ½ to 1½ cents higher and closed at the top. The December contract led the upturn.

Wheat reacted late in the session and closed unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel lower.

Reports of an active foreign demand for cash corn were largely responsible for the upturn in that grain. Sales in all positions were finally estimated at 500,000 bushels. Moderate sales of grain were made for shipment from Chicago to exporters at Atlantic coast ports.

Farmers Hold Surplus Corn.

Farmers continue to show little disposition to sell their surplus corn. Eastern markets were reported to be outbidding Chicago at Illinois points. There were reports that part of the grain was wanted for shipment to Europe. St. Louis yesterday shipped 71,000 bushels of corn for export, largely via the Mississippi river barge line to New Orleans.

Speculative interest in wheat futures was limited. Early strength was in sympathy with Liverpool, where prices advanced ⅝ to 1⅜ cents a bushel on futures. Shorts covered freely in the English market on reports indicating that Germany and Italy were negotiating for the remainder of the Rumanian exportable surplus.

Estimate Wheat Export Sales.

Trade estimates indicate between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 bushels of cash wheat were sold during the last two weeks to importing countries in Europe.

This estimate included 20,000,000 bushels of American grain sold by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation to English mills.

CHARGE TVA AREA CO-OPS RECEIVE SPECIAL FAVORS

Assailed by Members of Probe Committee.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Tennessee Valley authority was accused today of giving rural electrification coöperatives in the Tennessee valley certain assistance that was not available to similar organizations in the rest of the country. The accusation, heatedly denied, was made by two Republican members of the TVA investigating committee—Representative Jenkins of Ohio and Wolverton of New Jersey.

J. A. Krug, TVA power engineer, replied that the authority was not giving the coöperatives a thing they were not paying for. He insisted that the only advantage they had was the privilege of buying power at "reasonable" wholesale rates.

Coöperatives Not Doing Well.

Krug had testified that the bulk of the forty-three municipalities purchasing TVA power were showing a profit, but that the nineteen coöperatives served by TVA were not doing so well. He blamed this upon "spite" tactics of private utilities and lack of sufficient time to develop customers. He expressed the opinion, however, that the coöperatives would overcome their difficulties in three or four years.

Jenkins contended that farmers wishing to organize coöperatives in TVA territory were able to get cheaper money and other benefits from the authority.

No More Lending, Says Krug.

Krug replied that TVA was no longer lending money to finance coöperatives because farmers could borrow more cheaply from the Rural Electrification administration.

Wolverton said the federal power commission had found that TVA had given the coöperatives free assistance in organizing.

"I am not trying to hide the fact that we have been encouraging the development of coöperatives," Krug replied. "This is not unusual. State public service commissions have been doing the same thing."

COTTON

Liquidation of cotton futures developed yesterday and prices declined .07 to .11 cents a pound. Weakness in Liverpool and selling attributed to Bombay tended to increase bearish sentiment. The failure of the government crop estimate issued late Thursday, to stimulate outside interest also was a depressing factor. The south sold the distant futures.

Spot cotton closed .07 to .09 cent lower, with New York, 8.57 cents; New Orleans, 8.34 cents; Houston, 8.19 cents, and Galveston at 8.13 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

White Swans Quarrel.

December 9, 1938.

THE six white swans which live on one of the ponds at the Tribune's Du Page county farm are not getting along any too well in winter quarters. Several weeks ago the men rounded up these birds and put them in their winter quarters at the edge of the big pond. There is a small house there, with a tank of water and a yard where the swans can exercise.

Two of the larger swans decided, however, that they wanted the tank for themselves. Whenever the four others decided to take a dip, the large swans would drive them away. The four stood this bullying a couple of weeks, then they found a way of escaping and fled to the big pond. The two bullies stayed in the yard.

The men have decided since then to enlarge the winter quarters for the birds so all six can get to water. The fence will be arranged to include a corner of the pond.

The Sheep Are Belled.

Although this is a quiet season on the farm, with no cheerful bird songs to be heard, the fields now have a new kind of music, thanks to the sheep. When we stood in the barnyard the other evening we could both see and hear the sheep coming through one of the fields, for a number of the ewes had bells on and every move they made caused a tinkling noise.

About a dozen of the ewes now wear bells, the flockmaster having placed them on them as a safety measure. During the night the sheep ordinarily will be resting and quiet. But should marauding dogs get in the pastures and cause the animals to run, there will be plenty of music and a good chance that the flockmaster will hear the alarm.

It won't be long until the farm workers will be checking to see if the sawmill is in working order. Each winter the men operate the mill to cut rails for fences and to provide firewood for the homes. Running the sawmill is one of the odd jobs which keep the men busy when there is no work to be done in the fields or in the barns on cold winter days. When we were on the farm recently we noticed that two of the farm workers were hauling wood cut at the sawmill last winter.

Youngsters Want Ice.

Running the sawmill is a winter job for the men, but some of the youngsters on the farm are looking forward to another type of winter recreation. They are hoping that real snappy winter weather will come to stay so they may have skating parties on the ponds. Smooth ice, a big bonfire at the edge of the pond, and hot cocoa and sandwiches give the boys and girls a lot of fun.

Two more juncos entered the wire bird traps on the farm the other day. We were expecting a few chickadees to join the juncos in the cages, but they passed up the traps this week. Juncos, chickadees, and bluejays are about the only birds to be seen in fields and woods these days, and so far we have been unable to get any bluejays to enter our traps in spite of liberal supplies of grain and sunflower seeds. The two trapped juncos were marked with aluminum bands and released.

SLOAN PROPOSES INDUSTRY SCRAP OLD MACHINERY

Urges Government to Aid by Reducing Taxes.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of General Motors, proposed today that the government encourage industry to scrap its old machinery and install new instruments of production. He advocated reduced taxes for companies which do so.

Asserting that the nation's "production plant" is obsolete, he told a senate finance subcommittee that such a policy would increase activity and employment in the lagging durable goods industry. Because of the greater efficiency of up to date machinery, Sloan said, this would soon be followed by a substantial and general increase in the productivity of the entire economic system.

Increased Productivity Needed.

"The only way you can raise wages is by increased productivity per man," he said. "It can't be done in any other way. . . . It doesn't matter how much you increase wages, prices go up, too, unless productivity increases also."

The subcommittee, consisting of Senators Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and Herring [D., Iowa], has been exploring a proposal that business may be induced to employ certain practices beneficial to labor and industry as a whole by giving those companies which conform some reduction in the taxes they pay. In particular, it has been investigating the possibility of applying this principle to firms which institute systems by which employés may share in profits, over and above a fair wage.

Sloan asserted he saw little possibility of general good in profit-sharing systems.

View on Profit Sharing.

"My viewpoint as to true profit sharing," he said, "is that it is not applicable as a broad procedure. This is due to the fact that outside of a limited number of special cases that always arise, there are not sufficient profits to apply an equitable formula and mean anything consequential to the worker except perhaps in limited periods of prosperity."

It would be far better, he said, to use such available funds to assure the workers a continuity of income, by some such method as the loan system recently announced by General Motors.

"We need to supplement the workers' income in poor years, rather than try to increase it in the good years," Sloan explained. "A little something extra in good times serves to establish a standard of living that cannot be maintained. It causes dissatisfaction."

He expressed the opinion that the present tax laws had reached the point of diminishing returns, and taxes had been fixed at a level so high that they were impeding business.

Investors' Guide

Saturday, Dec. 10, 1938.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

How Is He Taxed?

Investors' Guide: On Feb. 1, 1921, I invested $2,500 in a new company in which I became an executive. The same year I took $700 of my salary in the form of stock in the company. Then I put $1,000 more in cash into the business the next year, making a total of $4,200 paid for my share.

Two years ago I resigned my position in the firm. There was such a big difference of opinion about the value of my stock that I hired a lawyer to help settle the sale of it. Early this year he sold my stock to the company's principal stockholder for $16,800. Of this I paid the lawyer $800 and had $16,000 left for myself.

Please tell me just how this should be handled in my 1938 income tax return. Thank you.—G. D. J.

Answer: You must pay an income tax on part of your gain under the capital gains provisions of the 1938 revenue act. This works out as follows:

Your total investment in the company was $4,200. The fact that you received $700 of this in the form of salary does not change the situation in the least for tax purposes.

The $800 paid to your lawyer may be considered a selling expense, according to tax experts. Thus you sold your $4,200 investment for a net price of $16,000, leaving a gain of $11,800.

The law provides that for investments held more than ten years one-half the gain is subject to an income tax. You should, therefore, add the one-half, or $5,900, to whatever other taxable income you have in 1938. From this sum make the allowable deductions for such items as personal exemption, dependents, etc., and figure your income tax on the remainder.

Nebraska Power Bonds.

Investors' Guide: I am flirting with the idea of buying some bonds of the Nebraska Power company—the 4½s of 1981. One thing that bothers me, however, is that they are selling about 2 points higher than the call price of 106½. Would the company be likely to call these 4½ per cent bonds and issue, say, 3½s in their place?—A. H. D.

Answer: No plans have been announced to call these bonds, and it is not within our scope to predict whether such refunding may take place. The bonds are high grade.

In considering a call besides the actual expense involved in redeeming and reissuing the company would consider how much it could sell its new bonds for and compare this with the 106½ it would pay in redeeming the present ones.

A CORRECTION.

Recently we advertised 1937 Chevrolets at $395.

This was inaccurate, because, while the cars were available, our salesmen represented that they were "sold" but offered these cars at substantially higher figures.

We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.
